RECORDS SHOW ROOSEVELT AIM: A REVOLUTION

President's Words, Deeds Contrasted.

BY CLIFFORD RAYMOND.

"For nearly four years," said Mr. Roosevelt at Syracuse, "I have been President of the United States."

That is conceded.

"A long record has been written."

It is long and it has been written. Again the President and his opponents are in agreement.

"In that record you will find a simple, clear, and consistent adherence not only to the letter but to the spirit of the American form of government."

We deny it.

The record has been neither simple nor clear.

It has not been one of adherence to the letter or spirit of the American form of government.

It has been destructive and intentionally so by premeditation and design.

How Is He Consistent?

We can agree with Mr. Roosevelt that he has been consistent. But what has been the nature of his consistency? That will be the subject of these inquiries.

Mr. Roosevelt says he has not sought and does not seek but repudiates the support of any advocate of communism or any other alien "ism" which would by fair means or foul "change our American democracy."

It is strange in itself that an American president speaking to his party convention in his own state, and opening his campaign for reëlection, should think it expedient or necessary to deny that he has been trying by fair means or foul to "change our American democracy." Political opponents can not put a candidate in such a position. Unless his act accuse him his opponents would be ridiculous if they did.

Changes Are Studied.

We are not interested here and now in a name for Mr. Roosevelt's changes in the American form of government. We are interested in what they have been and are. The voters can come to their own conclusions as to whether the means of making the changes have been fair or foul. Some misuses of official perogatives may be thought fair in politics. Some may be thought foul. Still we want above all to know what the changes have been. Why have they been made? What do they mean?

Only one candidate for the presidency admits he seeks the support of communists. Sarl Browder does. He is their candidate. Norman Thomas, the socialist candidate, would require them to change their ideas before he would seek their support. William Lemke, the Union party candidate, would not avow himself their candidate. Mr. Roosevelt has made changes in the American form of government. They are changes favored by the communists. The American people should be interested in knowing why.

Development of His Plan.

We propose to take you back to the time when Mr. Roosevelt was the probable nominee of the Democratic party in 1932, not yet the candidate, but the probable nominee.

You will see the development of his plan and its growth in expert hands.

You will find the candidate warily picking his way through the campaign.

You will see the unfolding of the dramatic opportunity for the plan and the swift use made of it.

You will see it blossoming in triumph. The sources of information are nearly all friendly to Mr. Roosevelt. The record is made by his chief administrators of government, by his sympathetic biographers, and by Mr. Roosevelt himself. It is made also by the Supreme court, not hostile, but judicial.

Accusations and Replies.

Why Mr. Roosevelt chose to do it, we do not know. He says his family and historical background should acquit him. To that the shortest

AN EDITORIAL

WHAT ARE YOU DOING ABOUT INFLATION?

One of the leading banks of Germany was the Deutsche bank. It was founded by Dr. George Siemens, who left a substantial sum of money for the benefit of the bank. The Siemens fund was managed by the officers of the bank. There were no restrictions on investments. When the German government spent funds far in excess of tax receipts there was inflation. In inflation many kinds of investments become worthless. In the German inflation the Siemens fund was completely wiped out. Its securities became worthless, although the fund was managed by experienced bankers. Are you prepared to manage your property in inflation when German bankers were not? If you are not prepared to cope with inflation then you should do what you can to prevent inflation. The government under Mr. Roosevelt is doing what the German government did. He is spending billions of dollars more than the government is collecting as taxes. That is precisely what brought on the German inflation. Mr. Roosevelt, who has already spent 15 billion dollars more than he has collected, asks to be elected on his record. For those who have a foolproof hedge against inflation his re-election may be immaterial. But for those whom inflation would crush, and that means every one who works for a wage or has a bank account or is paying insurance premiums or is a beneficiary under insurance policies, Mr. Roosevelt's re-election would be the worst misfortune.

Girl Bandit, 18, Gives Up and Admits Holdup

Miss Martha Wilson, 18 years old, of Lima, O., walked into the Central police station yesterday and addressed Desk Sergeant William Kells in a trembling voice.

"You better lock me up," she said, "I'm wanted."

Confesses Robbing Shop.

"I'm the one who held up that dress shop," replied the girl. Weeping, she told the police she was the gun girl who last Tuesday walked into the Sherman Wash Frock shop at 14 East Adams street at closing time and forced one of two girl clerks to hand over $9 from the cash register.

"And here is the gun I used," said the girl, drawing a toy black gun from her purse. "I arrived in Chicago by bus on Monday night. I bought the gun in a 10 cent store with the last of my money."

Decides Against Gun Career.

Martha said she used part of the holdup money to register at the Midland hotel. When she had spent the rest of it on meager meals she made up her mind she was not cast in the right pattern for an outlaw career and decided to surrender.

"I'm not wanted at home," she said, "and I thought I ought to take care of myself because my family is too poor." When police tried to question her further she became hysterical and refused to answer.

BENJAMIN BERIS AND WIFE AGAIN BANDITS' VICTIMS

A lone bandit held up Benjamin Beris, president of the American Glass company, and his wife late last night, and robbed them of a diamond brooch valued at $7,500, and a silver fox cape which cost $500. The holdup took place on the Thorndale avenue side of the $120,000 Beris home at 5940 Sheridan road.

Mr. and Mrs. Beris were returning home from a motion picture theater in a taxicab driven by Sherman Defriese, 5320 West Adams street, and were stopped in Thorndale avenue at Sheridan road when the gunman stepped up to them. He wore a handkerchief mask. He took Mrs. Beris' cape and then forced her to hand over the brooch. He started to search Mr. Beris, but fled as Mrs. Beris screamed.

Robbery is no new experience for the Berises. On April 19, 1931, two bandits, who had trailed them from downtown, robbed them in the rear of their home. They got $35,800 in jewelry. Last Jan. 31 burglars looted the Beris home of $3,600 in jewelry and clothing.

REGISTER TODAY OR TOMORROW; FINAL CHANCE

If You Do Not, You Cannot Vote.

Today and tomorrow are the last days in which Chicagoans may register as voters for the general election of Nov. 3. Today is the closing day for registration at the offices of the Chicago board of election commissioners, on the third floor of the city hall [open 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.] and tomorrow is the final day for registration in the home precincts throughout the country [polling places open 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.].

No person who fails to register by the time the polling places close tomorrow night will be eligible to vote on Nov. 3 in one of the most important elections in the country's history. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the election machinery in the county, and Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the election board, again urged voters yesterday to realize that they can safeguard their right to the ballot only by registering.

Judge Jarecki said that he expects the registration to shatter all records for Cook county. The highest registration—for the April, 1932, primary—was 1,643,839—and civic and patriotic organizations, which have been coöperating in the registration drive, hope for a figure of more than 1,750,000 this time. There are 2,600,000 persons in the county eligible to vote.

LAST CHANCES TO REGISTER
TODAY IN THE CITY HALL
TOMORROW IN YOUR PRECINCTS

When the election board offices closed Saturday night, the total of registered voters in the county was 1,350,960. This figure includes the 196,225 who have registered at the board offices since the new registration law went into effect Aug. 4.

Several thousand voters in the city proper and in the nine suburbs which are under the jurisdiction of the election board are expected to enroll under the permanent registration system at the board offices today, bringing the total of registration there well over the 200,000 mark. The nine suburbs are Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Cicero, Elmwood Park, Evergreen Park, Harvey, Morton Grove, Stickney and Summit.

LAST CHANCES TO REGISTER
TOMORROW IN YOUR PRECINCTS

The other portions of the county are under the jurisdiction of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn and do not have permanent registration. Citizens in these suburbs have only tomorrow to safeguard their franchise. Voters in the city proper and the suburbs under the board's jurisdiction who are unable to visit the loop today will also have their final chance to register tomorrow in their home precincts.

All voters inside the precinct polling places at the closing hour tomorrow [9 p. m.] will be permitted to register.

"Every precaution has been taken to guard against fraud and confusion in the registration Tuesday," Judge Jarecki said yesterday. "Additional instructions have been sent to all election board employés in the precincts. Permanent registration will reduce ballot frauds to a minimum and we will make every effort to do away with even that minimum."

TODAY IN THE CITY HALL
TOMORROW IN YOUR PRECINCTS

Persons who are moving and who register from their new addresses as late as today will qualify for the Nov. 3 election under the law that requires a citizen to live 30 days in a precinct before he may vote there.

The Nonpartisan Citizens' committee, composed of representatives of civic and patriotic groups in the registration campaign, appealed again yesterday to all voters to get their names on the poll lists. Political organizations, through their precinct captains, have canvassed their territories and plan final visits tomorrow to the homes of unregistered persons.

CHAPTER VII.

The rush of heavy footfalls upon the pavement died away to a hum of voices as the Hon. Jellico, followed by Dr. Work and Jarvis, the plant foreman of the surgical instrument factory, reached the window. And now their interest was rewarded. For upon a curbstone they saw a young man, hatless and gesticulating, assembling an assorted crew of similarly hatless youths, half-bearded men, of screaming girls, and a backwash of gaping pedestrians who had paused to marvel.

The Hon. Jellico stared in disbelief. Then he fixed his eyes upon the youth on the curbstone. It was Frank Furter. Unable longer to restrain his impatience Furter had left off his search for Jellico, had hastily gathered up a knot of his fellow communists, and now was surging at a white heat toward his goal of revolution.

Jarvis threw open the window so that from their preferred position he and his companions might hear.

"Comrades," Furter began, with a display of theatrical pose, "we are striking the first blow in the great uprising. Who among you wants to work for wages when you can own these factories?" He threw a dramatic gesture toward the building from which the Hon. Jellico stood viewing him. "What is there so mysterious about that factory that you and I can't understand and manage? In that building they make ——." Here he paused in some perplexity. Obviously he had not informed himself of its character. He threw a scrutinizing glance over his shoulder at a large gilded sign which, happily, gave him the information he lacked. He continued in manifest relief: "In that building they make surgical instruments. Who will tell you that we can't operate that factory?"

A shout of enthusiasm went up from the assembled listeners. Grins from the bystanders. Stares of astonishment from the instrument makers who now crowded the windows and heard their highly specialized calling thus lightly appraised.

The Hon. Jellico nervously dabbed at some beads of perspiration on his brow. "Dear me," said he, apologetically. "Dear me. This is very surprising. I wonder——." He paused in some embarrassment. "There must be some mistake. Of course you know that young man?" He looked up apprehensively at Dr. Work.

"Of course," said the surgeon. "Furter, isn't it?"

"Unfortunate," said Jellico, almost painfully. "You realize that I am accounted a—a——."

"A progressive, I believe?" said the doctor gently.

"Yes, a progressive. But of course Frank Furter can't have realized that a scientific industry such as this was hardly the place to arouse interest in mass appeal. There isn't one of those young scamps who could turn a wheel in this factory."

"I wonder," said Jarvis. "Yes, I wonder if one of those young Reds, being on the point of death with an excruciating pain in his chest, would protest against a good salary to the man who invented the bronchoscope which can free the lungs from a desperate plight and perhaps make it possible to talk more loudly?"

The crowd in the street went to cheering again with great earnestness. "What is there about running an electric light plant?" shrilled Furter. "Can't any one of us open and close a switch? What is there to running a farm but putting some seeds in the ground and letting them grow so the rich farmers can sell them? Any idiot can build an automobile. What we need is the leadership to tell the people how to take over these productive processes and divide them up."

A groan came from the lips of the Hon. Jellico. But it was followed by a startled gasp of new interest.

"Look!" he said. "That man coming there. The big man with the gray hair."

Not only did Dr. Work and Jarvis follow Jellico's pointed finger but the crowd in the street seemed to fall away before the advance of a sturdy figure who plowed his way through. In his hand he carried a large box. On the sides of the box was printed in huge letters, "Soap."

"Soap-boxer! Soap-boxer!" the bystanders yelled in evident glee.

The big man walked straight to Furter. With no more than a flip of his thumb he thrust the young radical behind him. Then, with the utmost deliberation, he placed his soap box firmly on the ground and mounted it. He began speaking in a tone so low that his audience was forced to press closely to hear him.

Jellico cupped his ear but caught no word. For several minutes he fixed his eyes upon the soap-boxer and studied him with microscopic intentness. Then he threw up his arms with a shout. He turned and ran for the street.

But at that precise moment the soap-boxer finished his discourse. He dismounted from his box. The crowd silently fell away. The soap-boxer strode off down the street alone.

Dentist Slain by Rival; Wife Sees Tragedy

Dr. Stanley Nowak, 38 years old, a Hammond dentist, was shot and killed in the presence of his blonde wife by his suspected love rival in Calumet City last night. The wife made a dramatic effort to prevent the shooting, and her coat was burned by the shotgun blast that killed her husband. Police arrested Richard Sutton, 36 years old, as the slayer.

The shooting occurred in Sutton's home, 510 Hirsch street, Calumet City. He pleaded self-defense.

Goes on Hunt for Rival.

Dr. Nowak, who maintained offices at 5137 Hohman avenue, Hammond, and his wife, Louise, 28, left their apartment in the Jerome hotel, 22 State street, in the suburb at about 8 o'clock last night. According to police they drank a quantity of wine.

During the drinking Dr. Nowak renewed an old charge—denied by Mrs. Nowak—that Sutton had been unduly attentive to her. "We're going to settle this question once and for all," he told her, "and you're coming with me." He forced her into a taxicab and took her to Sutton's home in Hirsch street.

Sutton was there. With him was Theodore Hancock, 25, of Demotte, Ind., who works for him. In a corner near Sutton stood a loaded 12 gauge shotgun. Dr. Nowak accused Suton of running around with Mrs. Nowak. Both denied the charge. The quarrel continued for almost 30 minutes, Sutton and Dr. Nowak meantime drinking wine. Suddenly Dr. Nowak threatened to kill Sutton, according to the latter's story, and put his hand in his pocket as though he had a gun.

Wife Leaps to Rescue.

Sutton then raised the shotgun and Mrs. Nowak leaped forward to seize it just as the weapon discharged. The blast was so close to her that it burned the left side of her coat under the arm.

The full charge struck Dr. Nowak in the left side, killing him instantly. At the station Sutton declared Dr. Nowak had been threatening to kill him for three months.

When questioned by the police Mrs. Nowak admitted that she had been out riding several times with Sutton, who was a friend of her husband. She said she sought Sutton's friendship in retaliation for her husband's philandering with other women.

Sutton is the owner of a wood yard and a tourist camp. Sutton, Mrs. Nowak, and Hancock are being held.

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Returns today from more than half of the precincts gave Sam King, incumbent Republican congressional delegate, an edge of about 6 to 1 in total votes over the Democratic nominee in yesterday's territorial primary.

King, unopposed for renomination, had 17,630 votes to 2,530 for Bertram Rivenburgh, Democratic candidate, also unopposed. Thomas Francis McInery, nonpartisan candidate for delegate, polled 575 votes.

Republicans were leading in the voting for territorial officers.

Son to Give Up Drink if Gandhi Adopts Islam

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The eldest son of Mahatma Gandhi today offered to quit drinking as a birthday present if his 67 year old father would embrace the religion of Islam. The offer was made by Harilal, who changed his name to Badulla when he became a Moslem last May, as the Mahatma's birthday was celebrated throughout India.

The diminutive leader of India's nationalist movement himself was born of devout members of othodox Hinduism and inherited from his Hindu parents much of his religious enthusiasm. But he directed it in the campaign to gain political independence for India.

Father and Son Make Up.

Badulla, or Harilal, in the past was a sharp critic of his father's activities, but eventually the two effected a reconciliation.

Nationalist colleagues of the Mahatma, observing celebrations and homage paid their colleague today, declared his popularity was as strong as ever. The people realize, they said, that Gandhi has inspired the nation to faith in itself.

Gandhi only recently recovered from a malarial attack. His birth anniversary today found him weak, but determined to carry on his study of the disease-ridden villages in India.

Despite doctors' warnings last week that he might suffer a relapse if he did not seek a more healthful climate, he insisted he would return to the village of Segaon, all of whose 600 inhabitants suffer from either malaria or dysentery.

"The village problem," he said, "may not be put off even at the cost of my very existence. Nothing must interrupt my instruction and first hand experience."

TAXIS TIPPED; STONES HURLED; HUNDREDS HURT

Rightists Clash with Radical Foes.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Communists, 100,000 strong, battled through the streets of Paris against rightist demonstrators today and jammed into the Parc des Princes to trumpet a war cry of death to Fascism.

"Remember Spain!" shouted communist orators.

"Unite to save our country from the horror of Fascism," blared red placards strung throughout the park.

Throughout the day mobs had fought up one street and down another. Taxis were overturned. Shop windows were smashed. Paving blocks were hurled in the fray.

The communists were protected by helmeted policemen assigned to the meeting to thwart violence after rightists had declared they would march on the gathering.

Rightists Hurl Pans.

Rightist sympathizers hurled kitchen utensils, pots, and pans from apartment windows. Police used rifle butts for clubs.

One of the columns of Nationalists which tried to march on the communist demonstrators was led by Rightist Deputy Henri de Kerillis. His followers were dispersed by mounted republican guards and police.

Many police and mobile guardsmen were injured by syphons and chairs hurled from café terraces.

Fascists who engaged in the encounters and demonstrations were estimated unofficially to number between 35,000 and 50,000.

More than 1,500 persons were arrested. Hundreds of persons were wounded. First aid stations were set up in cafés to care for them.

A café was wrecked and its furniture drafted for makeshift weapons to aid the fray. Rightists marched to demonstrate before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arch of Triumph, but were driven back by police.

Worst Riots Since 1934.

A government force of 12,000 mobile guardsmen, police, and republican guardsmen was required to establish order. The street battles were the worst since February, 1934.

Orders by Col. Francois de la Rocque, militant rightist and leader of the dissolved Fascist Croix de Feu to stage a counter demonstration against the communist mass-meeting near the gates of Paris led to the series of clashes.

The Nationalist-rightists said fighting "was only beginning." Troubles resulting from devaluation of the franc would be severe and numerous, they predicted.

Leftists charged the battles were part of a rightist plot to provoke trouble for the Socialist government.

Discover Hidden Arms.

Discovery of a large quantity of war materials hidden in the cellar of a rich Nationalist widow in the city of Nancy gave impetus to leftist charges that the French Nationalists were arming.

Police, investigating a tip received in an anonymous letter, raided the house and discovered hundreds of modern mauser rifles as well as a quantity of pistols and bayonets.

Officials withheld identification of the owner of the house, indicating they hoped to locate other arms caches. Police scorned the woman's explanation that her deceased husband was a collector of war relics. They said all the arms were modern and in perfect condition.

Taxis Tipped Over.

Taxis carrying groups of rightists were overturned in the Avenue Versailles and their occupants beaten.

One taxi filled with rightists and waving the French tricolor rushed a crowd of communists carrying a red flag. The communists dragged the taxi chargers from the machine, sailed into them with fists and overturned the cab just as police arrived.

Rightists attending a football game at Jean Bouin stadium, near the Parc des Princes, sallied forth from time to time to seize and beat communist groups, then return to lose themselves among the football spectators.

Communist bands at the entrance of the park held Spanish flags horizontally in their hands and invited all who arrived for the meeting to toss coins into the flags for a fund to aid the Spanish leftist government. One group was charged by rightists while carrying a flag into the park.

Plane Spots Crowds.

A police plane equipped with radio circled low over the district spotting concentrations of people and reporting to police in command.

Socialist Premier Leon Blum, returning from a league of nations session at Geneva, was met at the station by the prefect of police, who reported on the situation.

Rightist families, occupying apartment houses in the vicinity of the park, displayed French flags in their windows throughout the day and exchanged belligerent shouts with communists in the streets.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon 5,000 of the rightists paraded along the boulevard singing the "Marseillaise." Police after a preliminary effort to disperse the manifestation retreated slowly as the rightists pushed along their way.

The parade halted when a communist waved a red flag from a second story window of an apartment house and the paraders stopped to throw bottles and bricks.

Take Refuge in Cafe.

Mounted police rode them down finally, cracking many heads with their clubs and arresting 100. The others retreated in small groups shouting, "Next time we come with bombs," as police followed, making more arrests and carting away the prisoners in buses.

On the Rue Le Compte Dulouy 300 women and children took refuge on a café terrace separated from the street by a high iron fence. A communist band descended upon about 100 rightists still outside the fence, forcing many to climb over it hastily as they fled.

A well dressed woman, leaning from the window of a big automobile, screamed her denunciation of police. When she refused to drive on, the police dented the body of the car by beating it with clubs.

While the fighting continued outside the park, Socialist Deputy Marcel Cachin mounted a red covered speakers' stand within and appealed amid shouts of applause for "united efforts against public enemy No. 1—Fascism."

Fascism, he declared, is trying to take revenge for the popular front electoral victory in May, which placed Premier Blum in power. Communist workers, he shouted, will bar the way of the Fascists.

Stalin Honored by Reds.

Dictator Stalin of soviet Russia, the Spanish communist, La Pasionaria, and Premier Francisco Largo Caballero of Spain were named to an honorary presidium by the gathering.

Maurice Thorez, secretary general of communists, warned Premier Blum's Socialists that "democracy failed in Austria and Germany" because the people were disillusioned when promises of the government failed to materialize. Pleading for complete dissolution of leagues and bodies such as that sponsored by De La Rocque, he shouted "remember Spain!"

Five hundred rightists came to blows with an equal number of communists off the Avenue Versailles, but when the combatants discovered they were holding up a funeral procession the battle ceased and they backed against buildings and doffed their hats. When the procession had gone by they resumed the fight.

BATTLE LONDON POLICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Communists and Socialists, battling 10,000 police in east end London today, prevented Sir Oswald Mosley's Fascist Black Shirts from parading there. Anti-Fascist demonstrators numbered 100,000. A hundred persons were treated for injuries.

Police banned the scheduled parade at the last minute owing to the disturbances, but allowed 7,000 marchers headed by a bagpipe band to proceed westward under heavy police escort away from the scene of the trouble. Police radio cars and an airplane kept tab on movements of the crowds.

Other fights developed in Trafalgar square after the parade broke up. Eighty-four arrests were made.

Mosley Turned Back.

Three of the most serious Fascist casualties were persons hit with milk bottles and iron bars in a fight at the rallying place outside of Mark Lane underground station near Whitechapel road. When Mosley arrived there at 3:30 p. m., a half hour after the scheduled start, he was informed by Sir Philip Game, police commissioner, he could not hold the parade and review, but that his followers could march westward.

Meanwhile trouble developed in Stepney, where leftists tried to erect a barricade with a truck, timbers, paving stones and barrels. They stoned the police who tried to prevent them. Aided by reënforcements the police charged and dispersed them. At Aldgate the crowd tried to break the police lines and again were charged with clubs.

Fleeing club swinging bobbies, the crowd crashed the windows of a tailor shop and a dry goods shop. Many were bruised and cut, but not seriously.

The Black Shirts marched as far as Charing Cross via the Thames embankment and then stopped while Moseley reviewed them. The leader drove past in an open car wearing the group's latest style uniform with a peaked black cap. Mosley was escorted to his home by motorcyclists.

The Black Shirt leader issued a statement tonight charging that the "British government has openly surrendered to Red terror."

He declared that Jews, Socialists, and communists were "openly organized not only to attack the meeting but to close the streets of London by violence." Mosley canceled plans to address a meeting at Shoreditch tonight because he was warned his "life would be in serious danger."

In Limehouse a Fascist speaker was rescued by mounted police when he was attacked by a crowd he tried to address before the town hall. One of Mosley's staf officers was struck on the head with a club bound with barbed wire at Stepney.

MADRID RUSHES IN FOOD SUPPLY; CALLS RECRUITS

Capital Sees Critical Stage of Siege Near.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 4.—Fascist planes again bombed Madrid today. It is claimed a bomb factory was completely destroyed with all buildings in the immediate neighborhood and about 100 persons killed.

BULLETIN.

MADRID, Oct. 5 (Monday).—(AP)—The war ministry declared early today government forces had recaptured the town of Maqueda, an important highway intersection 45 miles southwest of Madrid. An advance from Santa Cruz del Retamar, the war ministry said, brought the Madrid forces within two miles of Santa Olalla, their former base, and cut off the Fascists in the Toledo sector from other insurgent forces to the west and north.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MADRID, Oct. 4.—The Spanish Socialist government hastened convoys of food into Madrid today in the face of a food shortage and appealed to the provinces for more armed defenders, acknowledging by its action that the all critical siege of the capital is about to begin.

Reliable reports, which the government would not confirm, said that evacuation of the city had begun. Children, women, and militia wounded were being taken to refuge deemed more safe from the threatened attack of insurgent Fascists, these reports said.

There was a shortage of meat, sugar, milk, and potatoes in some quarters and ration cards were issued to assure orderly distribution of supplies.

Coal to Be Rationed.

Warnings were issued that severe penalties would be imposed for the hoarding of coal, distribution of which was taken over by Madrid officials.

The convoys of food were arriving from the southeast and were taken over by a committee, organized to distribute all supplies from the city hall. There was no danger of water shortage, the minister of public works announced.

A gigantic defense plan was being organized and government leaders expressed confidence that the capital now was ready for any emergency.

With new conscriptions, the government claimed it now has an army of more than 100,000 men in the Madrid area. Nevertheless, the call for support was dispatched to the provinces and the war ministry reported several well armed columns already had been provided.

People Become Serious.

With realization of proximity of the enemy, only an hour's automobile ride from the city, it was apparent that the holiday spirit which characterized early days of the civil war was absent.

Instead there was a grave earnestness, emphasized by newspapers which devoted columns to the necessity of sacrifice by all if the city were to be saved from Fascist invaders.

An official war ministry communique announced that on the northern and northwestern war fronts the situation continued favorable to the government.

Government forces on the Aragon front launched a steady drive to recapture the important town of Siguenza, 75 miles northeast of Madrid. A twin-motored government bombing plane went into action over Siguenza. Government troops rushed down from their front lines five miles south of Siguenza to storm the Fascist outposts. A light artillery battery poured shells into the insurgent rear guard.

For miles back on the high plateau, over which runs the road to Guadalajara and Madrid, the government army prepared to stem any further Fascist advance.

Guard for Flank Attack.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

WITH THE FASCIST ARMY ON THE TOLEDO FRONT, Oct. 4.—Fascists gave attention today to possible restoration of the Spanish monarchy as their armies halted the march toward Madrid to fortify positions against the danger of surprise flanking attacks by the Socialist government army.

Only a few days of jockeying for position and realignment of troop movements remain, Fascist military leaders said, before the big push upon the Spanish capital begins.

The discussion of monarchies was coincidental with the appointment this week of Gen. Francisco Franco as supreme commander of the Fascist forces and as dictator of the Fascist junta if the revolt against the Madrid government is successful.

Franco's position seemed strengthened as discord predicted by some factions failed to develop among the Fascists, Carlists, and liberal monarchists.

Dissension Routed.

"Union" was the reaction expressed here after Franco's elevation, and echoed in sympathetic newspapers.

The likelihood of Carlist dissension was regarded as lessened by the death of the aged Prince Alfonso Carlos of Bourbon, one-time claimant to the now nonexistent Spanish throne.

Prince Xavier of Bourbon, brother of former Empress Zita of Austria, succeeds the late Carlos, but it was pointed out that the latter named his nephew to act only as regent in protecting the Carlist claims.

Thus, informed observers here said, he is considered a mere guardian of the throne for the Bourbon line with the possibility that the Carlists and the followers of former King Alfonso will be able to agree on the prince of the Asturias, Alfonso's third son Juan—as king if a restoration of the monarchy is attempted.

[Six weeks ago Fascist leaders at Burgos announced their intention first to establish a military dictatorship and then to call a plebiscite with a view to restoration of a monarchy in Spain.]

Mapping plans for the march on Madrid, insurgent commanders here said that the northern general, Emilio Mola, was ready to push forward as soon as Gen. Franco gives the word.

Gen. Mola's knowledge of the Spanish capital was expected to be of value in the final attack, because as former chief of surete generale he became intimately acquainted with the Madrid defenses and was expected to know where best to attack.

Attack on Madrid, in fact, will be a familiar problem to most of Franco's officers because such a theme long was a part of military courses at the now ruined Alcazar barracks where all studied.

Opening of the twelfth week of civil war found Madrid hemmed in on the north, west, and southwest, with only two outlets from the capital under Spanish government control. They were the roads leading to Valencia and Murcia.

Commanders here indicated they were content to leave those roads open until the siege of Madrid is ended, planning to clean up the eastern sector of Spain when the Franco government has been installed.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES 'PEOPLE'S FRONT' BE FORMED IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 4.—[Havas.]—Citing the example of France under Premier Leon Blum, David Lloyd George, British wartime prime minister, calls for an English People's Front in an interview published tonight in Reynolds weekly.

The Welsh statesman refers to the agreement among Blum's Socialists, Edouard Daladier's Radical Socialists, and Maurice Thorez's communists as an unusually effective union of forces. This front has quickly pushed through a program which has caused the French electorate neither fear nor doubts, Lloyd George says.

"A People's Front could be organized in England," he adds, "since it has the popular appeal which up to now only dictators have seemed able to invoke. Formation of a People's Front could defeat the [Baldwin] government as if it were made of straw, and it would win new victories for democracy in a world which has need of peace and progress."

TALL STORY ON TURKEY WINS LIARS' CROWN

Herschler, Ill., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The title of "champion liar of Illinois" was bestowed upon Donald Meyer, Herscher blacksmith, here last night at the fifth annual Illinois Liars' Contest.

Out of 50 contestants, the judges decided that Meyers had told the tallest story. It went like this:

Several years ago he was down south hunting wild turkeys. As he was strolling along he spotted seven turkeys sitting on a limb. He discovered he had only one shell left in his rifle. Finally he reached the solution. He stood parallel with the limb, fired his gun into the limb and split it so the turkeys' legs dropped through and dangled below. Then he squeezed the limb together, imprisoning the turkeys, and carried his catch home.

The contest was held in the village square with ten towns represented.

HORSES RECLAIM MICHIGAN AV. AS FESTIVAL OPENS

20,000 See First Street Races Since 1902.

BY KAY HALL.

The hum of motor cars was missing from Michigan avenue for almost an hour yesterday. Instead there were sounds of hoofbeats from trotting horses and stockyards, cow ponies.

Horses and buggies were returned briefly to Michigan avenue for the opening of the Central Michigan Avenue association's first annual fall festival week. Twenty thousand persons watched the spectacle between the Michigan avenue bridge and Roosevelt road.

Opening the first event, Walter P. Saunders, president of the Hinsdale Horse Show association, announced through a public address system: "And now think of it, folks, a trotting race on Michigan avenue in the year of our Lord 1936."

Last Races in 1902.

Five sulkies paraded from the bridge to 8th street, turned around and raced back from 7th street to Randolph street. Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company and chairman of this event, recalled that the last races on a Chicago boulevard were in 1902 when the final "snow" races were held on the old Grand boulevard between 35th and 39th streets.

Lucky M., a bay gelding by Single G, owned and driven by Harry Clark of Oswego, won first place in the trotting exhibition. The other trotters in the order of their finish were Laura Bell, owned by Fred Overhue of Homewood and driven by R. Porter; Captain R, owned by Harry Clark and driven by J. Leonard; Max Edwin, owned by M. E. Farley and driven by W. M. Farley, and Gale, owned by M. E. Farley and driven by H. Kinzley.

Cowhands Head Parade.

The racing was followed by a parade on the west side of the avenue from the bridge to Roosevelt road, while northbound automobile trafic was readmitted to the street on the east side. A group of cowhands recruited from the stockyards, their leader bearing an American flag, headed the procession. Another equestrian section included three young women riding side saddle with long skirts revealing only boot tips. There followed a surrey, tallyho, and phaeton with postillion and box buggies bearing thirty young beauty winners from Michigan avenue buildings who were dressed in 19th century mode.

The girls were driven to the New American home at Michigan avenue and Roosevelt road, where Miss Gertrude Buehring, 23 years old, 2716 North Tripp street, representing the 333 building, was selected as queen. Popular applause registered on a meter gave her first place. Miss Genevieve Anderson, 22 years old, 1433 Sherwin avenue, representing the Congress hotel, and Miss Sidney Huebner, 18 years old, 4159 Kenmore avenue, representing De Met's, were selected as maids of honor.

Public Given Welcome.

In the New American home ceremonies Col. Irving Odell, executive secretary of the Michigan avenue association, crowned the queen and J. Milton Trainer, president, welcomed the public this week to the festival.

A luncheon will be held today in the Stevens hotel honoring the queen and her maids of honor. State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and park board officials will be guests of the association. A homemakers' show will be held all day at the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and a style show will be held this evening in the Stevens hotel. At 8 p. m. a program of folk dances will be given at the Congress street plaza in Grant park.

CRASH OF BANDIT CAR ENDS CHASE; JAIL 1, SEEK PAL

One youth was in serious condition at the Bridewell hospital and his companion was being sought by police last night after a crash in their stolen auto. The two were fleeing from a policeman after snatching a purse containing $26 from Mrs. Helen Zygowicz, 3757 North Sacramento avenue.

Policeman William Peters who saw the robbery at Grace and Troy strets commandeered a passing car and pursued the robbers, firing several shots at them. The chase ended when the robbers' car drove through a trafic signal at Byron street and Kimball avenue and struck the car of Abraham Esko, 30 years old, 2639 Evergreen avenue.

One robber was caught in the wreckage. He gave his name as Henry Michaels, 17 years old, 1220 Holt street. His companion escaped. Esko, whose car was overturned, was taken to the Welles Park hospital suffering from serious injuries.

ZINTAK TO FIGHT TODAY TO QUASH FRAUD CHARGES

Efforts will be made today before Judge Robert C. O'Connell of the Criminal court to quash the criminal proceedings against Frank V. Zintak, ousted as clerk of the Superior court because of shortages of $26,500 in his accounts. Additional efforts will be made tomorrow before Judge Francis B. Allegretti of the Superior court to put Zintak back into control of Superior court clerk's funds. The double objective was announced last night by Zintak's lawyer, Stephen Love.

Zintak is charged with embezzlement in five indictments. The first charged him with embezzling $22,560. The four others, voted in a group after additional shortages were found, charged him with embezzling $26,500. The new charges were voted on the day he paid $25,639 to the county.

Love said he would ask Judge Allegretti tomorrow to dissolve the injunction restraining Zintak from withdrawing funds from the clerk's office, and would seek the return to Zintak of funds now in charge of Edward H. White, clerk pro tem.

TROOPS CALLED OUT TO BATTLE ARAB RAIDERS

JERUSALEM, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Troop reinforcements were called today to repulse Arabs who attacked the agricultural bank quarter of Tel Aviv and a police post between Jerusalem and Jaffa as disorders entered their twenty-fifth week. In Tel Aviv a police car which arrived to disperse the Arabs was also attacked before troops arrived on the scene. The police post, about 40 miles from Jerusalem, was subjected to a heavy barrage of rifle fire. Troops routed the Arabs.

MIDWEST HOLDS CRUCIAL KEY IN 1936 CAMPAIGN

Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio May Decide Outcome.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

With the balloting only a month away, the presidential election appears to me to be a "hoss race." The outcome may turn upon the results in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Political events before the people enter the voting booths four weeks from tomorrow and a more complete and accurate survey of public sentiment may put a different face upon the situation, may indicate a landslide of ballots for President Roosevelt or for Gov. Alf M. Landon.

But at this distance from the event and upon the basis of the dependable information on the state of the public mind that is in hand I am prepared for an extremely close result of the momentous contest—a decision determined by a mere handful of electoral votes, perhaps by only 200,000 or 300,000 out of the 40 million popular votes that probably will be cast.

Outcome Viewed Geographically.

Broadly considered along geographical lines, the battle is one between the populous conservative east, on the one hand, and the more sparsely settled traditionally Democratic south and radically inclined west, on the other.

Gov. Landon appears to be reasonably sure of carrying most of the states east of the Mississippi and north of Mason and Dixon's line, while President Roosevelt will carry the solid south and appears to be reasonably assured of the electoral votes of most of the border states and of the states west of the Mississippi.

The political picture presented by and large bears a remarkable resemblance to that which filled the public eye on the day following the presidential election of 1916, when for the first time since 1856 a Democratic president was elected without the electoral vote of New York state. Mr. Wilson was reëlected mainly by southern and western votes, losing all the east except Ohio and New Hampshire. Upon such a combination of votes can Mr. Roosevelt's chief hope of reëlection be based.

There are 531 votes in the electoral college—one for each senator and representative in congress. A majority—266 votes—is necessary for election.

New York Chief Concern.

The first concern of the politicians is with New York state, as it always has been, for New York has the largest number of votes in the electoral college—47 at present. Of late, however, Pennsylvania, with the second largest electoral vote—36—has come to take its place alongside New York in the calculations of the politicians, for the reason that Pennsylvania, although it never has given its electoral vote to a Democrat since 1856, has been slipping in its Republican allegiance to such an extent that it elected a Democratic governor and Democratic senator two years ago.

If the President should carry New York on Nov. 3, he would be elected beyond the shadow of a doubt. It would not be necessary to stay up any longer election night to hear the returns in order to know the result. Or if Mr. Roosevelt should lose New York but capture Pennsylvania the chances are that he would be the victor in the battle.

Conversely, of course, Gov. Landon cannot hope to win without New York and probably not without Pennsylvania, even if he should carry the Empire state. For all practical purposes both New York and Pennsylvania may be set down as absolutely essential to victory for Gov. Landon.

How Candidates Stand.

The President starts with an "ace in the hole"—the eleven states of the traditionally solid south, which, although seriously dented by Herbert Hoover in 1928, appears to be solid enough this time for the Democratic candidate. These 11 states have a total of 124 electoral votes. Then there are the five border states—Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma, all of which lean to Mr. Roosevelt, except West Virginia, giving the President an additional nest egg of probably 45 votes. Thus Mr. Roosevelt starts with a reasonably assured 169 electoral votes and only 97 additional required to put him over.

Gov. Landon starts with the 41 votes of the six New England states. In this region, Rhode Island's 4 are the only ones the Democratic managers actually entertain any reasonable hopes of holding for Mr. Roosevelt. New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are unquestionably leaning to Gov. Landon. Delaware, with 3 votes, being the only middle Atlantic state that the Democrats appear to have more than an even chance of carrying. Then, if West Virginia be accorded to Gov. Landon, as its leanings would justify, the Republican nominee will have in this eastern region a total of 151 and will need 115 more.

Midwest May Hold Answer.

In the east north central states—Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin—there are an aggregate of 100 electoral votes. If Gov. Landon carries the east, including New York and Pennsylvania, the election unquestionably will be decided in this group of midwestern states. Recent primaries would seem to indicate that Michigan, with 19 votes, is headed back to the Republican fold. Wisconsin, with 12 votes, is debatable ground, despite the early assumption that the La Follettes would deliver it to Mr. Roosevelt.

But if Gov. Landon should carry Michigan and Mr. Roosevelt Wisconsin the Republicans would have 96, the Democrats 85 votes to gain to achieve victory.

Now, let us look west of the Mississippi. In that region Mr. Roosevelt almost certainly will carry California, Washington, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah with a total of 44 electoral votes. And with Missouri leaning to Mr. Roosevelt, the President may reasonably expect a minimum of 59 electoral votes west of the Mississippi. In that event he would need only 26 votes to put him over. Ohio, with 26, or Illinois, with 29, would do the trick, and Illinois combined with Indiana's 14 would save him, if he should lose Missouri. Indiana might be the only one of this group he would need if he were able to garner 12 votes from Nebraska which has 7, Arizona 3, Idaho 4, and North Dakota 4.

States Important to Landon.

For Gov. Landon the votes of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are even more important than they are for his rival. If he carries all the east, except Wisconsin, and including Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, he will still need 27 votes to carry him across the line. For these votes he must look west of the Mississippi. It is a virtual certainty that he will get the 9 votes of his home state, Kansas, and Wyoming, with little less certainty, will add 3 votes more. Then he will still need 15 votes which he might gather from a group of doubtful states which appear to be Landon possibilities—Minnesota 11, South Dakota 4, Colorado 6, Oregon 5 and Iowa 11. If Gov. Landon should carry all these states, he could afford to lose Indiana, but neither Ohio nor Illinois.

Thus it develops that Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and to a slightly less degree Michigan, will be the scene of the most desperate battling of the two parties in the remaining weeks of the campaign. That this should be so is not strange in view of the line of cleavage which has been apparent from the beginning of the contest.

Lines of Division Cited.

Business men are overwhelmingly supporting Gov. Landon, union labor Mr. Roosevelt; the farmers are divided. On the whole however Mr. Roosevelt is stronger than Landon in industrial centers, while Gov. Landon is stronger in the agricultural communities, particularly east of the plains. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan are states that are pretty evenly divided economically between industrial and agricultural populations.

In these states both President Roosevelt and Gov. Landon will make several speeches each before the issue goes to the voters. Into these states each party high command will send its shock troops of campaign spell binders. Upon these states the national committees will concentrate their organization efforts and the distribution of campaign funds for organization and propaganda. There is every evidence that it will be a desperate battle.

PRINCETON'S HISTORY HEAD BACKS LANDON; BOLTS DEMOCRATS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Prof. Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker, chairman of the department of history at Princeton university, and a life long Democrat, announced today, in a statement released here by the National Jeffersonian Democrats, that he would vote for Gov. Landon.

While making it clear that he is in sympathy with much that the Roosevelt administration has done, Professor Wertenbaker declared his opposition is based on the measures taken which are "directed toward national control of economic life."

"Many measures, right in purpose, such as unemployment and old age pensions, have been rushed through without adequate study. Finally, the building up of an army of burocrats and another army of government pensioners, and the acceleration given to the forces of centralization through the unnecessary expanse of federal control, seem inconsistent with a spirit of democracy.

"I shall vote for Landon because his record and the Republican platform promise an administration consistent with sound economic policy and real democracy."

MRS. HENRY FORD INDORSES LANDON AND TELLS WHY

BY MARCIA WINN.

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile magnate, announced her support of Gov. Landon in a letter received yesterday from her home in Dearborn, Mich., by Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, director of western women's activity for the Republican national committee.

Mrs. Reynolds also said that three other notable women had announced their support of the Kansas governor, Republican nominee for President. They are Mrs. Walter Brewster of Chicago, art patron and writer; Ruth Comfort Mitchell, California author, and Mrs. Charles N. Teeter of Hagerstown, Ind., former president of the Indiana League of Women Voters.

A Question of Principle.

"Voting is not a party question with me," said Mrs. Ford's letter, written in long hand, "but one of principle. I shall vote for Gov. Landon because he approaches the constitution with respect and not with antagonism.

"I have first hand knowledge of our farmers' situation and great sympathy with every effort made to improve it, and I believe Gov. Landon has given the most satisfactory evidence of understanding that situation, and knowing how to help it.

"Above all things, we wish a country enjoying the best of economic health, served by a government that is strong and honest, and I believe that Gov. Landon, by reason of his character and experience, will give us that kind of government."

Admires Landon's Stability.

Mrs. Brewster will vote for Landon, she declared, not because she wants a change, but because she seeks stability.

Many women are for Landon, wrote Mrs. Mitchell, who lives in Los Gatos, Cal., "because we are sick of sentimentality and the glorification of blunders; because we remember the red blood of the 12 army fliers forced to fly the mail without adequate experience; because we resent the hidden taxes which the New Deal has dealt us; because we deplore the undermining of the sturdy American spirit."

LANDON TO DIP INTO SOUTH ON HIS FINAL TOUR

Plans Stops in Oklahoma and West Virginia.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon is planning to dip into the near south to try to get a few electoral votes away from President Roosevelt, it was learned today.

When the Republican presidential nominee returns from his trip to the Great Lakes states, which starts next Thursday, he will take only three or four days' rest and then start on his last and hardest trip. This will take him first to Oklahoma City, according to present plans.

Oklahoma has been generally conceded as a Roosevelt state, but the Landon advisers have received information that leads them to believe they have a chance, and will increase it by taking the candidate there.

Another stop on the last trip is Clarksburg, W. Va., the home of John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1924. This state, according to information here, appears quite possibly to be a Landon state.

Pittsburgh on Itinerary.

Pittsburgh is another selection for the last itinerary, for Pennsylvania is still regarded fighting territory. Boston remains a question, but Philadelphia, Baltimore, and New York will be the last speaking places.

The greatest importance, however, is given to the candidate's trip into Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. He can hardly win without at least three of these states.

John G. Stutz, executive director of the Kansas emergency relief committee, who was appointed to this job by former Gov. Harry H. Woodring, now secretary of war, made public today letters and telegrams demanding that the records of the WPA be open to public inspection in Kansas, including pay rolls. He pointed to the policy followed by Harry L. Hopkins, federal WPA administrator, in making public the records of the civil works administration, and declared that "for some unknown reason" that policy had been changed during the past year.

Hopkins Fails to Reply.

His letters and telegrams sent to Hopkins, and to Evan Griffith, Kansas WPA director, had been without result, he said. Hopkins made no reply.

The records, according to Stutz, show $59,010,434 in federal funds sent into Kansas for relief and civil works from Jan. 1, 1933, to June 30, 1936. Local and state funds spent during this period for these purposes were $26,238,368.

Stutz makes public a telegram from Hopkins, dated Jan. 30, 1934, in which the latter states:

"I want to make it perfectly clear that all civil works pay rolls and records of purchase of supplies are public records and therefore open to inspection."

Changed Attitude Shown.

He contrasts this with circular letter No. 36, signed by Hopkins on June 2, 1936, which states:

"No officer or employé of the Works Progress administration shall furnish any information or make available any official document or paper, or copy thereof, to any person except persons having official business with the Works Progress administration. . . .

"It is not the intent of these instructions to withhold information regarding the Works Progress administration, but to affirm the fact that the disclosing of official documents or records of the Works Progress administration is a question to be decided only by the federal administrator."

Commend Nominee's Stand.

Telegrams from Jewish leaders throughout the country commending Gov. Landon's recent stand against injection of "racial prejudices and religious bigotries into American life" were made public today.

Among the persons sending messages, and their comments, were the following:

Jacob L. Holtman, New York attorney, counsel for the Progressive party, and personal attorney for the late Theodore Roosevelt: "Like a clarion call to all lovers of freedom came your message denouncing in such strong terms all those attempting to bring racial prejudice and religious bigotry into American life."

Jacob Asher, Boston attorney, and charity director: "Your message against racial prejudices and religious bigotry inspiring. Grateful that you have silenced this insidious propaganda."

Lewis L. Strauss, New York banker and philanthropist: "Your fine statement denouncing attempts to introduce bigotry into the campaign . . . is in complete accord with your consistent attitude and public record."

Called True American.

Harold Korn, New York writer and lecturer: "There is nothing more un-American than the attempt to divide the voters of the United States along racial or religious lines. Your recent courageous utterance condemning such procedure stamps you as a true American."

Harry Friedberg, Kansas City, vice president of the Zionist Organization of America: "Regardless of political affiliations, every member of any minority group will see in your recent statement on minority rights that you will continue to maintain your record made through many years that the bill of rights to you means what it says, and those who attempt to violate it are not true Americans."

RELIEF FROM TRADE RESTRICTIONS URGED ON LEAGUE MEMBERS

GENEVA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A general demand for what Premier Leon Blum of France calls "economic disarmament" was expected to feature sessions of the league of nations this week.

The economic committee of the assembly, it was announced, intended tomorrow to open general discussions on world economic problems. Several speakers were slated to recommend quick and complete abolition of trade restrictions.

MUNICIPAL COURT POLICIES A WARM CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Rise in Fees and Tax Cost Under Sonsteby Assailed.

[The second of a series dealing with local offices to be filled in the election of Nov. 3.]

Chicagoans who go to the polls four weeks from tomorrow have the opportunity to approve or disapprove of the present administrative machinery of the Municipal court. The three executive offices of the system, those of chief justice, bailif and clerk, are to be filled for the next six years.

The Democrats won all three places from Republicans in the local landslide of 1930 that opened the way for the bigger city, state and national avalanche of 1932, the series that stripped the Chicago G. O. P. completely of all patronage of every description. Since the offices of bailif and clerk are counted the "juiciest" job spoils in the local field, that factor alone puts heat into these contests. But lawyers and civic leaders say there is a greater issue.

It is their contention that it is more important whether the service rendered by what was intended to be the "people's court" and the "poor man's court" has been maintained at the standard expected when it was founded thirty years ago.

Sonsteby Lays Down Law.

Policies of the court, its organization and its methods are largely controled by the chief justice. Presumably matters of first importance affecting all of the thirty-six courts are determined at meetings of the judges. But with the Republican minority outnumbered five to one in such meetings and with all the Democrats grateful to the party bosses, the present chief justice, John J. Sonsteby, has had almost dictatorial powers.

With such control, Chief Justice Sonsteby has been free to set up special courts as he has seen fit. He has assigned judges to courts as he chose—sending the monthly lists of assignments to ward committeemen. Where there has been a concentrated effort to simplify procedure in the state courts he has multiplied the rules of his court ten times over.

Disregarding the protest of the Chicago Bar association, he caused the Democratic city council to pass an ordinance boosting court fees, greatly increasing court costs—to litigants—and still the expense of the court upon the taxpayer averages $3.34 a case instead of the former $2.05 a case.

Inquiry Comes to Naught.

These are some of the broader phases of the criticism heard of Chief Justice Sonsteby's administration, but his critics do not stop there. Formal charges that he has increased the pay roll of his own office excessively and illegally have been investigated by the Chicago Bar association only to have the report of the investigating committee disappear somewhere in the files of the association.

It is asserted that he has increased his own office pay roll more than 60 per cent. The city's budget now shows he was six "assistants," two court reporters and three law clerks, drawing total salaries of $46,000 annually. And it is charged that in addition he is paying $6,000 a year to a "special assistant" and $5,000 to a secretary out of funds appropriated for other purposes.

Going beyond even these charges of his handling of his executive work, Chief Justice Sonsteby's critics point out that while he never has assigned himself to . trial court, he provided an early precedent for the bail bond scandals which recently have been emphasized by the operations of "Big Boy" Kennedy.

$50,000 Bail Cut to $5,000.

Almost four years ago Chicago police arrested George Berman, wanted in Milwaukee for a $47,000 bank messenger robbery. Judge Jay A. Schiller fixed Berman's bond at $50,000. When the extradition case was called Berman failed to appear. Judge Schiller inquired and found that Chief Justice Sonsteby, without any word from him, had reduced the bail to $5,000. Berman had skipped and it was not until more than two years later that, merely upon secret information about "a man with two guns," that Chicago police again arrested him and he was shipped to Milwaukee.

None of these criticisms was included in the biographical sketch of Chief Justice Sonsteby by the Chicago Bar association in the primary of its members last March. But in replies to the membership questionnaire on integrity, legal ability, judicial ability and other qualifications Chief Justice Sonsteby scored only 72.6 while six associate judges up for renomination scored from 79.1 to 95.5.

Bar Reveals Dissatisfaction.

This grading of 72.6, according to the Bar association, report at the time, indicated "dissatisfaction on the part of a substantial number of the bar with his administration of the office."

That attitude was believed reflected clearly when it came to the Chicago Bar association's second primary this year, the one last June, the one in which the vote was taken as a basis for the organization's indorsements for the November election. In that primary the indorsement went to Judge Edward B. Casey, the Republican nominee for chief justice, by a vote of almost 2 to 1. There were 1,205 lawyers who voted for Judge Casey and only 641 who voted for Chief Justice Sonsteby.

Judge Casey was elected to a vacancy on the Municipal bench in 1931 and was reëlected in 1932, winning in that year despite the Democratic landslide. When he was elected the first time he was the youngest man ever elected to the Municipal bench.

In its June report, the Chicago Bar association pronounced Judge Casey "diligent, courteous and fair minded."

"He is resolute and persevering," said the report, "and in the opinion of the committee he possesses administrative ability."

Partly because the law deprives the city council of the right to trim appropriations asked by the Municipal court, the pay rolls of all three of the court executives are declared to be overloaded but that attack is directed chiefly at the pay rolls of Bailif A. J. Horan.

The 1936 appropriation for the bailif's office is $939,293 and, although Horan's salary is $10,000, it gives him seven aides whose salaries range from $4,000 to $7,000 a year. But, more important politically than that, is the fact that a lump sum appropriation enables him to employ approximately 300 deputies at an annual salary of $2,500 each. These are ideal "precinct captain places" and they are said to be allotted approximately six to a ward. That is "rich pickings" for a political machine.

Too Busy to Do Court Work.

In addition to drawing his official salary Horan is in the surety bond business and is said to have reaped a harvest under Democratic local and state administrations. Its richness is said to account for his infrequent visits to the bailif's office and the almost constant reply to inquirers that he is at his insurance office.

The Democratic county organization still is angry with Horan because he deserted it and supported Gov. Horner for renomination last spring. Workers also criticize him because he has so many of his own and his wife's relatives on various pay rolls including those of the Municipal court.

As a few examples, it is charged that while one brother, John Horan, is a police captain, another, Harry Horan, is chief of the electrical maintenance department of the bureau of streets; a brother-in-law, Edward Kelly, is assistant superintendent of streets; that James Fitzmorris, another relative by marriage, is employed at Lincoln park; that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Wallace, is in charge of the Municipal court switchboard, and that a niece, Catherine Wallace, is employed in the state auditor's office.

"Incompetent Deputies," Allegation.

Personal criticism of Horan also recounts that recently he hired—as deputies—and defended the hiring—two men just discharged by Sherif Toman as incompetent deputy sherifs. They were Louis Green and Edward Wing, both of whom were held responsible for the near escape in the Criminal court building of two police killers, Frank Korczykowski and Andrew Bogacki. Apparently Horan put the two discharged county employés on the city pay roll almost as soon as they were fired by Sherif Toman.

Horan is opposed by Oscar C. Johson, a former Northwest Park district commissioner, who won the nomination for balif largely through the backing of Edmund T. Brekke. At primary time he was a deputy sherif under Toman but says he now has resigned that position.

The Democratic nominee for clerk of the Municipal court is Joseph L. Gill who was elected to the office in 1930 but who surrendered it when he was persuaded to become county treasurer to fill the gap created by the ouster of Robert M. Sweitzer. During this "leave of absence" as his supporters call it, Gill has been replaced by Richard Frohlich, who was his assistant for four years, but now Gill is running for his old office.

Employés Reputed to Work.

The clerk's office is as big as Horan's but it is said his employés work harder than the bailif's. Gill also has the support of a "social service independent committee" including a score of civic leaders who say he has fulfilled his 1930 promise to keep the social service department of the Municipal court on a merit basis. As a state representative for four years, Gill was said by the Legislative Voters' league to have shown "marked courage and independence" and to have given "high grade service."

Gill's opponent is Marion G. Kudlick, an attorney who has practiced since 1916, an experience which the Republicans say has given him excellent qualifications for the office. He had the support of the regular organization in the primary.

FALSE FIGURES USED BY ROOSEVELT IN SPEECH, SAYS G. O. P.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Republican national committee said today that figures quoted by President Roosevelt in his Pittsburgh speech disagreed with statistics of "your own commerce department."

A committee statement quoted the President as saying the 1932 national income was thirty-eight billion dollars, whereas, the committee said, the commerce department showed the income was $39,545,000,000.

"Just $1,545,000,000 more than you said," the committee said. "We know you are used to talking in big figures but that sounds like important money to most of us.

"In the same paragraph of the speech you said 'In 1935 it [the national income] was fifty-three billions.'

"That was very close indeed. You only boosted your department of commerce's figures $41,000,000 to get that.

"But when you add the two figures together to get the gain you were trying to show, you indicated that gain to be $1,586,000,000.

"Won't you please in preparing your future speeches check with your own government departments so you will not mislead the country in other speeches you are to make?"

TODAY IS CHILDREN'S TAG DAY; $100,000 IS ASKED BY LEAGUE

The 28th annual tag day of the Children's Benefit league will be held today. Its leaders have appealed for $100,000 from the public, twice as much as was sought last year, because the fifty member agencies will have more services to perform for more children in the coming year with the decline of federal relief. Street donations will be solicited by 10,000 women carrying coin boxes and star shaped tags. The beneficiary agencies care for dependent and neglected children, provide homes, day nursery and hospital care and do other welfare work.

NEW DEAL ABUSE OF MAIL IN VOTE HUNT REVEALED

Propaganda Floods U. S. Under Free Franks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—With the New Dealers making what Republicans term a "desperate" effort to prevent a rout at the polls in November, the Democratic national committee and the agencies of government are virtually merged, with a result that a large part of the cost of the Roosevelt campaign is being saddled on the taxpayers.

The United States mails and the Farley postmasters' machine are being used to flood the country with New Deal political propaganda, franked by Democratic members of congress.

Government publications are being used to advertise special rates and train schedules of which employés may avail themselves to go home and register.

Contribute, or Else——

The horde of jobholders added to the pay roll by the Roosevelt administration are being solicited for contributions, under implied threats of removal, and in the case of executives in the higher salary brackets, the national committee actually fixes the minimum that will be accepted.

Oliver A. Quayle Jr., assistant treasurer of the Democratic national committee, admits sending the following letter to New Deal jobholders in the higher salary brackets:

"Dear Mr. . . .

"To get to the point at once, the Democratic national committee needs funds. If you desire to play a part in the glorious victory we shall have in November, we must enlist at once your generous financial support.

"If you possibly can do so, we shall appreciate a minimum contribution of $100. Just send a check to the undersigned [made payable to the Democratic national committee] and an official receipt will be mailed to you. Or, if you care to call in person, I shall be glad to see you at any time.

"We are confident that we shall hear from you promptly.

"Your for 'Roosevelt again,' [Signed] "Oliver A. Quayle Jr.,
"Assistant Treasurer."

Key to Farley "Leave."

Similar letters have been mailed to all government employés, except that the minimum amount is not fixed for those in the lower salary brackets.

Such frank demands for funds afford a possible explanation for the three month leave of absence President Roosevelt gave Postmaster General James A. Farley. There is a law providing a fine of not more than $10,000 and imprisonment for not more than three years for any officer or employé of the government who solicits political contributions from another officer or employé. Farley's name on the letterhead of the Democratic national committee presumably would subject him to prosecution for soliciting government employés if he remained in office as postmaster general.

There is another law providing that employés under civil service cannot be discharged for refusing to make campaign contributions, and these employés of the government presumably are safe if they don't respond. However, less than 10 per cent of the more than 260,000 pay rollers added to the executive branch of the government by the Roosevelt administration ar under civil service.

Senator Robinson Heads Parade.

The Republican senatorial committee today made public evidence of the manner in which the mails and the Farley postmasters' machine are used to disseminate political propaganda. An article headed "Democratic Platform Pledges and Their Fulfillment," bearing the congressional frank of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, was addressed to the postmaster at Nodaway, Adams county, Ia., with this notation:

"For distribution to all rural boxholders. Please distribute as far as quantities will go."

The Republican committee said it was questionable whether the franked material complied with the regulations. The committee also pointed out that the law prohibits postmasters in cities from distributing such matter, but that, in such cases, the postmaster simply turns the material over to the local Democratic organization.

Train Schedules Printed.

The senatorial committee also disclosed an item appearing in the Agricultural Exchange, a government publication of the agriculture department's welfare association, as follows:

"We have been asked by the Democratic national committee to advise employés of several low cost round trips to Philadelphia and New York for the convenience of those who desire to register for the coming elections."

The item went on to give detailed train schedules.

Mother of 3 Shot by Son in Rifle Outing Accident

LANDON LEADS 9 TO 2 IN FARM PAPER BALLOT

Unexpected results were disclosed yesterday in responses received by the Republican national committee to a poll on the presidential election taken by means of a questionnaire and a coupon published in twenty-seven agricultural newspapers.

Instead of merely expressing a choice between President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon, those who replied were asked to make a choice between the two in answer to ten different questions—which they would select as an adviser, as a corporation president, as an administrator, as examples.

The farm division expected about 1,000 replies. But 9,000 already have come in. Preference for Gov. Landon was expressed in 7,187 of them, for President Roosevelt only 1,538—a ratio of more than nine to two. The President won out on only one question—a query at to which candidate has the more pleasing radio voice.

Rudolph Minar, 72 years old, 3255 Cermak road, died yesterday after taking poison. According to his roommate he had been ill.

MANILA POLICE HUNT REDS FOR BOMB OUTRAGE

MANILA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Authorities said they were without clews today to identity of bombers who set off half a dozen downtown blasts last night, starting a $500,000 fire and crippling one important water main. Maj. Gen. Paulino Santos, chief of staff of the Philippine army, said he suspected communists, and added, "The government is strong enough to quell any disturbances by radical elements."

"We have taken precautions to prevent all disorders," he declared, "but if they do occur, we are prepared to take swift action."

Labor Secretary Ramon Torres said he was investigating a newly organized group known as the "secret twelve."

CALLOUSES

By CALEB

TWO workmen were standing before a polished marble mantel. One was stroking the marble appreciatively. "What a finish!" he remarked. "A swell job. It's cool—marble is, and fine to the touch. Just feel the edges of this fluting."

The other workman touched it willingly, but did no more. "I can't feel it," he said, and he exposed his palms. "Look. Callouses. Handling slate—good and hot from the sun sometimes, too. Cooks and cakes the skin on my paws until I can't feel anything. I can handle things, but I can't feel 'em."

CALLOUSED hands are not a serious thing. But a mind that's calloused is.

Scientists—some of them—lean to the theory that the brain is an enormous battery of polarizable cells. Mental callouses are insulation. There's nothing alive or electrical about a mind calloused and insensitive. We're born with a hunger for hearing and seeing new things. So long as that hunger is permitted to exist and be satisfied, in sequence, over and over, no callouses form.

If we're born hungry for knowing more, why do we change?

We change through failure to remain aware of, and alert to, what's around us.

Chicago is full of interesting things to go to—stimulating things which permit the brain to retain some of its "electrical characteristics"—lectures, concerts, art exhibits, plays, the Aquarium, the Planetarium, museums, zoos.

How long since you've looked through a big telescope, read a good book, or helped a worthy charity with some of its problems?

How long since you've parked by the lake and watched the play of light on water? How long since you've gone out in the country to watch a sunset? And to think? A camera has an eye that records things. That isn't enough. Think about what you see and hear and do.

TWO women were standing before a rose bush in an informal garden. One was saying "I am bored to death. I wish I could get away from town for a while. There's just nothing to do!"

Her companion answered, "How can you be bored in such an interesting world? I wish I had more time to make wonderful things grow in my garden. I missed an art exhibit last month because I couldn't find time to go. I heard the Gershwin concert last week and was inspired by it. I am going to see the Newberry Library next week. My trouble is finding enough time for the things that enthrall me."

There are calloused hands and calloused minds.

President's Words and Deeds Contrasted.

answer is that it does not acquit him when the facts convict him.

He might, indeed he does, say in defense that he labored for a better order of society. Even that is not the point. We accuse him of changing the American form of government. He says he did not.

We say he changed it perilously and to the injury of the people. He says he did not but that it was good he did so. Did he change it? Let his biographer, Ernest K. Lindley, answer that.

He refers to the 100 days. He says the arrival of a revolution had been proclaimed by several discerning periodicals and the curiosity of the world focused on the American experiment. The word revolution sprang naturally to the lips. "No other word seems strong enough to describe a change so swift and fundamental." Fundamental! A change contrary to the spirit and word of the democratic form of government.

Revolutionary Scope Told.

"The United States," says Mr. Roosevelt's friend and biographer, "had embarked on an experiment in new economic relationships of revolutionary audacity and magnitude. As an incident to this President Roosevelt had been endowed with greater power than any American President had possessed in peace time since adoption of the constitution. Probably never before had a change so abrupt and far reaching been wrought peaceably within the framework of democratic institutions."

We agree with that with one exception. It was not within the framework of democratic institutions. It was outside and that can be proved. It will be. The plan can not be kept within democratic institutions.

No modern planned society has been kept within democratic institutions. The state of the planned society has obliterated democratic institutions everywhere it has gained control, in Germany, Italy, Russia, and elsewhere.

Persists in the Plan.

Mr. Roosevelt's plan had to do so or fail and he did not intend it to fail. He has not allowed it to fail yet. He presses ahead. He persists, he finds his way over or around obstacles.

Before we examine what Mr. Roosevelt has done let us see whether the communists do approve of it. Do they approve of him? The evidence that they do approve the trend of his administration put him on the defensive. He had to deny that he sought their support. But the fact shows that he earned their support.

VOLUNTEERS WILL BE RECRUITED AT IOWA CORN SHOW

Hope to Enlist 50,000 at Marshalltown.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Marshalltown, Ia., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—When Marshalltown plays host this week to 50,000 visitors at its first Tall Corn exposition a group of the town's patriotic citizens will carry on an intensive drive to register every visitor as a VOLUNTEER.

So doing, Marshalltown will join in the nation-wide crusade of Americans interested in the protection of the constitution from the dangers of the New Deal by the election of Gov. Alf M. Landon as President.

"This is a normally Republican county," Mrs. O. H. Allbee commented here today, "but we're not leaving a stone unturned to insure the election of Alf M. Landon."

Booth to Be Erected.

A VOLUNTEER booth will be set up at one of the principal intersections and three VOLUNTEERS will ask visitors from other Iowa towns, from Nebraska, Kansas, and Minnesota to join them in its independent, patriotic movement to save the nation.

Marshalltown is festive for the week's exposition. Every lamp post is draped with bunting and stalks of Iowa's tall corn. The climax of the celebration is to be reached on Wednesday afternoon when Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of the late President, comes to speak in the Memorial coliseum. Preceding his address an elaborate parade will be held. O. H. Allbee, Marshalltown attorney, will introduce Col. Roosevelt.

As a president of the Marshall County Republican Woman's club and a leader in the activities of the Parent-Teacher association and the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Allbee will continue to push THE VOLUNTEER movement through election day.

Work for Farm Vote.

With Will A. Lane, prominent Marshalltown banker, she will work especially to enlist the farm people and others who never have taken an active part in a political campaign.

Part of Mrs. Allbee's program of work includes a thorough canvass of every precinct in Marshall county during the next two weeks, with Mrs. H. O. Hyatt, county chairwoman. THE VOLUNTEER movement will be urged in each precinct and supplies delivered. The movement also will be pushed at the four district meetings the Marshall County Republican Woman's club will hold before election day. On Oct. 22 a meeting is to be held in Legrand, boyhood home of Herbert Hoover.

Plans also are under way for a large VOLUNTEER rally to be held the latter part of this month in cooperation with Fred Gilbert of State Center, county chairman, and Mrs. Hyatt.

Des Moines Plans Pushed.

Others who registered as VOLUNTEERS here in Marshalltown today include Mrs. Minnie E. Grimm, court reporter, who will work intensively among the church people, and Mrs. W. R. Stewart.

In Des Moines, Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, chairman of Iowa VOLUNTEERS, announced enthusiastic plans for carrying forward the movement. Mrs. Meredith is the widow of the late Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Wilson.

Through Mrs. J. B. Reeve, prominent Iowa club leader, and Mrs. Alma K. Berry, who has been identified with Republican activities for years in Iowa, arrangements are being made for a meeting of Des Moines church people at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Silas Wadding, Des Moines pastor, telling "Why I am for Landon."

Mrs. Reeve will follow up this meeting with rallies of the members of the Sons of Veterans auxiliary and also the Woman's Relief corps.

10,000 HEAR GLENN RIP NEW DEAL AT ROBINSON RALLY

Robinson, Ill.—Oct 4.—[Special.]—Speaking before 10,000 at a Republican rally in the city park here today, Otis F. Glenn, Republican nominee for United States senator, denounced the wasteful spending of the Roosevelt administration and asserted that the election of Gov. Alf M. Landon and a Republican congress would assure an American market for the American farmer.

The rally, held under the auspices of the Crawford County Landon for President club, and assisted by THE VOLUNTEERS, was one of the largest political gatherings ever held in eastern Illinois. Chauncey McCormick, national chairman of THE VOLUNTEERS, presided and introduced the speakers, who also included Samuel Harden Stille of Cincinnati.

A group of Cook county VOLUNTEERS assisted in an entertainment program which preceded the speaking. Hundreds of men and women signed membership cards for THE VOLUNTEERS at booths in the park.

THE CASE OF "MRS. D."
A CLUB-WOMAN WITH THAT MATRONLY THICKNESS!

Mrs. D. is a smart, modern woman with a family and lots of outside activities. For a long time she's avoided facing the truth, that her figure was thickening . . . making her look stoutish and dowdy.

Along came the new Fall clothes that molded her figure ruthlessly and made her want to shriek when she looked in the mirror. So she consulted our Physiotherapist who charted her for ideal proportions after taking into consideration her height, age and weight. Result! She visited our Silhouette shop three times a week for six weeks, reduced 2 inches across the diaphragm, 2 inches in waistline, 2½ inches across the hips, ½ inch around her upper arms and even ½ inch around the calves of her legs.

And due to our stimulating Infra Red Beauty Ray, she feels invigorated, actually five years younger, ready for an active autumn and winter. Phone Ran. 1500.

WAYLAND BROOKS PAYS TRIBUTE TO FATHER AT DIXON

Memorial Service Is Held from Sire's Pulpit.

Dixon, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, spoke here today at memorial services for his late father, the Rev. Jonas Gardner Brooks, in the First Congregational church of West Dixon. The Rev. Mr. Brooks built the church in 1891—six years before his son was born—and was its first pastor.

More than 400 people, including several Congregational ministers, heard Brooks speak from the pulpit where his father once preached. The candidate related homely little incidents of boyhood experiences in Dixon and recounted recollections of his public school and Sunday school days there.

Recalls Seeing "T. R."

"The first time I ever saw a President of the United States," Brooks said, "was at Dixon. I remember being taken with my classmates to see Teddy Roosevelt."

Brooks told of his father's work in the church mission and among his parishioners and recalled the older man's devotion to his faith and family.

"I remember the first decent suit of clothes I ever had," Brooks said. "It came out of a parcel sent to my father at the mission."

Brooks was greeted on his arrival here by a reception committee headed by Mayor William V. Slogher. The mayor was a former Sunday school classmate of Brooks. Brooks was introduced from the pulpit by another former classmate, the Rev. Mr. Evan D. Welch of Geneva.

Father Born in 1866.

The Rev. Mr. Brooks was born in 1866. He was ordained a Congregational minister and spent most of his career in central Illinois. He was known as an able church administrator and much of his time was passed in traveling through the state, preaching and aiding in church organization. He was something like a "trouble shooter," his intimates said.

The Rev. Mr. Brooks built and guided the First Congregational church here. Then he held pastorates in Peoria, Kewanee, and Neponset, where Wayland Brooks attended grammar schools. Later he became pastor of the Wheaton College Congregational church. Wayland graduated from high school in Wheaton.

The United States entered the war while Wayland was a freshman at the University of Illinois. He enlisted in the marine corps and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross after the Belleau Woods engagement.

Father a War Chaplain.

The Rev. Mr. Brooks also went overseas, serving as a Y. M. C. A. chaplain. He died in 1927 while pastor of the Wheaton College Congregational church.

Wayland Brooks' mother, the former Ida N. Bickford, was born on a farm near Kewanee. She died in 1908.

Tomorrow Brooks begins a series of twelve speeches in as many towns, ending on Thursday. He speaks tomorrow in Alton, Belleville, and Granite City; on Tuesday at Fairfield, Benton, Herrin, Anna, and Cairo, and on Wed esday at Spring Valley and Streator. His Thursday itinerary takes him to Oregon, near Frank O. Lowden's Sinnissippi farm, and then back across the state to Kankakee.

According to present plans he will make his last downstate speech at Mount Olive next Sunday when a special memorial service for the late "Mother Jones," famed character of mine union history, is held there.

APPELLATE COURT OPENS FALL TERM TODAY; 523 CASES

After a twelve week summer recess the Illinois Appellate court for this district will open the fall term today with a court docket of 523 cases. Last year 561 cases were pending at the opening of the fall term. Sixty-eight per cent of all Illinois Appellate court appeals are filed in Cook county.

One of the oldest cases awaiting a ruling is the appeal of Mrs. Esther C. Eusby from the decision of Judge Fred Rush in Circuit court dismissing her suit to recover $507,344 from the First National Bank of Chicago for shrinkage in the estate of her late husband, Leonard, traction magnate.

Also on the court docket are three appeals from jail sentences imposed for trafic violations. One is the appeal of Albert A. Sprague Jr., 33 years old, from a ten day sentence in the Bridewell imposed last May by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Safety court for reckless driving. Four appeals from election fraud convictions are pending.

Another important case is the appeal from the injunction issued by Judge John McGoorty in Superior court fixing a minimum price of 50 cents for a haircut.

"The price you pay"

an I. MILLER shoe

What is their common denominator? Individuality—Intrinsic value—Inimitable beauty. QUALITY sums up the whole thing...When you "pay the price" for an I. Miller shoe, you pay for a shoe you wear one season—two seasons—three seasons, and longer. You never throw it away. Not even when it gets old. Unless, as a symbol of good luck, you aim it at a departing bridal pair!

An I. Miller shoe doesn't turn up its toe after a few weeks like a Pekingese' nose

An I. Miller shoe doesn't slouch at the heel after a few weeks like a Bowery bum

An I. Miller shoe doesn't sag all over after a few weeks like a worn-out bed spring

An I. Miller shoe doesn't gap at the sides after a few weeks like the yawn of a T. B. M.

An I. Miller shoe doesn't "squeak" after a few weeks like a mouse on a pantry shelf

An I. Miller heel doesn't spring off after a few weeks like the arrow from an archer's bow

I. Miller leather doesn't cross-line and wrinkle after a few weeks like your grandmother's patchwork quilt

In other words, an I. Miller shoe never "gives up". It never wears out. That's why you never throw it away. It's like a permanent possession—a thing of beauty and a joy forever. It fits—it wears—it flatters. That's why thousands of smart women the world over "pay the price" and like it!

ROOSEVELT AIDS HUNT FOR WAY TO SILENCE WALKER

Ex-Mayor's Indorsement Embarrasses New Deal.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 3.—[Special.]—How to combat the effect of Alfred E. Smith's positive endorsement of Gov. Alf. Landon engaged the serious attention today of President Roosevelt.

To be sure, James J. Walker came out in New York City last night with an enthusiastic indorsement of the President and a scornful criticism of former Gov. Smith for his desertion of the ideals for which the New Deal stands.

A presidential aid gloomily confessed that Jimmy Walker's assertion of loyalty only served to lend emphasis to the stand taken by Al Smith. A big problem during the next month will be to keep the wise cracking ex-mayor from making any more statements of allegiance, he admitted.

There has been much deliberation between Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers about the Al Smith problem. There is frank fear about the effect upon the electorate of at least four more major speeches by Mr. Smith, one each in Philadelphia, Boston, Albany and Chicago.

A very complete silence has been maintained by President Roosevelt, however, on the Smith speech. Requests for some comment from him have been ignored.

The President spent a quiet Sunday. He attended church in the morning with his wife and mother and other members of his family. He will leave for Washington tomorrow night, spending three or four days in the White House before leaving for the west.

PIONEER DIES

LIBRARIANS FIND PUBLIC READING PULSE SLOWING

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Librarians checked the public pulse today and found it faltering.

People, they suggested, are busier than they have been for some years, and haven't the time now for so much reading.

An anticipated circulation slump in the public libraries has occurred—but it's not a serious decline, said Miss Aurelia Bennion, president of the Utah Library association.

"When the depression came library patronage spurted," she explained. "People out of work and without funds for other entertainment turned to the free libraries."

DIES AFTER 80 YEARS IN SAME CHICAGO HOME

Otto H. Thiel, West Side Pioneer, Succumbs.

Otto H. Thiel, an old time resident of the west side whose memory was rich with the great events of Chicago's history, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital. He was 80 years old. From the time he was a baby 6 months old until his death Mr. Thiel lived in the same house at 2046 Erie street.

"When I was a child this old house was 'away out west,'" he often recalled when attending Old Settlers' picnics. "This was really a rural community.

"The milk supply interested householders intensely then. Every family kept one or two cows. Ambitious boys could get jobs as herders then, tending the cows through the city streets from the lake front neighborhoods to the rich pastures on the west side.

Saw Civil War Troops.

"As a boy I also remember sitting on the steps and watching the train loads of soldiers returning from the southern battle fields of the civil war. There was nothing but open prairie between our house and the railroad, three blocks west."

The night of the great fire, Oct. 8, 1871, Mr. Thiel told of his mother awakening the family with the cry, "The city's burning up." That night 56 homeless refugees from the devastated area slept on the lawn in front of their home.

Another great event in his life was the Columbian Exposition of 1893. He attended it 27 times.

He was the last of the old residents of that Erie street neighborhood to remain there. At first the district had been Irish on the south, Mr. Thiel recalled, and German on the north. Since then the population changed to a preponderance of Italian and Polish Americans.

Began Work as Cash Boy.

Mr. Thiel's first job was as one of the three cash boys in the Field-Leiter company store. Each night the boys were given packages to deliver on their way home. The ones for Thiel were always designated for "Omaha" because of the "great distance away" he lived.

For 22 years Mr. Thiel was employed by the American Express company. Then for 18 years he was in the horse feed business. Twenty years ago he retired.

Surviving are his widow, Jennie, and a son by his first wife, Charles B. Thiel. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 2809 Harrison street, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

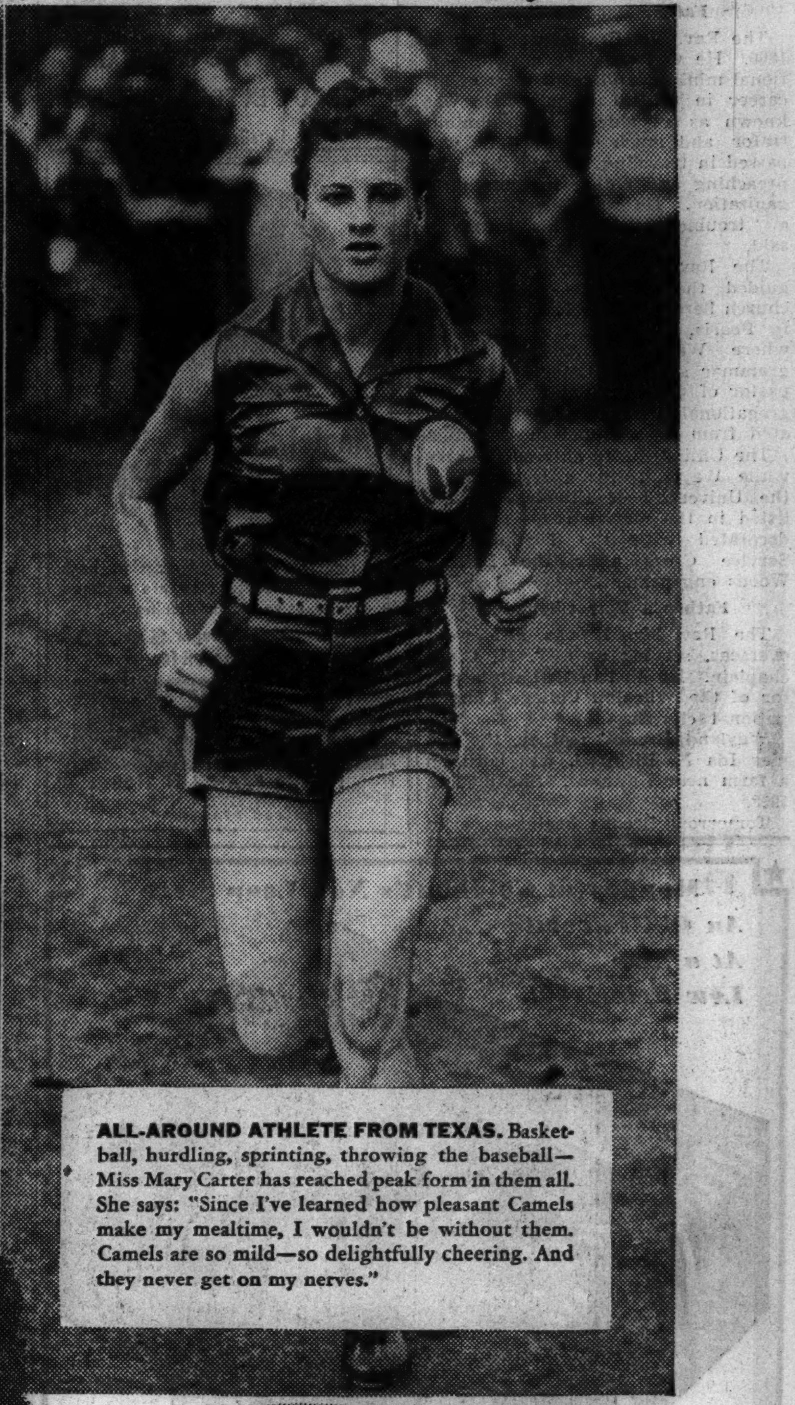
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE



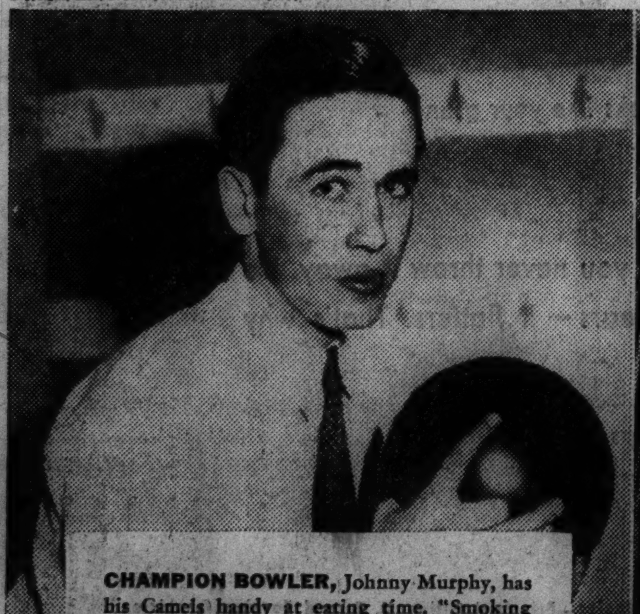
AFTER THE GREATEST FINISH under fire in golfing history: Tony Manero gets set for hearty eating by smoking Camels. The gallery went wild when Tony Manero came crashing through with a spectacular 282—to win the 1936 National Open Golf Tournament. In spite of the tension and excitement of the long grind, Tony shows no trace of the ordeal. His digestion stands the strain. As Tony himself says: "I'll go on record any time as one who thanks Camels for stimulating digestion. 'For digestion's sake—smoke Camels!' hits the ball right on the nose. I feel cheered up while I'm eating—enjoy my food more—and have a feeling of ease afterward when I enjoy Camels along with my meals. Camels set me right."

ALL-AROUND ATHLETE FROM TEXAS. Basketball, hurdling, sprinting, throwing the baseball—Miss Mary Carter has reached peak form in them all. She says: "Since I've learned how pleasant Camels make my mealtime, I wouldn't be without them. Camels are so mild—so delightfully cheering. And they never get on my nerves."

"FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE ... SMOKE CAMELS!"

WHETHER YOU ARE CATCHING A QUICK BITE OR DINING IN STATE—

Copyright, 1936, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.



CHAMPION BOWLER, Johnny Murphy, has his Camels handy at eating time. "Smoking Camels at meals and after works out swell in my case—helps my digestion. After a meal and Camels, I settle back and really enjoy life."

"WHAT A PLEASANT AID to digestion Camels are!" says this busy homemaker, Mrs. Charles Sickles. "They add their own special zest to any meal. No matter how jumpy I may feel, Camels set me right. So many of the women I know smoke Camels. They appeal to a woman's taste."

Camels increase digestive activity—encourage a sense of well-being!

WITH healthy nerves and good digestion on your side, you're bound to feel on top of the world. When you smoke Camels with your meals and after, Camels help in two special ways: Tension is lessened and Camels promote digestive well-being.

So enjoy your Camels between courses and after eating. Strain eases. The flow of digestive fluids, so vital to proper nutrition, is speeded up. Alkalinity is increased. Food tastes more delicious and you get more good from what you eat.

For good cheer—for invigorating "lift"—for matchless taste—and "for digestion's sake"—the answer is the same: Camels. Camels set you right! And they don't get on your nerves or tire your taste.

PARACHUTE ARMY STAGES DRILL FOR 500,000 NAZIS

Hitler Speaks at Annual Farm Festival.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—"Everybody feels the world is moving toward perhaps a tragic fate," Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler gloomily told half a million peasants and others drenched and shivering on Bueckeberg hillside, where they gathered for the yearly harvest celebration today. Bueckeberg is near historic Hamelin.

Millions of persons throughout Germany who were listening in on the broadcast from Bueckeberg hill were thrilled by the announcement that "hundreds of soldiers with machine guns have been suddenly landed out of the sky by parachute."

In this way the nation first became aware of its latest military sensation—that Germany as well as Russia is able to land a large body of armed men from airplanes. The landing took place during a mock battle in which 2,000 tanks, armored cars, and motorcycles with machine gun crews took part.

Urges Closer Unity.

"When he look around," Hitler said, "we see many strange things not to be understood—civil war, strikes, lockouts, arson. I feel I must appeal to the German people to draw yet closer together."

He then comforted his audience with the declaration:

"We are a united people. Nobody can break us. I believe that in another year we shall stand like a granite rock of security and order rising up out of the red blood of a yet more troubled world."

Frantic cheering was evoked by the Fuehrer's next remark.

"I am convinced that if, all around us, every thing starts to burn; if, everywhere, that madness were to assert itself as it attempts to do in Spain, it will never succeed in Germany."

Prices to Stay Fixed.

Hitler told the world it must learn that "we Germans are strongly on the watch and that we stand firmly on our own ground. We do not know what goes on around us, but we hold the shield borne up by our reason and our courage as a defense and weapon over Germany."

The greater part of Hitler's speech was devoted to the domestic economic situation. The Fuehrer once again declared nobody in Germany could be allowed to act solely in his own interests. Neither wages nor prices of agricultural products could be advanced, for the vicious circle inevitably would wreck the mark. "and this I will never tolerate," declared Hitler.

Center Drive for Colonies.

BRESLAU, Germany, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Nation-wide agitation stressing Germany's need for colonies will culminate here Oct. 16-19 in a colonial convention to center world attention on Germany's demands.

For weeks German support has been rallied to the cry for colonies through a campaign of editorials and posters. One poster quotes Hitler's Nuremberg proclamation: The German people's right to live is just as great as the rights of other nations."

DANZIG NAZI LEADER HITS LEAGUE; DEMANDS IT 'STAY OUT' OF CITY

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A three day Nazi rally which pictured Danzig as an eastern "anti-bolshevist citadel," closed tonight in a burst of oratory.

"Danzig's people never will be able to pronounce the word Geneva without a bad taste in their mouths until the league of nations council has decided not to send Danzig a high commissioner," declared Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, Nazi president of the Danzig senate.

Ten thousand uniformed Nazis heard the youthful Alfred Forster, their leader, attack bolshevism. Forster later addressed a closed meeting of Nazi leaders at which, it was reported, he proposed the Nazis seek peace with the Catholic clericals of Danzig.

TRAFIC VICTIMS, 3 LITTLE BOYS TAKE IT GAMELY

Three of the cheeriest patients in Alexian Brothers' hospital are three boys, the youngest 3 years old, and the eldest 6, all suffering from leg fractures received in automobile accidents.

They are Jerome O'Malley, 3 years old, 1221 Melrose street; Oscar Millriron, 6 years old, 2156 North Racine avenue, and Peter Bianche, 5 years old, 1122 Webster avenue. Jerome is the veteran. He entered the hospital on Aug. 18. Oscar and Peter entered within the last two weeks.

The three occupy beds in the same room. They lie side by side, their broken legs strapped high above their heads. The fixed position of their legs—necessary so that the fractured bones will knit properly—is the only circumstance that bothers them. "We're almost standing on our heads," observed one of the youngsters. Hospital attendants say the boys never really complain, and are always cheerful.

1 KILLED, 6 HURT WHEN SPEEDER'S CAR HITS AUTO

Driver Disappears After Fatal Crash.

Speeding allegedly at fifty miles an hour, an automobile containing three men and a young woman crashed squarely into a car containing two men and two women at Fullerton and Racine avenues early today. One man was killed. Three other men and the three women were injured. The driver of the speeding car disappeared after the accident.

The man killed was George Stenson, 42 years old, 2309 Eastwood avenue. Those injured in his car were his wife, Marion, 38, and Kenneth Hayes, 28, of 2622 Greenview avenue, both of whom suffered internal injuries, and Mrs. Bessie Oken, 42, also of 2622 Greenview avenue, who suffered the probable loss of her right eye.

Three Injured in Other Car.

Those injured in the other car were Woodrow Pennington, 18, of 1522 Clybourn avenue, whose right leg was broken, and Edward Stierowski, 21, of 1887 Poe street, and Lila Benson, 22, of 1040 North La Salle street, both of whom received internal injuries. They said the driver was a man named Walter Mallick. He is being sought.

Stenson was driving west in Fullerton avenue when the second car traveling north in Racine avenue at a terrific speed, according to the police, cut across Fullerton avenue, overturned Stenson's car several times and rolled over once itself. The fire department was called to extricate the injured from the wreckage. Miss Benson was taken to the North Chicago hospital and all the others to the Alexian Brothers' hospital.

Arthur Stumpe, 33 years old, 6609 South Hermitage avenue, was killed and three members of a family were seriously injured yesterday in the collision of two automobiles at 66th street and Marshfield avenue. Both cars were overturned.

The injured are Daniel Byrne, 24 years old, 4520 Wrightwood avenue, a city fireman and driver of one of the cars; his father, William, 57 years old, of the same address, a policeman attached to the Shakespeare avenue station, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Byrne, 56 years old. They were taken to the Holy Cross hospital.

Stumpe, driving alone, was pinned under his overturned car. The elder Byrne, who suffered a possible fractured neck, had just recently returned to work after recovering from injuries incurred in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

Car Plunges Off Road.

William Berndt, 65 years old, 4444 Madison street, was fatally injured last night when an automobile in which he was riding with two other men plunged over a 20 foot embankment into a farmyard off Mannheim road, near St. Charles road, in Bellwood.

Marshall Tufts, 19 years old, who also gave the address of 4444 Madison street, that of the Tufts Fireproof warehouse, was driving the car. After receiving treatment for cuts and bruises, he was held by the Bellwood police, who said he had been drinking. Moise Pare, 60 years old, 4323 West End avenue, the second passenger in the car, also suffered minor injuries.

Stephen Haydukowicz, 44 years old, of Roby, Ind., was killed last night when his car was overturned by another at 112th street and Ewing avenue. Helen Udchitz, 9, also of Roby, riding with him, was cut on the head and body. Frank McFann, 29, and Miss Daisy Hoetner, 36, both of South Bend, Ind., who were in the other car, were not hurt.

William G. Clark, 79 years old, of the Lawrence Arms hotel, 4800 Kenmore avenue, died yesterday in the Ravenswood hospital of injuries incurred Friday when his automobile was struck by a Clark street surface lines car at Leland avenue. He was president of the Chicago Blow Pipe company, 210 North Mozart street. Mr. Clark formerly lived at 319 Lemont terrace, South Bend, Ind.

An unidentified colored man about 30 years old was killed yesterday when he was struck by the truck of Jerry Navillo, 24 years old, 2048 Grand avenue, at 14th and Halsted streets.

William Pittstick, 45 years old, of 180 Warren avenue, Aurora, was killed yesterday and John Minnich, 45 years old, of Oswego, was injured when their automobile crashed into a tree at Main and Anderson streets, Aurora. Minnich lost control of the car while rounding a curve.

Struck By Hit-Run Car.

Edward Collins, 42 years old, 6035 South Union avenue, an electrician, was injured critically yesterday when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at 61st street and Union avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 738 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 568 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 14,364 were injured in trafic accidents in the Houston, Tex., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The year's savings of twenty-five circus electricians were taken in a spectacular robbery of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus train between Corpus Christi and Houston early today. The robber apparently swung on the side of the speeding train and bored through the side of a heavy wagon to the money box inside, circus officials said, while the train sped 60 miles an hour.

MORE MISSISSIPPI JUSTICE.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is one of Mr. Roosevelt's most reliable lieutenants. His name has been mentioned from time to time for a Supreme court appointment should Mr. Roosevelt be called upon to fill a vacancy.

In this connection the latest turn in the case of Mississippi vs. Yank Ellington et al. is meaningful. Ellington and two other penniless Negro share croppers were accused of murdering a white planter. The only evidence against them was in the form of confessions wrung from them by the most brutal torture, including strangulation and repeated whippings. The three Negroes were convicted and sentenced to death. The Mississippi Supreme court sustained the verdict in the face of the admitted fact that not one syllable of the prosecution's evidence was admissible in any court which respected the constitution of the United States. It was not until the case was heard by the United States Supreme court that the outrageous verdict was set aside.

Even after the Supreme court in a notable opinion had exposed and corrected the hideous miscarriage of justice the three men were not set free. Instead they were ordered to be retried. The state admitted it had no more evidence than it had had before. Thereupon the defense demanded the release of the prisoners on a writ of habeas corpus as provided in the United States constitution. To his everlasting credit, Judge A. H. Longino granted the writ, but even then the three defendants were not freed because the prosecution immediately obtained an order from the chief justice of the Mississippi Supreme court granting an appeal from Judge Longino's finding. That appeal is now pending.

Ellington and his fellow defendants are still in jail, held there against every dictate of law and humanity by Democratic officeholders with their characteristic southern contempt for the rights of Negroes.

In the face of this record it is difficult to believe that any considerable number of Negroes in the north will vote Democratic, knowing as they do that Democratic officeholders in Washington are dominated by the southern wing of the party. It is even more difficult to believe that Negroes—or, indeed, any believers in equality before the law—will vote to reëlect a President who is more than likely to appoint a Joe Robinson of Arkansas or a Pat Harrison of Mississippi to the United States Supreme court. The court as it stands today is a bulwark against the invasion of the rights of racial and religious minorities. Whether the court remains so may depend in no small degree upon the outcome of the forthcoming election.

Gov. Landon believes in the constitution and will appoint judges who will enforce its mandates. President Roosevelt thinks the constitution is a nuisance. He calls it a horse-and-buggy document. He is tied by friendship and party allegiance to the Robinsons and Harrisons. Negroes who vote for Roosevelt will vote for the reënslavement of their race in the south.

LLOYD GEORGE GOES BACK TO GERMANY.

Lloyd George is one of the principal characters just now in the English cartoons, and likewise in editorial comment. The former Liberal premier went to visit Hitler recently and speculation as to what the two were up to has been considerable. One cartoon shows Mr. Lloyd George jauntily stepping away from Der Fuehrer's doorstep, goosestepping and giving the Hitler salute. On the doorstep are discarded clothes labeled "Liberal garments no longer required by owner." Mr. Lloyd George wears a brown shirt and boots, and his breeches are covered with the swastika. Herr Hitler is regarding his departing guest from the half open door quizzically, and the guest is walking over the prostrate form of a person recognizable as the cartoonist's idea of the ordinary citizen.

It seems to be the prevailing British opinion that Mr. Lloyd George intended to pick up some new social ideas when he went to see Hitler and that Hitler saw that he got them. Political changes in recent years have reduced the Lloyd George following to a little more than the Lloyd George family, but one never completely dismisses a vigorous political national figure, even when his party seems to be exclusively under his hat. When strange opportunities arise the down and outers sometimes have a way of strangely popping up.

Lloyd George went to Germany once before for ideas and brought them home when he was in a position to do something with them. No one has been able to balance up the consequences of this because no one is in a position now to guess at the end result, either in Great Britain or over here. Lloyd George transplanted to Great Britain certain social-democrat policies which had been worked out, beginning with Bismarck and Ferdinand Lassalle, as a compromise between the radical German revolutionaries who were coming under the influence of Karl Marx and the German conservatives, the monarchy, the industrialists, and the great land owners. Lassalle was denounced as a traitor to the working classes and Bismarck was supposed to have smothered discontent and revolution by agreeing to liberal social legislation satisfactory to the conservative elements of social democracy.

These ideas were vigorously championed in Great Britain by Lloyd George and became party doctrin, eventually finding their way into law in the form of social insurance acts and provision for people who found themselves or thought themselves unable to meet competitive conditions. Even before the depression there was doubt as to the social consequences of this. From Great Britain the Lloyd George importation was carried to the United States, and there is great doubt about it here now.

In Germany the progress from Bismarck and Lassalle, having narrowly escaped Marx and Lenin, has arrived at Hitler. One might not say dogmatically that Bismarck wrote Hitler into the German constitution, but the fact that he is there cannot be ignored. At least the interest displayed by Mr. Lloyd George in the Hitler stage of German development is worthy of the attention the British are giving it, even if they are inclined to regard both Der Fuehrer and their own compatriot as amusing little men.

SCANDALIZED PENNSYLVANIA.

Hopkins and Farley are trying to make the normally Republican state of Pennsylvania the scandal area of the 1936 election. Abuses of the WPA, notorious in other states, are minor incidents in political corruption when they are compared with what is being done in the old Keystone state.

It is only a superficial evidence of this that every WPA job is decorated with a great signboard carrying the posters of the Democratic congressman to whom the gift of money is attributed and a statement of how much that money is, and that the portrait of Franklin D. Roosevelt beams down upon the work. Coin is being shoved into Pennsylvania in such a volume that even the recipients of it are shocked. They are not too shocked to take it, but they know Pennsylvania is to be bought and paid for if it is humanly possible to do so.

Republican National Chairman John Hamilton indignantly asked the hypocritical senate committee on campaign expenditures to make an investigation of this Pennsylvania scandal area. Senator Lonergan, Democratic head of it, tried to snub Mr. Hamilton, but some pretense of taking notice of the political debauchery had to be made, and the committee, whose only purpose is to intimidate Republican campaign contributions, has started shadow boxing. An investigation is supposed to be under way.

No one will be fooled by that nor will the Democratic WPA foremen in the state be scared out of forcing WPA workers to contribute to Democratic campaign funds. In all the states the workers, having been taken off of relief, are afraid they'll lose their jobs and not get back on relief if they show any independence of political opinion. There are 2 million 400 thousand of them, all voters with other voters depending on them, and most of them feel that they have lost their American citizenship.

Unless they can be encouraged to believe in the protections of the secret ballot and unless public indignation rises against the intimidation and coercion of American citizens, the New Deal may scandalize American political history by the coercion of millions of American voters, using the public money to turn the trick.

TRAINS, 1937 MODELS.

During the month of July, 1935, which is yesterday in railroad history, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific announced the inauguration of seven hour service to Minneapolis with its new, streamlined, lightweight Hiawatha. On Oct. 11, 1936, the equipment of these trains will be entirely replaced. The new coaches, buffets, parlor cars, and diners will contain all that intensive research has been able to develop in the last year, including the spacious vestibules that were an outstanding feature of the New York Central's Mercury.

Railway announcements of improved schedules have become somewhat commonplace, but the rejuvenated Hiawatha is unprecedented. The spectacle of a railway replacing a highly successful train within sixteen months will shock the public into the realization that railway revival is proceeding in earnest. Like the automotive industry, the Milwaukee's 1937 models are now being shown.

FRANKFORT'S 150 YEARS.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Frankfort, Kentucky's capital, is sending out invitations for a homecoming to celebrate its 150th anniversary Oct. 4, 5, and 6. Cincinnati may well extend its greetings and congratulations. There are few places in the Ohio valley which are more worth visitation. It has been said, with truth, that Frankfort ranks with Salem, Annapolis, and Charleston in beauty, charm, and historic interest.

Frankfort's 150 years since Gen. James Wilkinson laid it out have been eventful. It is her proud boast that the little square bounded by Wapping, Wilkinson, Main, and St. Clair streets has produced more men of note than any other similar area in the United States. If the skeptical wish documentation they can find it in Miss Trabue's charming "Corner of Celebrities." She starts with two Supreme court justices, two cabinet members, eight governors, nine United States senators, six congressmen, seven diplomats, and three admirals.

But that is a mere beginning. The state cemetery, looking down from the Palisades of the Kentucky river, is a bivouac of the gallant dead. And in the old houses, whose gardens slope down to the Kentucky and are still occupied by the founding families, these families and their fair ladies still live in portraits by Gilbert Stuart, Jouett, Sharpless, and Moise. There Presidents have visited, there came fascinating Col. Burr to discuss dreams of empire with Wilkinson, when the latter opened the Mississippi to the dwellers on the western waters, through his realistic dealings with the Spanish at New Orleans.

If you tread the steps of the old statehouse, which Gideon Shyrock so cunningly devised for his masterpiece of Greek revival, the past, identified with all that makes Kentucky great, comes to reality from the years of yesterdays.

If these things interest the mere tourist how very much more do they mean to Frankfort and Kentucky.

A CLINGING VINE PUTS OUT A FEELER.

Letter to a U. of C. undergrad from the girl friend back home: "I am terribly worried. The Woman's club is having juniors' day next Friday and I am on the program. ### BLUEBIRD IN AUTUMN.

I heard a bluebird on an Autumn day,
The wind was rising, and the sky was gray.
No tint of green on upland pastures bare
Revealed the secret of his singing there;
Yet buoyant, sweet, from out the feathered throat
The shadows held that far, exultant note,
Where bittersweet against the old stone wall
In ripened beauty let its clusters fall.
The Spring was not, nor vagrant bee astray,
And yet—a bluebird, singing, on that day.

CANNY YANKEE.

When my father was a young man (back in the '70s) he clerked in a general store in a small town in Central Illinois. The proprietor was a shrewd old Yankee who didn't miss many tricks. . . The floor of the store was about six feet above the ground level, and around the porch was a banister that served as both guard rail and display rack. Harness and saddles were put on it every morning and carried in at night. One night a fine western saddle was missing, and as father and the Yankee knew they hadn't sold it they were sure it had been taken by a customer. "Just charge that saddle to every account on the books," ordered the owner. The farmer customers usually settled up only once a year, and, according to father, seventeen of them paid full price for that saddle.

MORE LATIN.

How about a little pig Latin? This verse was recited, long ago, in Chicago's Smoky Hollow by a kid with a cap on the side of his head and a cigar butt in one hand:

If an irigay ouldway ivgay emay an ilesmay
I'd itquay ootingshay apscray;
I'd opstay alkintay igpay Atinlay
And ibay myelfsay an athay.

I don't know whether this poet quit shooting craps and talking the vernacular, but he did buy a hat and so far he has had three wives.

The Lieutenant.

WHEN I was a youth working in the Hometown newspaper and job shop the principal horse doctor of the vicinity was a man with a wooden leg, old Doc Robinson. One morning he came into the shop in great excitement. He had invented a new medicine and wanted labels printed stating that it was a guaranteed cure for bots, heaves, fistula, spavin and other equine diseases. The job was to be finished while he was concocting the mixture over at the drug store. . . . A couple of hours later, while the labels were being printed, the doc came in, yelling: "Stop the press, stop it, I say." We asked him what was wrong. "The damn stuff won't mix," he said. ### KITCHEN RHYME.

I would write you a rhyme if I only had the time;
I could do it just fine if I only had time;
But the beans must be burning,
The butter wants churning,
The roast needs a turning,
Getting meals there's no spurning,
Though to play I am yearning,
For this rule you must learn if you'd guide Cupid's dart:
By way of the stomach lies the road to the heart!
Still, I'd write you a rhyme if I only had time;
I could make one so fine—if I only had time!

GRANDPA GATHERED EGGS.

Grandma never quarreled with Grandpa. She admired him too much and he was too helpful when her own tasks presented problems. For instance, there were the eggs. Grandma always had about 600 hens and every one of them had to lay right on schedule to keep out of the soup. Every Saturday night she took the surplus eggs to town and sold them, usually about 150 dozen, and sometimes she would get as much as 10 cents a dozen, as they were all fresh. . . . The trouble developed when the hens started wandering off into the Great Swamp at the edge of the farm. There they worked all day catching bugs and roosted all night in the trees. Naturally they couldn't be bothered about coming back to the henhouse to lay their eggs. So many alligators and snakes infested the swamp—to say nothing of the murderous vines—that the kids couldn't go after the eggs and Grandma was losing half her supply. . . . Grandpa said he would take care of things. He did. About a week later, when he called up the swamp razorbacks by playing Dixie on the dishpan, we saw how he had handled the job. He had made a fine imitation of a hen's nest out of straw and cornstalks and had wired one on the back of each razorback. Since each nest had one or two eggs in it, Grandma was overjoyed and said she would never doubt Grandpa again. . . . Elmer and I are going down to the farm pretty soon. Southern Gentleman.

WHAT, NO DOGS?

(Ad in Pasadena Independent, via F. F.)

IS THERE, in Pasadena, an intelligent young woman who, for $15.00 month, room, board, and a view, would consider bringing order out of chaos and debris surrounding four beautifully wild children and three slightly bewildered adults?

IT SEEMS singularly appropriate that the gathering of the retired firemen of Chicago should have been designated a smoker.

WHY IS IT that most of the important politicians who urge us to forget partisanship and vote for them (it's an almost universal habit) are fellows who never have forgotten theirs for ten minutes?

THIS SEEMS SERIOUS.

SCABIES—A PARASITIC DISEASE.

IN old medical works scabies [the itch] is given considerable prominence. If one will take the trouble to read the descriptions therein set forth the following sentence will be met: "The disease exists only among those who fail to keep clean and is rarely, if ever, encountered among nice people."

While it is true that the eruptions are attributed usually to filth, the above statement is no more truthful now than it was at the time it was written. Scabies is no respecter of person, class, or stratum of society. Epidemics have occurred among the pupils of the most exclusive private schools.

The diagnosis is missed, however, more often than is that of any other skin infection. In one instance, reported by John H. Stokes, an epidemic which involved an entire Florida town was thought to be due to food poisoning. He relates another case in which an American traveling abroad was advised by a distinguished European specialist that he was suffering from the secondary rash of syphilis. Hastily packing his effects, he took the fastest boat home and consulted his dermatologist, when the parasites were discovered.

The condition is unrecognized all too frequently because many physicians are unfamiliar with the several manifestations of the infestation. Furthermore, the skin may not be examined with a lens of sufficient power to permit the burrows of the itch mite to be seen. In Stokes' long list of mistaken diagnoses, gathered from many quarters, there is included almost every known skin lesion as well as many types of digestive upsets, ivy poisoning, primrose poisoning, etc.

The disease is caused by the itch mite which flourishes in the outer layers of the epidermis. Any one harboring this tiny, spiderlike parasite can spread the disease to others, and within 24 to 48 hours the female of the species may have become securely implanted and ready to set up the irritation that is responsible for the intense itching. Cases have been known in which the infection has been entertained for many months—even a year or more—the carrier constituting a constant source of contagion to others. It is not necessary to have direct contact, as clothing, bedding, etc., may be contaminated.

The chief symptom [itching] may be relatively mild during the day, but when the body is snug and warm beneath the bedclothes the newly hatched mites, like playful youngsters, may engage in a frolic with the skin of an obliging host their playground. We unconsciously scratch an itching part. Thus dirty fingers and nails may complicate the lesion by adding bacteria.

It is imperative that the mites be killed, otherwise generation after generation will continue the misery and discomfort. The individual is not rid of the disease until the last female is dead.

The routine treatment consists first in taking a hot bath, then scrubbing thoroughly with a soapy brush in order to open all the pores and pimples. An ointment which contains sulphur or some sulphur compound of at least 10 per cent concentration is rubbed over the entire body except the face and scalp. Particular attention should be given the hands, beneath the arms, around the waist line, the groin, and the external genitals.

The ointment rubs are repeated the following morning and evening. On the third day only the bath is taken. All bedding, blankets, etc., should be thoroughly washed or dry cleaned, and clean underwear used daily.

Recently an ointment made from an extract of pyrethrum flowers combined with some fatty substance has been advocated. It is claimed for this particular preparation that it penetrates the burrows more readily and destroys the eggs without damaging the skin. The advantages of this plan are that it is somewhat cleaner and less irritating than the more generally used sulphur régime.

HEAT AND COLD.

K. C. H. writes: I would like to learn about the application of heat and cold, as in sore throat and inflammation of the muscles. Also, when should they alternate?

REPLY.

Cold is used to subdue pain [as in headache], to lessen inflammation [as in sore throat], to reduce high temperature [as in typhoid fever], to stop hemorrhage, and as a general stimulant. Heat is used to subdue pain [as in rheumatism], to increase excretory activity [as in Bright's disease], to reduce blood pressure, to raise the temperature of the body, and to cauterize diseased tissues. A prolonged hot bath followed by a cold shower is recommended to prevent stiffness following unaccustomed muscular effort. Recent sprains may be treated first by cold running water but later heat in some form is used. Some types of rheumatism are treated by alternate applications of cold and heat.

SEE FAMILY DOCTOR.

F. T. C. writes: For the past month I have had a numb spot to the right of my spine. It is about the size of a dime and is located in the small of my back. When I get very warm and perspire it itches a great deal. If I rub my hand over it it feels like a needle is being stuck into the exact center of this spot. Can you tell me what this is and the cause?

REPLY.

You are a bit inconsistent. You say that the spot is numb and yet it itches and is painful. It is difficult, therefore, to give you a definite answer. Do not handle the spot. If it continues to bother you it would be wise to have your family doctor make an examination.

SHINGLES.

D. I. writes: Is there any new treatment of shingles?

REPLY.

Apparently the most successful attack lies in the hypodermic injection of pituitrin. If this extract of the pituitary gland is carefully administered pain is relieved, usually with improvement in the skin lesions. The material cannot be used on a pregnant woman.

LESS AND NOT MORE.

N. L. D. writes: Is whole wheat bread more fattening than white?

REPLY.

Whole wheat bread is generally considered to be slightly less fattening. However, there is no great difference.

SIMILE.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech at Pittsburgh resembled a man standing before the bar of justice, pleading guilty to a crime and attempting to justify the same by both a plea of self-defense and the unwritten law.

W. W. DAVIESS.

THE RED HERRING.

Homewood, Ill., Oct. 2.—The peeved Al knows his fish. He certainly slapped that red herring around last night.

He reminded me of the small boy who was not allowed to attend school because there were not enough seats, so Saturday he went over and touched a match to the dried grass and burned the little schoolhouse down.

It is just too bad that so many promising Irishmen have spoiled themselves—their careers—by resorting to buffoonery.

But I will say we all had an enjoyable evening. Yet over our tea after the speech we did wonder just what qualifications a man needs to fit him for the presidency. Al wanted to be President, yet in his speech ne said he had not sufficient early education to fit him for a business career.

ELLEN MOLONEY PHELAN.

AN ADDRESS AND A TIRADE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 2.—We listened to the wonderful address of President Roosevelt, giving in detail the accomplishments of this administration, and then listened to the tirade of Al Smith, which was just the outburst of a soreheaded Irishman who forgets his gratitude to the Democratic party when he abuses so many of its members.

BOX SCORE.

Arlington Heights, Ill., Oct. 2.—After hearing President Roosevelt's "Box Score" speech, these thoughts may be in order:

Mr. Roosevelt may have been at second base at Pittsburgh Thursday night but in all probability he will only be a bench warmer after the Nov. 3 change in lineups.

With all his legislative fumbles and a very weak Supreme court batting average he cannot expect to continue in our political national game.

EDWARD C. WAHL.

THE CLINCHER.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—One of the reasons I will not vote for Landon: Al Smith's historical radio speech on the night of Oct. 1, 1936. ETTA SANDEL MORTON.

PETTY JEALOUSY.

Highland Park, Ill., Oct. 2.—Out of respect to a man who once had some of the qualities of greatness, I felt that the newspapers would be kind enough to gloss over very lightly Al Smith's radio speech. If ever a man showed signs of petty jealousy, sour grapes, and narrow mindedness he showed them last night. He stressed the fact that he was an American before anything else, with the welfare of his country his prime interest, yet in the next breath he said he could not work for that government, had he been asked to, because he couldn't afford to live on the salary of a cabinet officer!

Roosevelt will be elected not alone by his good works and oratorical powers but by the poor speeches, selfish principles, and mud slinging of his opponents. They are certainly helping his cause along, as are the newspapers which print their utterances. H. J. M.

WELCOME.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Henceforth the crowd at Washington should not be called the Democratic party. Many patriotic Democrats will be with the Republicans in this campaign for Gov. Landon. Let's welcome them as loyal Democrats from the so-called New Deal crowd.

R. P. TYLER.

REVEALED AT LAST.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 2.—I heard F. D. R.'s speech on the radio on Tuesday evening and I was delighted with it. At last Mr. Roosevelt is showing himself in his true character, that of a sneering egotist—a petty, spoiled darling with millions of unearned dollars to use to further his own ambitions. The scorn of all decent Americans is getting under his skin and he squirms and spews out venom. He just can't take it!

If I know my America—and I think I do—he is going to learn on Nov. 4 just what the contempt of the American people means. M. E. N.

THROUGH.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Al Smith is likened to the fox who, looking up, growled "sour grapes" because he couldn't reach them. Al was once great. He has exhibited such bad taste and poor breeding in attempting to criticize so great a commander-in-chief!

If he were in Russia he would not be permitted on the air. He would be shot before sunrise, which he so richly deserves as the traitor to his party.

Al Smith boasts of 19 times being elected; well, in my opinion he's through! He can never come back. I am a New Deal Democrat. NELLIE ELWARD.

PATRIOTISM.

Downers Grove, Ill., Oct. 2.—What a grand exhibition of patriotism at its best—Al Smith's declaration! The conflict in his soul was evident. As a steadfast Democrat he reluctantly indorsed the Republican candidate for the presidency. But as an American citizen he willingly placed his stamp of approval upon a healthy minded American—Alfred M. Landon! BILL MAYOR.

WEAK KNEED.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Smith's arguments are as weak kneed as he is. So he's hurt because nobody asked his advice! What a laugh! Who in the name of all that is good and holy wants it?

ELEVEN FOR ROOSEVELT.

NO ROOM FOR SMITH.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—It has come to a pretty pass when Al Smith indorses the Republican nominee, Alfred Landon, and all this, mind you, after insisting repeatedly that he is a Democrat. He further displays his gross inconsistency by stating that he traveled thirty-seven thousand miles through the country in 1932 to campaign for President Roosevelt, and if it does not sound too egotistical, he wants "credit" for planting seeds in the minds of those who elected him. Now, if our noble President is as bad as Brother Smith paints him, why does he want "credit" for aiding him in his last election? This product of the sidewalks of New York should forget the four year grudge he bears against the chief executive. There never was a place for him in the cabinet of our great President, and there will be no room for him during his next term, either.

M. M. C.

A LOYAL DEMOCRAT.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 2.—Next to Alfred Smith's indorsement of Alfred Landon as the next President of our country, the highlight of his talk at Carnegie hall was the statement of his own allegiance to the Democratic party. The party now in power is not the Democratic, but the New Deal party. Hence in repudiating the candidacy of Roosevelt, Smith is not repudiating the Democratic party, but is showing his loyalty to it.

True Democrats, both north and south, take notice of this, and, as Smith says, "Vote for Alfred M. Landon!"—a true American. I. E. C.

INFESTATIONS COMPARED.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Last Sunday, Sept. 27, I read with deep interest the statement made by Brig. Gen. Edward H. White that the office of clerk of the Superior court is "physically lousy."

If I may use the words of Mr. White I would like to know if said office could be any "lousier" than Mr. White, who was a delegate to the convention of the National Union for Social Justice at Cleveland on Aug. 14 last and has now sold out the national union for Zintak's "lousy" office. In my opinion, Mr. White bears watching.

TAX FORFEITURE.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In the case of land forfeited to the state of Illinois for taxes, is it necessary to sue for its return or may the record be cleared simply by paying up all back taxes?

2. How long has one to redeem such property?

3. Should the accumulated taxes and costs exceed the present value of the property, how may they be reduced to a reasonable sum?

4. If the former owner of such property does not care to redeem it, can it be purchased, and how?

5. Can a deed be issued for such property, and, if so, would there be a period for redemption?

6. Are tax deeds considered good deeds or [7] may they be set aside? W. M. T.

1. You can obtain the necessary figures from the office of the county clerk and then compromise the forfeiture from the state's attorney's office.
2. Indefinitly.
3. See 1.
4. One course would be to persuade the state's attorney to bring proceedings to foreclose the tax forfeitures. Presumably he would insist that you agree in advance to bid a definite minimum figure at the foreclosure sale.
5. See 4.
6. No, in the sense that they do not in themselves amount to a clear title of the land.
7. In general, yes.

Investigators Say Leaks Are Stopped.

A committee appointed by the village board of Oak Park to investigate the suburb's water department as an aftermath of alleged discrepancies in meter readings during the last year completed its report yesterday and will present it to the board at its meeting tonight. The report states that a survey of water distribution disclosed forty underground leaks, resulting in a total leakage of 510,000 gallons a day.

These leaks have now been repaired, according to the report, and will result in an annual saving of $22,000 a year on the village's water bill. The committee will continue its investigation with a view to reducing the present water rates for Oak Park consumers.

Series of Untoward Incidents.

Several scandals have occurred in the village's water department in the last year. Wiley Imhoff, who was manager of the department for 25 years, was discharged last March 11 and the next day the village board disclosed that an audit of the department's accounts showed a shortage of $6,831. Imhoff disappeared. On July 27, a few days after he was arrested in Seattle, Wash., and confessed he had taken the money, he hanged himself in his cell in the Seattle jail.

In April, two bookkeepers in the department were dismissed for failure to coöperate with the board in investigating the shortage.

Last December it was asserted that in the last two years Oak Park had overpaid Chicago some $73,000 more for water. Differences were reported in the readings of the five Chicago meters and the five Oak Park meters through which the water purchased from Chicago must pass. The discrepancy averaged about 1,500,000 gallons a day in Chicago's favor, according to certain informants.

Trustees Investigate Department.

The village board appointed a committee consisting of Trustees Robert F. Glaesel, chairman; William P. Churchill and Arthur F. Hearl to inspect the water department. Their report yesterday estimated the average daily consumption of water in Oak Park at 6,100,000 gallons.

This figure does not include the 510,000 gallons lost by the underground leaks which have now been corrected. It does, however, include an unavoidable leakage of 3,000 gallons per mile of main, a total of 330,000 gallons per day. The statistics on water consumption were prepared for the committee by the Pitometer company, experts in water surveys.

GUARDSMEN ON DUTY AT MILL AFTER PLEA OF TEXTILE STRIKERS

Union, S. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—National Guardsmen reported for duty in a textile strike zone late today after the strikers had requested their presence.

The mill planned to reopen tomorrow for a second week of partial operation despite a strike that the United Textile Workers of America called on Sept. 9 following the discharge of a member for fighting a master mechanic.

Gov. Olin Johnston said at Columbia that he was prepared to declare a state of insurrection in the industrial village tomorrow so the troops might displace 75 heavily armed deputies, paid by the mill, of whose conduct he said he had received complaints.

50,000 THRILLED BY AIR CIRCUS TO AID CHARITY

An air circus put on for the benefit of the Arden Shore association, a charitable enterprise, drew more than 50,000 spectators yesterday to Sky Harbor airport, northwest of Northbrook on Dundee road.

The events included races, smoke writing, balloon bursting and sham dog fights.

Pilot Joe Jacobson of Chicago thrilled the crowded grandstand by zooming past at more than 300 miles an hour in a small low wing monoplane. Other performers included Harold Johnson of Chicago, doing loops and rolls in a four ton Ford trimotor ship; Milo Burcham, doing inverted acrobatics in a Boeing P-12 fighter, and Capt. Dick Graenere, stunting near the ground.

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB EMBARKS ON 30TH SEASON

Honors Clifford Barnes, Founder and President.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The thirtieth season of the Chicago Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall, was opened last night with a tribute to the club's principal founder and president, Clifford W. Barnes.

Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor emeritus of Fourth Presbyterian church and president of Presbyterian Theological seminary, praised Mr. Barnes as one of the city's most notable religious and civic figures of the last generation.

Away Third Time in 30 Years.

Mr. Barnes, who will be 72 years old next Thursday, was unable to be present at the opening because of illness. This was only the third time during the 30 year period, Dr. Stone said, when the club's president failed to open its season. The first absence occurred in 1918 when the government sent him on a mission to Greece, and the second, in 1932, was occasioned by illness.

"For 25 years Mr. Barnes gave an informal Bible talk at the earlier of the two club services each Sunday night," said Dr. Stone. "Thousands attended this class, which, I believe, was one of the largest and most effective Bible classes in the country.

Business Men's Enterprise.

"Mr. Barnes founded and organized the club in 1907 with the aid of a group of business men. He interested these pioneer merchants and bankers in the idea that the business district should have some outstanding place of nonsectarian worship for those of all creeds and clases; for the strangers in hotels over the week-end."

Woman, 30, Hit by Bicycle, Dies of a Broken Neck

Mrs. Rose Ross, 30 years old, 6103 South Lincoln street, died yesterday in the County hospital of a neck fracture incurred last Thursday night when she was knocked to the pavement by a bicycle at 55th street and Ashland avenue. Donald Hafer, 22 years old, 312 West 59th place, a radio technician, who was riding the cycle, told police the woman stepped into the path of his bicycle as he was turning the corner. He was not held.

ART SHOULDN'T KEEP A SECRET FROM JOSEPHINE

There are several reasons why Arthur Williams, 28 years old, possessor of many aliases, landed in a detective bureau cell. The most important was that he forgot to tell his bride that he was a PAROLED CONVICT.

After serving five years for robbery Williams was paroled last July from the Joliet penitentiary. He obtained employment in a Joliet printshop and married Miss Josephine Busch of Rockdale, Ill.

Last week William disappeared from Joliet and the police learned he had passed five bogus checks totaling $200, including a deposit on a rented car. They visited his wife at Rockdale. For the first time she learned her husband's prison record, and agreed to help the authorities.

Lieut. Michael McFayden and a bureau squad were waiting last night at the bus depot at Roosevelt road and Wabash avenue when Mrs. Williams arrived. A man stepped out from the crowd. Mrs. Williams embraced him. Then the police seized him. He was Williams.

VETERANS OF '71 RETELL FIGHT TO QUELL BIG FIRE

Three veterans, the last of the 225 firemen who fought for 36 hours to subdue the flames in the disastrous fire of 1871, recalled the events of that struggle yesterday in the Great Northern hotel. They were guests of honor at the annual smoker of the Retired Firemen's association.

The veteran fire fighters are Isaac M. Adler, 95 years old, 6912 South Shore drive; Charles Schroeder, 90 years old, 2106 Fremont street, and George Leady, 91 years old, [illegible] South Bishop street.

Their remembrance yesterday of the night of Oct. 8 65 years ago when three and a half square miles of the city burned, also marked the opening of national fire prevention week. Business concerns are joining with public officials to make clear the necessity for added fire prevention measures.

JAILED IN ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

Thomas Murray, 30 years old, 110 South Center street, Joliet, a WPA truck driver, was jailed by Summerdale police yesterday on a charge of attempting to rob Tony Saverino, 30 years old, 314 South California avenue, a cab driver.

FINDS RUSSIANS LIVE AS PUPPETS IN STATE'S HANDS

Government Even Thinks for Average Citizen.

[What does the average citizen of soviet Russia do these days? What are his amusements? Does he own property? What of his family life? The following story is an answer to those questions and others on life in the socialized state.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Tovarish [Comrade] Ivan Ivanovitch Alexandroff doesn't belong to the Rotary club, drive his own car, own his home, or speak out his mind on party politics and on who should be elected president.

The state takes care of all those things for him.

And if he has a nonconformist mind he keeps his thoughts to himself or finds he is in trouble, for there is probably no more regimented life in the world today than that of John Citizen of the soviet union.

Reads the Right Pieces.

He does what he is told with no questions asked, reads what the state thinks he should, lives where he is told, stays close to home, and minds his own business.

He and his family live, eat, and sleep in one room, for living quarters are at a premium in modern Russia. If he wants to take a vacation he orders his railroad ticket from three to six days in advance, and usually gets it.

He joins the army at 19 if he is physically fit and serves two years' compulsory training, whereafter he is placed on the reserve list, subject to call.

He can't take a flyer in real estate or the stock market for no land is for sale and there is no stock market. He doesn't know much about what goes on in the outside world, for there is little foreign news in the six page government newspaper he sees.

Wait in Line for News.

If he buys his own newspaper he stands in a queue to get it. He also joins a queue to get a soft drink, buy his bread and bacon, catch a street car or taxi, or put his savings in the bank.

The queue is the symbol of life in Russia today. If there are three people waiting to catch a street car they will be lined up patiently in a queue.

Generally he knows no foreigners, gets no mail, magazines or periodicals from abroad. He reads his newspaper avidly, but finds it pretty dull at times because the favored topics are articles exhorting him to work harder and harder and telling him of the preparation for the defense of the nation against Fascism, capitalism, and the bourgeoise.

He has few diversions. There are no country clubs or golf clubs, but other sports are gradually taking hold under state tutelage. He has no family automobile—the number of automobiles in Russia is counted in the hundreds, not millions.

Thoughts Run in Line.

He has freedom of thought as long as it is what he is supposed to think. If he wants to denounce Leon Trotzky he'll get an audience, but if he reverses that order he'll get in trouble.

There's no such thing as speaking out one's mind on the administration. John Citizen never escapes the surveillance of the secret police, who know his every movement.

He goes to church if he likes, but that makes him a suspect, for there is no God officially acknowledged in Russia. If he thinks there is, his children may denounce him for at school they have been taught otherwise.

He loses control of his family quickly, because the children are weaned away from the fireside by the state at an early age. His wife generally works, usually in a factory.

He has little choice in foods and clothing. He takes what is at hand and is glad to get it. He generally buys his summer clothes in winter and winter clothes in summer because they are cheaper and more plentiful then.

Passports Necessary.

He always carries his passport without which he cannot go anywhere, even from town to town.

He rests every sixth day instead of seventh, observing thus a six day week. Sunday as a day of rest has been abolished.

If he aspires to politics he can apply for membership in the exclusive communist party. It's difficult to get in, and at the slightest infringement of the rigid party rules John Citizen is turned out in disgrace.

He owns little or no property, although today he can buy a small house in certain areas, together with enough land to raise his own vegetables. He can't become an employer, however, and aspire to live from the sweat of others. He leads a pretty dull life.

NOW YOU CAN END "MORNING AFTER HEAD" IN 1 HOUR by taking PLUTO WATER

REVEAL BRITISH TOWN 'AT WAR' WITH RUSSIANS

Berwick Never Joined Crimean Treaty.

BERWICK-ON-TWEED, England, Oct. 4.—(AP)—This town of England is still technically at war with Russia, officials admitted here today. Not soviet Russia but the imperial Russia of the czars. No peace has been declared since the Crimean war—but neither have shots been fired.

The situation was brought about because Berwick used to be the cause of warfare between England and Scotland. Early in the last century it had not been decided whether it was English or Scottish, and so treaties signed by the United Kingdom had to include a separate agreement for Berwick-On-Tweed.

Berwick Not Included.

When peace was signed between Britain and Russia after the Crimean war, Berwick-On-Tweed was overlooked. So technically it is still at war.

The situation was called up recently when a small Russian tramp steamer, driven off her course and provisions running low, decided to put in to get supplies. The skipper anchored just outside the harbor and sounded his siren.

A local fisherman went out in a small boat and drew alongside. One of the Russian crew who spoke a little English leaned over the side and roared:

"Give food! Give food! Very hungry. Now hurry."

Warns Away the "Enemy."

The fisherman, who neither liked the way he had been addressed nor foreigners, let fly in a foghorn voice that could be heard on shore:

"Awa' wi ye—ye fools! This isna' Moscow, this is Berwick. An' next time ye come back ye'll get a gun down your gullet. We're at war wi' Russia here!"

Silently the ship steamed off to sea.

Cleans Oil Drums, Lights Match to See, and Bang!

William Stoll, 71 years old, 2140 West 23d street, used a lighted match yesterday to look inside of an oil drum which he was cleaning in his back yard. Fumes from the old oil caused the drum to explode. Stoll incurred a fractured leg and burns on his hands. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital.

PROBLEMS MADE EASY

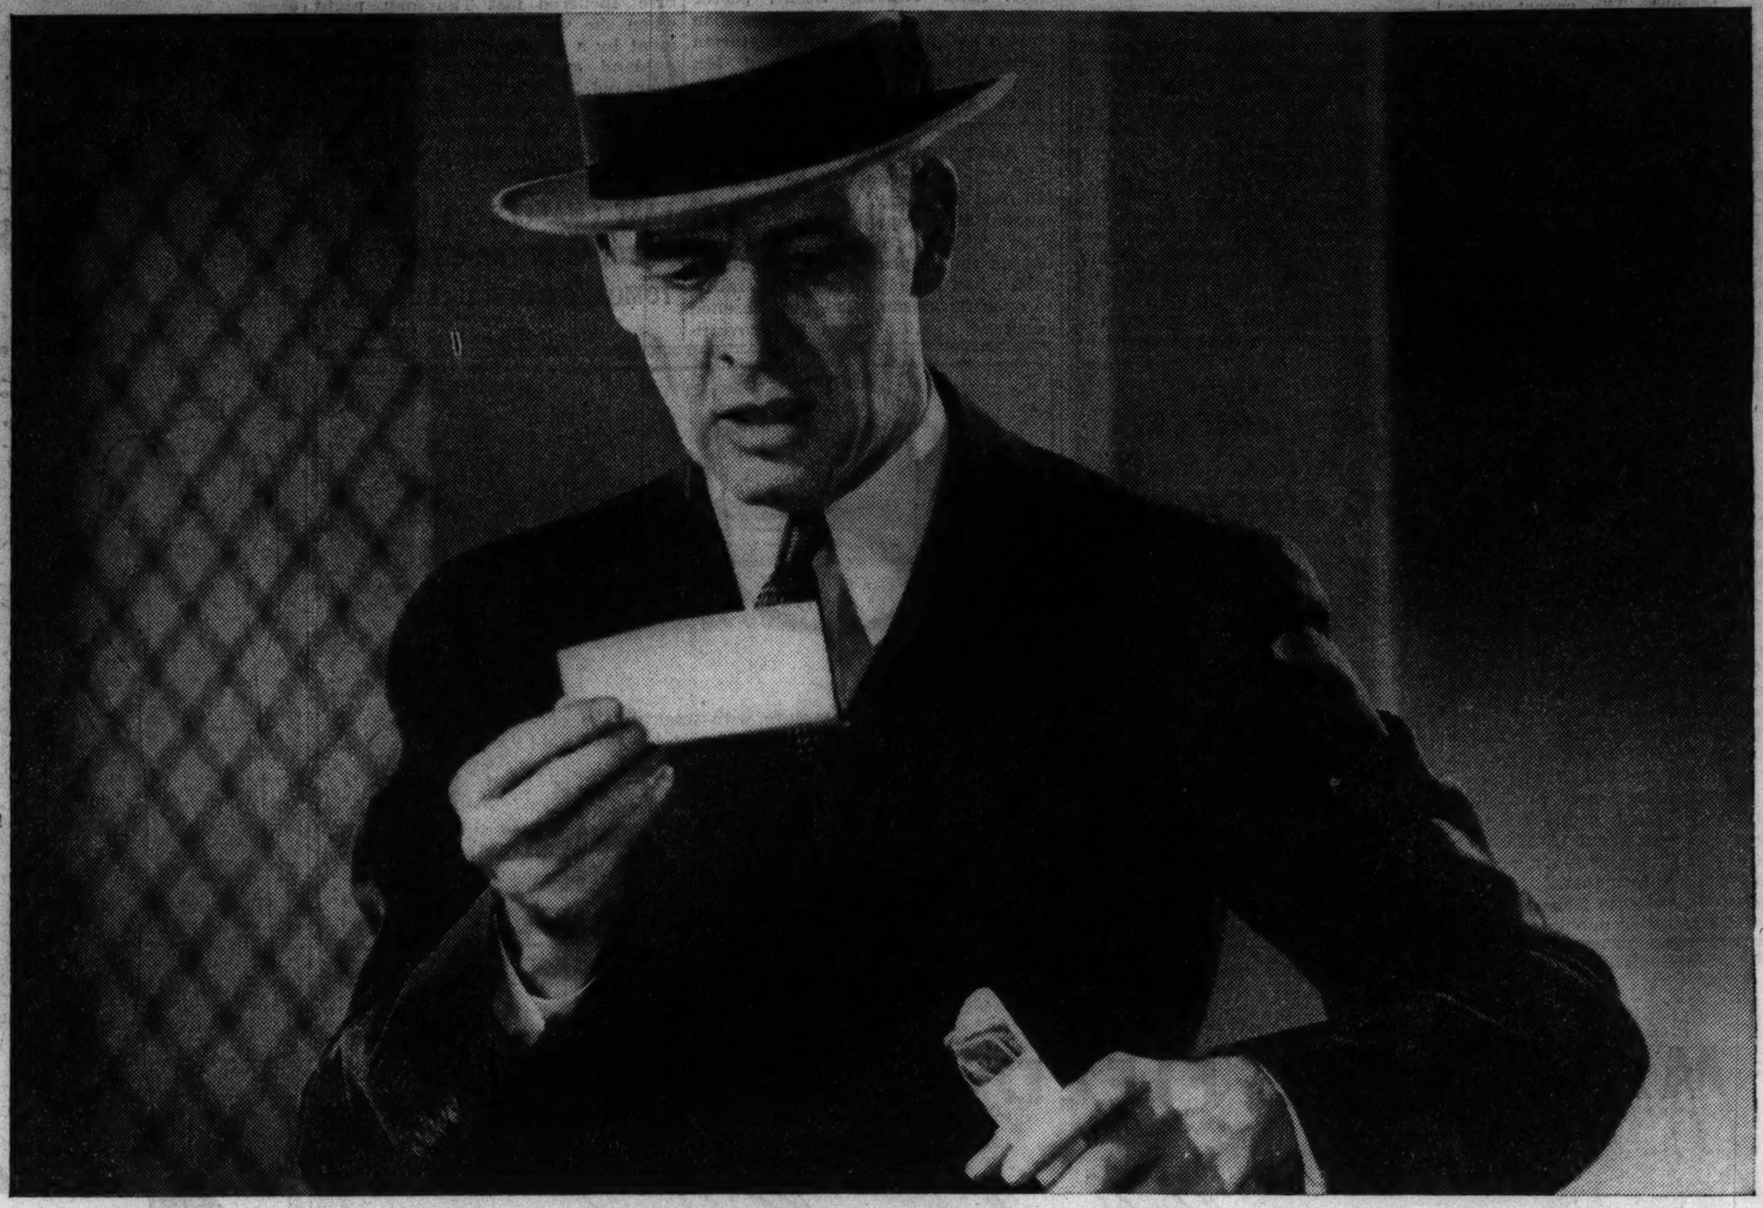
"HOW TO GET IN ANOTHER ROUND ON THE MORNING 7:45."



LET OUT

because a neglected venereal disease caused him to do slipshod work

Don't let syphilis or gonorrhea slow you up and rob you of your job, but see a competent doctor or this reliable clinic at once!

EVERY year many thousands of men and women lose their jobs due to inefficiency resulting from neglected or improperly-treated venereal diseases. It is estimated by officials of the U. S. Public Health Service that such infections cost American wage earners nearly $100,000,000.00 in lost pay annually!

Neither syphilis nor gonorrhea is a disease to trifle with. For not only does the discomfort and worry caused by these infections make it impossible to do good work, but if long neglected or treated with drug store "remedies" they may easily result in permanent incapacity and loss of livelihood.

The importance of obtaining proper treatment from a competent physician or clinic becomes apparent when you consider the disabling effects of venereal diseases. Improperly-treated syphilis, for example, may terminate in heart disease, blindness, deafness, locomotor ataxia, apoplexy, paralysis or even insanity!

Gonorrhea, too, can lead to much trouble unless completely eliminated from the system. It may readily end in crippling rheumatism, sterility, or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles. Or it may be the cause of an eye infection that will result in loss of sight.

No need to lose your job

There's no need, however, to lose your job and perhaps suffer lifelong disability. For both diseases can generally be cured if promptly, properly and persistently treated. Thus every man or woman who has an active venereal disease, or who has reason to believe that an old infection still exists, should consult a capable physician or visit the Public Health Institute at once!

For the sooner treatment for a venereal disease is started, the better are the chances of complete recovery. Especially is this true of syphilis, consequently every month, week or even day you save has an important bearing on the final outcome of your case.

During the past 16 years the friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians of the Public Health Institute have given more than 4,000,000 venereal disease treatments to nearly 250,000 individuals without violating a single confidence. Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and for the sake of even greater privacy is known by number instead of by name!

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers low cost venereal disease treatment to those unable to pay higher fees. A complete examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including urinalysis, smears and Wassermann blood test, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Hence there's no reason whatever to run the risk of letting a venereal infection wreck your health and rob you of your livelihood. For not only can the best of venereal disease treatment be obtained confidentially and at nominal cost, but even persons who are temporarily pressed for funds can arrange for medical attention.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

DO TAXES "SPREAD WEALTH" OR STIFLE IT?

In 1890 only five cents of the income dollar was taken for all government expenses, Federal, State and local.

The large amount of savings thus left with the people for new enterprise accounts for 18 great new industries, such as rayon, radio, electric refrigeration, developed since 1890, employing today nine million wage-earners.

In no other country was a single great new industry created and developed during this same period. Too much went for government overhead.

By 1929 the five cents for our government expenses in the United States had grown to 16 cents.

In 1935, 35 cents out of each income dollar was spent by political agencies. Business—labor and management—should be alarmed lest America become government-ridden and the greater toll of taxation prevent opportunity for new industries and new jobs in the future.

Dollars in overalls—dollars invested in plants and equipment—create new wealth and new jobs.

Sharing the wealth: 1936

When you hear the horseback economists talk glibly about the "corporate wealth of America" do visions of huge piles of cash rise glittering in your mind?

That's too bad—the reality is so confusingly different!

This wealth of the nation is in factories, tools, materials, machines for the most part—and its greatest value to you and to the country is in the new wealth it can produce each year in the form of finished products.

In many large businesses, annual sales are as great as the total capital investment. In other words for every dollar these businesses are worth they create a hundred cents' worth of new wealth each year.

Now, where does this new wealth go—into the pockets of the owners and the management? No, indeed—not by a flock of digits!

It puts on overalls—pours back into circulation—to give other businesses and other men a chance at prosperity. It goes to cover payrolls, the purchase of raw materials, necessary plant improvement, new product design, taxes, dividends and the like.

A vivid example of this process is the recent statement by the Ford Motor Company that in the 32½ years it has been in business it has received $12,848,000,000.

Of this income, the vast bulk (93.73 per cent) immediately became outgo. For wages and materials over that period the company paid out $11,466,000,000—for taxes, $576,416,000—the remainder it used in maintaining, operating and expanding its industry, and with it built branches in 52 American cities.

This is typical of what happens in most well-managed American businesses.

The profit records show that all corporations in the manufacturing industries during the years 1923-1933 averaged just a trifle over 4 per cent annually on their investment, or 4 1/5 cents per dollar of sales.

It offers an object lesson of the foolishness of talk of dividing "wealth" when schoolboy arithmetic as well as the steadily rising American standard of living shows the wisdom of multiplying it!

Business Leaders Train for $3,400,000 Task.

James B. Forgan, general chairman of Chicago's 1936 Community Fund campaign, announced yesterday that organization and instruction of more than a thousand business and industrial executives as volunteer forces to carry on the solicitation will be completed by the end of this week.

The campaign to raise $3,400,000 to support 154 private welfare agencies in the city will be launched Oct. 13 at a general meeting to be held at the Palmer house. An increase of $200,000 over the goal of last year is necessitated, Mr. Forgan explained, mainly because of an increase in the number of charities affiliated in the fund.

Hope to Speed Up Effort.

Mr. Forgan declared that intensive effort has been applied to the precampaign organization this year in the hope of bringing about a reduction of the solicitation period.

"As planned, the campaign this year will be a concerted effort,' Mr. Forgan said, "simultaneous all over the city. The solicitation should move rapidly and come to a completion promptly. The business men of Chicago, in every field of endeavor, have made an admirable response to the call for man power to carry on the campaign.

Leaders Prove Enthusiastic.

"From every walk in business life, the leaders, executives and associates have been enthusiastic in taking up the burdens of this philanthropy. So far as we can see at this time no corner of business or industry will be so remote that it will be denied thorough explanation of the objective of the Community Fund."

This year's effort is the sixth annual campaign for Chicago's private charitable institutions. Charities of all types, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and non-sectarian, participate. Disbursement of the fund is controled by a budget system.

3 KILLED WHEN PLANES CRASH TRYING TO LAND

Springfield, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A pilot and two passengers were killed late today when two biplanes attempting to land at the Jamaica sea airport crashed together 150 feet over a vacant lot near the flying field. The pilot of the second plane was critically injured.

The dead:

Max Stearn, 33, private pilot, of Rockaway Beach, L. I.

David Cook of Jamaica, L. I., a passenger in Stearn's plane.

The injured pilot, Fred Davis, 22, of Springfield, was taken to the Mary Immaculate hospital, Jamaica, where his condition was said to be critical.

Witnesses told police the plane piloted by Davis had just come out of a "tight" bank preparatory to landing at the airport when Stearn's biplane struck it broadside.

Davis' plane struck a billboard then toppled into the lot.

Attendants at the airport said Stearn and Cook flew over to the flying field from Roosevelt field earlier in the day and had made practice landings during the afternoon.

MOTIVE SOUGHT IN KY. SLAYING OF BRIDE-TO-BE

Discount Theory That Robbery Was Plan.

Covington, Ky., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Admittedly baffled by the peculiar circumstances, police tonight pondered anew the question, "who killed Frances Brady, and why?"

They discarded a burglary theory because no valuables were disturbed and because the killer, amply warned that Miss Brady and her two sisters were returning to their house, apparently made no effort to flee until he fired the fatal shot.

Miss Brady was shot and killed about 1 a. m. Friday, five days before her scheduled wedding to John J. O'Donnell, railroad passenger agent.

She had just stepped inside the front door, switched on the light, and uttered an exclamation of surprise or fear, after returning to the house with her sisters, Misses Elsaline and Margaret, from a midnight mass and a bridal shower given by friends.

The sisters said they saw the flash of a gun and caught a fleeting glimpse of a shadowy figure running toward the rear of the house. Police found the rear door unlocked and a screen door unhooked, although the sisters said they were certain both had been locked.

"I believe the killer either watched from an upstairs window for the return of the sisters or from the stairway landing," Coroner James P. Riffe said. "If he wanted to rob, and that was the only motive, he had plenty of time, even if upstairs, to get down and out the back way."

CANADA OBJECTS TO "SCURRILOUS STORIES" ON KING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 4.—The Canadian government is seriously considering banning from Canada American magazines and newspapers containing "scurrilous" articles about King Edward VIII. of England and Mrs. Ernest [Wallie] Simpson, formerly Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, Md., who accompanied the monarch on his recent holiday cruise in the Adriatic sea. The decision on banning the magazines and papers rests with James L. Ilsley, minister of national revenue, but Ilsley's absence from the capital has caused deferrment of decision on the matter. The consideration being given seems for the moment to be directed at "certain New York tabloids" which are held to be publishing the "scurrilous articles."

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—A driverless team of horses returned to the barn on the Lewis Yerrick farm near Otsego yesterday with the body of John Breck lying on a load of corn with which he had started from the field. Mr. Breck, who was assisting in the filling of a silo, died from natural causes.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

First Killing Frost.

October 4, 1936.

TENDER immature field and garden crops at the Tribune experimental farms were hard hit by the first killing frost last Friday morning. Men at both farms are taking a rest today after working late and early Friday and Saturday attempting to salvage the first damaged crops and to get in other crops that are in danger of injury.

Thin ice was found in shallow pans in the poultry yards at the Yorkville farm early Friday morning. Fields and gardens were covered with a heavy frost. The temperature was low enough to stop the growth of most cultivated crops. In some places leaves and blades of plants were frozen and when the sun came out enough to melt the crystals such foliage turned black.

Most of the corn at the Yorkville place was safe from frost. Some of the latest corn was injured. This corn is being used in filling the silos.

By noon Friday workers completed the filling of the big silo, 16 feet in diameter and 80 feet high. Since the poorest corn on the farm is being used, it required 82 acres to fill the big silo.

Green corn blown into the big silo is now being fed to the steers. The material is being taken off the top and will be replaced after the other two silos have been filled.

Friday afternoon workers began filling a second silo. They are using corn taken from a late planted field where only a small percentage of the plants had failed to reach maturity before Friday's frost.

Record September Rainfall.

The killing frost came after a series of about ten rains had broken all September records at the Yorkville farm. Records of the rain gauge at the farm show that the rainfall for last month totaled 9.61 inches. The rainfall for the thirty day period in September lacked less than one-fourth of an inch equaling the total rainfall for the year up to the first of September. This figure does not include water from snow.

Below are the rain gauge readings for September taken in inches at the Yorkville farm after each rain: Sept. 1, 1.11; Sept. 6, .04; Sept. 7, .09; Sept. 12, 1.86; Sept. 13, 1.91; Sept. 16, 2.24; Sept. 23, .01; Sept. 26, 2.03; Sept. 28, .06, and Sept. 30, .26.

Ground Soft; Swine Ringed.

Rain or shine men at the Yorkville farm always find work to do. On rainy days last week workers marked another fall job off their list by ringing the hogs. When they had completed their task 190 pigs and 12 sows were wearing metal rings in their snouts.

Heavy rains have produced soft pastures, making it especially necessary to ring the hogs to prevent them from rooting up the fields.

TYPHOON LASHES NO. JAPAN; MANY DIE; SHIPS SINK

Over 2,700 Homes Razed by Winds and Water.

TOKIO, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A typhoon which missed Tokio but caused great damage throughout much of Japan, continued its swift sweep today. It streaked across the sea of Japan northward to the Island of Sakhalin, repeating its grim work of death and wreckage in a belt 300 miles wide.

Fishing boats foundered with all aboard. Many large vessels were crippled in the storm and were reported drifting dangerously. More than 2,700 houses were blown over by the fierce winds, damaged or submerged in the torrential rains which accompanied the typhoon.

Several persons were known to have been killed on Sakhalin island, but the nation's crippled communications prevented an accurate estimate of the death toll. Unofficial reports placed the total dead at 70.

Hokkaido Suffers Deaths.

Hokkaido, northernmost of the main islands in the Japanese group, suffered extensive loss of life and property damage. Emperor Hirohito, who was reviewing troops there, was forced to retire and the imperial maneuvers were supended. Ten persons were reported killed on Hokkaido, including eight soldiers who were entombed under a landslide. Ten other soldiers were missing.

At Shamata a naval plane plunged into the sea and its crew of eight met death. Five were rescued from the stormy waters, but died of their injuries. The other three drowned.

Brief accounts of the storm from Hokkaido said 148 houses were razed by the wind. The report said 583 dwellings were inundated and 61 ships were crippled under the combined attack of wind and rain. Foundering vessels, imperiling other craft, were said to include the 3,000 ton ships Gosho Maru and the Sakae Maru, owned by the Kawasaki Kissen company, and the Nakamura Kissen company's Daisan Unkai Maru.

Crops Seriously Damaged.

In the Aomori district, on northern Honshiu Island, fifty-six motor boats and fishing vessels were either swept to sea or splintered. Railroads and crops were seriously damaged and almost 2,000 homes were destroyed, damaged or submerged there.

The American oiler Ramapo escorted the German steamer Ursula Rickmers into Yokohama harbor. The German ship, reporting she was afire off the Shizuoka coast, had asked for help. Her cargo was consumed.

AIMEE VICTOR IN FAMILY FIGHT TO CONTROL TEMPLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP)—To Aimee Semple McPherson went victory today in the family row in which her protesting daughter threatened to upset the evangelist's control of Angelus temple.

Aimee and her son Rolf staged a midnight coup which relegated the daughter, Roberta Semple, to the background and cost Jacob Modiel, Miss Semple's attorney, his job as counsel for the temple. Mrs. McPherson and her daughter refused to comment today as the evangelist made her regular appearance in the pulpit.

The evangelist moved quickly last night to bring to a climax the dispute with her daughter, assistant business manager of the temple, over its managment.

Disregarding a request by Roberta that the meeting of the board of trustees be postponed, Mrs. McPherson and her son Rolf, third member of the board, named themselves an executive board of two. Their first action was to terminate the contract of Jacob Modiel, reported fiancé of Roberta, as lawyer for the temple, and to appoint in his stead Willedd Andrews, Mrs. McPherson's personal attorney.

FRIENDS QUIZZED IN RACKETEER'S STREET MURDER

Frank Kann Shot Five Times by Companion.

Police last night were hunting clews which might disclose a motive for the murder early yesterday of Francis Kann, 34 years old, 5546 Hyde Park boulevard, an alleged petty racketeer and gambler.

Kann was shot five times by a man with whom he was walking in East 67th place, west of Stony Island avenue. Beside Kann's body police found his "lucky" rabbit's foot, mounted in silver. The killer fled west in 67th place, according to several witnesses, who described him to police.

Woman Appears at Station.

Ruth Kane, 34 years old, who said she was Kann's sweetheart, surrendered last night to the Woodlawn police when she learned they wished to question her. The woman refused to give her address. She admitted knowing Kann for 13 years but said she was unaware of his occupation. Capt. Martin Boyle ordered her held for investigation.

Two men associates of Kann also were held for questioning, but provided police with little information about Kann's mode of life.

They are Joseph Bushell, 28 years old, 1552 East 63d street, and John Mays, 25, of 5540 Hyde Park boulevard, Kann's roommate.

Bushell said that Kann, whom he had known for ten years, played the horses. The police also learned from another source that Kann once tried to force his way into a union controlled by racketeers.

Bushell was held when he went to the police station to inquire about Kann's murder.

Acquainted with Assassin.

Among the witnesses who saw Kann's slayer flee are Norman Goodman, 18 years old, 7749 Muskegon avenue; Fred Benson, 18, of 7736 Muskegon avenue, and Charles Jones, 1433 East 67th street, night clerk in the New Park hotel. Goodman and Benson were working on their stalled automobile at Stony Island and 67th place.

Kann apparently was acquainted with his slayer, according to the witnesses.

Lieut. Thomas Geary identified Kann as a principal in a shooting scrape last March 5 in a café at 5495 Lake Park avenue, which cost the life of Policeman Albert Doyle. Both men were shot in a scuffle for possession of a pistol during a quarrel.

It's caused by your furnace fire going on and off suddenly. Coal or coke heat doesn't do either, yet it costs you far less than the fuels that do.

Balance Your Budget With Coal or Coke

Does it cost so much to heat your house that it's seldom ever warm enough for solid comfort? Or do you find it hard to keep it warm at any price?

Either way it probably means that your friends come to see you less often, leave suspiciously early when they do, or stay away altogether if your house is cold and drafty.

Why take the chance of being unpopular with people when solid fuel means solid comfort for you and for them, as well as lower heating bills?

Why risk your children's health, or anyone else's, with stop-and-go heat that forms in layers with all the cold air near the floor, the hot air over your head?

Why spend more money, and get less heat, than you will with coal or coke?

You have nothing to lose and everything to gain when you call a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association to help solve your heating problems. He's a neighbor of yours worth knowing. Phone State 9723 and make sure he's a member.

JESSE I. STRAUS, RETIRED ENVOY TO FRANCE, DEAD

Noted Merchant Is Victim of Pneumonia.

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Jesse Isidor Straus, 64, who recently retired as United States ambassador to France, died today. Pneumonia was given as the immediate cause of death.

Mr. Straus, who retired from his Paris post in August due to continued ill health against which he long had struggled, died in his New York City apartment at 9:11 a. m. As early as last July the strain of his work abroad was manifested when he fainted during a Bastille day parade in Paris.

He was appointed by President Roosevelt in March of 1933, and was succeeded by William C. Bullitt, who had been ambassador to Russia.

Resigned Post in August.

In a letter dated Aug. 18 Straus gave up his portfolio, and the resignation was announced officially some days later at Washington.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday morning at Temple Emanu-el in Fifth avenue.

His career before entering the diplomatic service had been that of one of the world's great merchants. He came out of Harvard university in 1893 to begin as a clerk in the Hanover National bank here. In 1896 he became connected with R. H. Macy & Co., the department store, and by 1919 was its president—a post he held until accepting the Paris assignment.

Four in Family Survive.

The survivors are the widow, the former Miss Irma S. Nathan; a daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Levy; two sons, Jack Isidor and Robert Kenneth Straus, all of New York City.

Mr. Straus was born here on June 25, 1872. His parents were Isidor and Ida Blun Straus. His business connections have included banking and insurance concerns. He was a Democrat and a member of the board of overseers of Harvard college and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

He maintained a country estate at Mount Kisco, N. Y., as well as a city apartment.

Long Foe of War.

A stanch foe of war, Straus more than once appealed to the nations to recognize what he termed its "barbarity and futility." He was active in seeking to better American-French trade and frequently took occasion abroad to praise President Roosevelt's administration.

In 1934 he counseled fellow Americans in Europe "not to be too much disturbed by lurid accounts" of strikes and business difficulties in this country—a view of calmness and confidence he often advocated in international situations.

BRITISH WOMAN HOPS AT LONDON FOR N. ZEALAND

LONDON, Oct. 5 [Monday].—(AP)—Miss Jean Batten, the first woman to fly the South Atlantic alone, hopped off today on an attempted record solo flight to New Zealand, 12,000 miles away.

She left Lympne airport at 4:10 a. m. [11:10 p. m., Sunday, Chicago time] hoping also to better the England-to-Australia record time made by Charles W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black—70 hours 54 minutes and 18 seconds.

Scott, the winner last week of the England to Johannesburg air Derby, set the mark for the Australia flight with Black in the England-to-Australia air Derby of October, 1934.

Miss Batten, a native of New Zealand, was flying the plane in which she crossed the South Atlantic last November.

Even if she does not better the Scott-Black time to Australia, she expected to improve on her own women's record. She set the women's mark of 15 days 23 hours and 35 minutes, flying alone in May, 1934.

She planned to make Marseilles, France, her first stop.

Her biggest worry, she said, was the 1,350 mile flight over open sea between Australia and New Zealand.

RATES NEW YORK CULTURE THIRD OF CLEVELAND'S

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Charles Francis Potter, founder and leader of the First Humanist Society of New York, rated New York City's cultural level in an address before the society today. He placed New York as only one-third as cultured as Cleveland, one-half as cultured as Cincinnati or Albany and about two-thirds as cultured as Boston.

Dr. Potter used as his cultural standard, first, the per capita appropriation for the public library; second, the per capita circulation of books from the library; third, the percentage of the city population registered as using the library.

The figures were taken from the 1936 report of the American Library association, and the ratings were made after conferences with librarians, publishers, editors, and book sellers, he explained.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Observations during a week of loafing in New York City:

New York still believes itself the center of all radio effort that matters. The drift to Hollywood is not regarded seriously. The Broadway analysis of the Hollywood business is that there are merely a lot of Manhattan folks doing a little broadcasting out there while vacationing. But they'll be back soon. Chicago is given little or no consideration as a radio point of origin.

Manhattan's streets are filled from curb to curb with new taxis all equipped with radios which apparently no one ever uses. [And that seems to be true, too, for New York homes.]

Radio City is definitly overrated. It is true the view from the NBC-RCA roof is superb and the intelligence, courtesy, tact, and good looks of the young guides astonishing. Everything about the place is on the super colossal side—number and size of studios, length of corridors, number of closets, visitors and so on. But that does not mean that it is all beautiful. The enormous studio, for instance, used by Fred Allen and Show Boat is a barnish affair broader than it is deep. It is unattractively decorated and collapsible chairs serve the 1,500 studio visitors. Immense, but that's all. The studio Rudy Vallee uses is more attractive, but most persons who have seen the W-G-N audience studio as well as the Vallee room would probably prefer the former.

Columbia has its theaters—five of them—well scattered across the town. In one on 44th street we viewed first the Phil Baker-Hal Kemp show and later the same evening the Community Sing with Wendell Hall and Milton Berle. This theater, typical of the rest, is by no means as attractive even with the refurbishing that has been done as Chicago's Civic theater regularly used for broadcasting here. The boxes have been enclosed with glass and now resemble somewhat the gondolas of a dirigible. From within these booths sponsors and their friends see the show but hear it from a loud speaker. Outside the theaters crowds form, begging extra tickets. These they hawk for what they will bring.

Hal Kemp, incidentally, reported that he expects to return to Chicago around New Year's for a loop engagement.

At NBC we saw Helen Hayes' première in "Bambi." Miss Hayes was already made up and fitted out in her "Victoria Regina" regalia for which she had to dash before her own program was actually off the air. "Victoria" is held 10 minutes or so on Monday evenings pending her arrival from the studios.

The Harry Richman-Dick Merrill appearance with Dick Himber's orchestra brought out a goggle eyed audience. Stocky Dick Himber has a well equipped gym in his suite overlooking Central park which he likes to show visitors. But he gets his real exercise directing his orchestra on broadcast nights.

Sensation of New York this fall is Shep Fields and his orchestra, who have just finished a successful run at the Waldorf Astoria and landed two coast to coast NBC commercial programs. He's a native son [26 years old] but had to come to Chicago to click [over W-G-N-Mutual at the Palmer house] before he made any impression in Manhattan. Now his rippling rhythm is the talk of the town.

Last day in Manhattan we visited Fred Allen's first rehersal for his new series starting next Wednesday night. Fred is husky, healthy and 10 pounds heavier than when he left New York for the Maine woods in June. Pert Portland Hoffa was on hand helloing to Col. Stoopnagle and Budd Hulick, Harry Von Zell, photographers, radio reporters and studio hangers on. She is genuinely proud of having cooked all of the Allen meals this summer which fattened up her husband—and maintained for herself her svelte figure.

JOS. G. FALCON FUNERAL RITES WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services for Joseph Guilford Falcon, 86 years old, retired underwater construction contractor and engineer, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in Rosehill chapel. Mr. Falcon died Saturday in the Passavant hospital after an illness of six weeks.

He was born in Cohasset, Mass., the son of Peter Falcon, a submarine contracting engineer, whom he succeeded in business. He constructed underwater pipe systems, bridges, and similar work along the New England coast, in New York, Ohio, and many midwest states. Most of the intake pipes from Chicago to Waukegan were laid by him. Mr. Falcon prospected for gold in the Klondike in 1898. In 1900 he salvaged relics from the schooner Royal Savage which had been sunk south of Valcour Island in 1776 by the British.

Mr. Falcon lived in Evanston until his retirement in 1920, when he moved to Tarpon Springs, Fla. Since then he had spent his summers with his children in Evanston. The children, who survive, are Mrs. Homer H. [Myrtle] Cooper, Guilford W. and Raymond C. Falcon, all of Evanston, and Joseph V. Falcon of Glencoe.

WOUNDS 15 WITH GUNS BEFORE HE IS ROUTED, SLAIN

Windsor, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—An apparently crazed colored man who sniped with deadly accuracy at citizens and law officers was riddled with bullets as he came screaming from his barricaded shanty here today after a six-hour siege in which he wounded fifteen persons, two seriously.

A crowd estimated by Mayor J. A. Pritchett at 2,000 persons watched the battle.

After dynamite and tear gas had proved ineffective J. C. Johnston, Windsor youth, crawled to the rear of the shanty, hurled a handful of blazing kerosene soaked rags on a porch, and fled.

The man, Dennie Thrower, 30, remained in the house with a shot gun, a pistol, and two boxes of shells until he was surrounded by flames, then, with his clothes on fire, with the pistol in one hand and the gun in the other, he came out shrieking and shooting.

Assistant Chief of Police W. L. Smallwood of Windsor, twice wounded in the affray, sent three bullets into Thrower's body before he had dashed ten paces. Other officers' guns were fired almost simultaneously. He died instantly.

Smallwood went to Thrower's house when informed he was making a disturbance. As he alighted Thrower fired, wounding him. Smallwood returned the fire, then went for aid.

ALL ABLE BODIED MEN IN PARAGUAY MUST GET JOBS

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 4.—(AP)—All able-bodied men will have to work in Paraguay and Bolivia in the future.

Unlike many nations, in which millions are without jobs against their will, South America's two underdeveloped inland countries have been afflicted with thousands of men who don't want to work.

Yesterday President Rafael Franco of Paraguay signed a law making work compulsory for all healthy men. President David Toro of Bolivia decreed a similar measure less than three months ago.

The Philadelphia Inquirer

OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHER

To My Greater Inquirer Audience
And to Advertisers with Vision:–

On August 5th last, I assumed the greatest responsibility of my life. I bought The Philadelphia Inquirer . . . by myself and for myself and immediately assumed active control. Now, after eight enlightening weeks, filled with unceasing toil and gratifying results, the following facts and figures become more important to the Greater Inquirer's readers, advertisers and prospective advertisers than at any period in the 108-year history of this great newspaper.

- How and Why I Bought The Inquirer.

A nation-wide reputation was entirely the basis for my purchase. I bought sight unseen, having never been in the magnificent Inquirer plant. Frankly, I sensed its tremendous worth, fine background and unlimited resources for creating a paper second to none in America, both in reader-interest and advertising value.

- What I Mean to Achieve.

There's something more to recreating the Great Inquirer than just money yield. With me an ideal is involved . . . an ambition and a dream to be realized . . . so I shall endeavor to build and build so surely, so solidly, so securely that this great paper with its splendid staff shall perpetuate in the minds and hearts of Philadelphians a place that is monumental.

- What I Have Accomplished.

My first and very significant achievement is the publishing of the largest Sunday newspaper in America. I accomplished this by adding more and more features . . . and special sections . . . something of human appeal to every member of the family. Editorially and pictorially too, The Inquirer has been "stepped-up" . . . made fresher, keener, more exciting and entertaining. The response has been amazing. At this writing our circulation increase for sixty-three days is 45,000 daily and well over 100,000 Sunday.

AND THAT'S ONLY THE BEGINNING!

For based on present performance, I can say with assurance, that by New Year's in excess of 1,000,000 Sunday, and more than 350,000 daily, will be the net count.

What All This Means to YOU, Mr. Advertiser.

This sum total of outstanding activities can only mean an ever widening market for your product, faster turnover, greater volume, and substantial sales increases. Why not "go places" with the GREATER INQUIRER?

Parquet Floor, Laid While You Wait, Appears

It's a Feature of Home Furnishings Week.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

National Home Furnishings Week, being observed by all the Chicago and outlying stores this week, is bringing to focused attention several interesting new inventions. One of them is a laid-while-you-wait parquet flooring, quite the cleverest trick that has been pulled out of the manufacturer's bag for a long time.

Before its recent introduction, hardwood floors of this mosaic type were costly and they took considerable time to install as each little piece had to be fitted into place. It was painstaking labor and the price was usually out of the reach of the average home owner.

The new floors come in flexible sections, 2 by 6 feet, and are removed from cartons as needed. They can be put directly over any kind of subfloor and can be used the minute they are down without the necessity of further finishing. The old floor is simply covered with a layer of felt securely affixed by floor paste. Then after being perfectly matched and fitted the sections of the parquet are permanently set in a special adhesive and, presto, you have a handsome new floor!

All these ready made hardwood floors are prefinished at the factory and are installed for you by the dealer from whom you purchase them. They go down as easily as carpets and the astonishing fact is that they cost no more than many a good quality broadloom. Yet they will wear for years.

Available at several Chicago stores in walnut, oak, light oak and teakwood, the two most attractive are the walnut and light oak.

You can see a charming little entrance hall done in this parquet work by visiting the newly decorated budget house on the furniture floor of a State street store.

The texture trend in rugs is stronger than ever. You'll see handsome floor coverings that actually look as if their designs were embossed or carved in them. This is due to a new trick in the weaving which employs both a looped and a cut pile.

A few years ago it was impossible to find any truly light toned carpets or rugs. Everything was taupe, or mouse drab, or some other dull, somber shade. Today you can choose from maple tan, dusty rose, white, off white, silver gray, light blue, lime green, light yellow and many other pastel tints. Fashion points to light surfaces underfoot.

If you want to see which way the style winds are blowing in furniture and interior decoration, take a stroll through the stores during this festive Home Furnishings Week.

ROBERT CUMMINGS

Cummings was a youth from Joplin, Mo., with ambitions to be a Thespian.

Little bits of stage work here and there finally landed him on Broadway, where, as he says, "I walked the streets of New York looking for a part. They wouldn't have me because I was just a midwestern boy. There was a demand for English juveniles. So I went to England, acquired the accent, learned the names of all the principal towns and rivers, bribed a theater man to put the name 'Bryce Hutchins' on a billboard along with my picture, sent out a lot of advance publicity and came back to New York as 'Bryce Hutchins, well known English juvenile.'"

Arthur Hopkins, the Broadway producer, who had turned the youth down several times the preceding year, forgot the face in his interest in the British accent and synthetic "press cuttings" and signed Hutchins for New York stage work.

After a year or two of this Cummings let his own name and pedigree become known and came on west to try Hollywood. He no longer was Bryce Hutchins.

"But I found they didn't want an actor from Missouri," he said. "I found that King Vidor was casting for 'So Red the Rose' so I went to Vidor, took a chance, assumed an accent and told him I was from Texas, his own home state. The accent must have sounded all right because I got the rôle. It gave me a chance to show what I could do and here I am. But one doesn't know whether to laugh or feel sorry at the things sometimes necessary to get started in the movies."

Cummings is once again a boy from Joplin and proud of it. But the actors in New York are still smiling at what he did to Arthur Hopkins in the guise of "Bryce Hutchins."

Two more screen aspirants have won major studio contracts, court records here reveal. Helen Valkis, 21 years old, a native of Chicago and a graduate of the Pasadena Community playhouse, has signed a long-term contract with Warner Brothers, while Douglas Scott, 10 years old, new child star for Twentieth Century-Fox, has received court approval of a six year agreement with that studio.

Suit Hits Lily Pons Film.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Soprano Lily Pons' first motion picture, "I Dream Too Much," is the object of a plagiarism suit on file in Superior court today.

Dorothy Farnum and Margretta Cort, writers, asked an injunction against R.-K.-O. Studios, Inc., to prevent further showing of the film and demanded a financial accounting.

Good Morning!

The motion picture industry is giving honor to whom honor is due these days. Now Uncle Sam's postal service comes in for its crown of laurels.

Worthy idea and good cast has "Postal Inspector"—and a punk story. A story so sleazy and poorly strung together that your pity rather than your interest is stirred. Pity for the gallant crew who were forced to embark on such a scenario.

Well, anyway, you learn considerable about the workings of the United States postoffice machine, and you have brought to mind the fact that once anything goes through the mails it can become of active interest to the postal authorities. Frauds called to their attention are promptly investigated by inspectors who, like the Canadian Royal Mounted police, usually get their man.

Through fire, flood, and famine move the mails!

One of these days I hope the postal service will draw a humdinger of a screen vehicle to exploit its efficiency and valor! The one under discussion merely comes under the category of those things that the road to hell's supposed to be paved with.

Skin Allergies Topic of Lecture Today Before Cosmeticians

Advances in the technique of beautifying women will be considered today at the opening of the 17th annual convention of the American Cosmeticians' association at the Hotel Sherman. Discoveries in the field of skin allergies, conditions in which certain substances produce harmful reactions in certain persons, will be discussed by Dr. G. A. Ward, Chicago dermatologist. Hair styling and hand culture experts will lecture at morning and afternoon sessions. Contests in finger waving will be held this evening with both professionals and apprentices competing. An exhibit of modern beauty aids will be held in conjunction with the convention, which will continue through Wednesday.

Style Changes a Problem in Reviving Films

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A motion picture becomes old stuff the instant the audience snickers at the heroine's hat.

GRETA GARBO
in Empress Eugenie hat.

Women's rapidly changing styles—and not stars or stories, locales or problems—date motion pictures, Hollywood has discovered.

Recall the "Empress Eugénie" hat, introduced by Greta Garbo in 1930's "Romance"? It was the last word then. Today the Eugénie would seem ridiculous. The very short skirts of another era and the low waisted atrocities of an earlier period might well be worn for comedy effect at present.

Although these last few months have seen a boom in the reissue market, fully 95 per cent of the repeat showings are of ageless costume pictures or of modern films in which the stars' gowns were relatively unimportant. Out of the hundreds released this year not one starring a so-called "best dressed star" was more than two years old.

"While costume pictures never can solve the problem," says Designer Milo Anderson, "it is true that Hollywood is making more and more of them. Present day stories always will be in the majority, but only costume pictures will be able to go on forever."

in later headpiece.

For instance, "One Way Passage" was made only four years ago. Due to the present greater popularity of its stars, Kay Francis and William Powell, the Warner studio considered rereleasing it, in response to many requests. But it can't be shown because Miss Francis' gowns—so modish in 1932—would virtually turn this tragedy into high comedy.

The studios' refusal to show old films in which fashionable gowns played some part affords a two-fold protection: for the stars, who would seem terribly unglamorous in styles that are dead, and for audiences, who would be distracted by the almost forgotten fashions.

Sun Baths Are a Year Round Tonic for Baby

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

All summer we have been sun worshipers. Now, because fall is here, we should not fail in our allegiance to that beneficent heavenly body.

Babies and young children can be given sun baths not only in the late spring and summer but also in the early and late fall, and even during the winter months. The baby born in the fall is particularly in need of sun. Of course such sun baths are not given out of doors, and, of course, they are not given without the advice of the doctor and under his detailed directions.

These fall and winter sun baths are given in a heated room with all doors closed. There should be no draft.

The baby can be wheeled to the window and the window opened, preferably at the top, so that he lies in the direct, unobstructed rays of the sun but has no wind on him. If the sun becomes obscured during this time the baby should be covered.

Begin by exposing only his face and arms for a few minutes daily. You can gauge the warmth of the sun by holding your hand in it. Later his legs can be exposed, also slightly increasing the time of exposure.

As the sun baths become longer it often is well to divide them into two sessions, one in the morning and another in the early afternoon. Of course he never should be left alone while he is sunning, for he must be covered up if the sun becomes obscured. He must not have the wind on him, and must not become chilled. Some doctors advise exposing even more of the body than the arms and legs.

This sun bathing period is an excellent time, too, to see that the baby gets some exercise—kicking, waving his arms and legs, and so forth.

Besides these baths the baby should spend long hours in the sun out of doors in his carriage. Even in cold weather he can get his sunning if he is protected from wind and drafts. When it is not too cold his hands can be exposed.

Some doctors feel that sun baths have little value during the winter months, while others, though agreeing, feel they tend to harden babies against colds. There are doctors who prefer in place of these long sun baths a minute of exposure, completely unclothed. Abide by the advice of your own doctor.

If the baby is at the creeping or walking stage he can have his sun bath by the open window with the sunlight shining on him, either in a play pen or in his crib. There should be no open doors, no drafts, and the room should be heated.

As with the little baby, exposure should be gradual and the length of time increased slowly. Of course the baby must be kept in the sun, covered up if it becomes obscured, and he must not get chilled.

To the modern mother I need hardly add that these sun sessions should be supplemented in fall, winter, and spring by cod liver oil or other recommended fish oils.

Adelaide Atkin Is Engaged to W. H. Noyes Jr.

Announcement a Surprise to Couple's Friends.

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a tea yesterday afternoon at their home in Winnetka Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey H. Atkin announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Adelaide, to William Hamilton Noyes Jr., son of Mrs. M. Wells Noyes of Winnetka.

The announcement came as a surprise to almost all the friends of the young couple, for although both the Atkins and Mrs. Noyes and her son have lived at opposite ends of the Indian Hill club grounds for a good many years, it was not until last spring that Miss Atkin met her fiancé. The only persons who might possibly have suspected the romance would have been the fellow golfers and equestrian who have seen them playing or riding together this summer, for both are enthusiastic over sports.

Bride-to-Be a Former Officer in Junior League.

Miss Atkin has found time, too, for several more serious activities since her debut at a tea at Thanksgiving time in 1931. Like her elder sister, Margot, who twice served the Junior league as president from 1932 to 1934, she has worked on the board of that organization, holding the important office of placement chairman.

Her ability as a horsewoman stood her in good stead two years ago when she became a courier for the Frontier Nursing service in the Kentucky mountains and rode from one remote hill community to another for six weeks. Miss Atkin still is a member of the Chicago committee of the Nursing service, and also is on the board of the Park Ridge School for Girls.

Mr. Noyes attended the Asheville school, and is in business in Chicago. His fiancée went to the North Shore Country Day school and the Masters school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. No date has been set for their wedding.

Junior League Sale in Loop Nov. 12.

The Chicago Junior league will hold its annual fall second hand clothes sale at a store in the loop, to be decided upon later, but the date for the sale has been settled upon as Thursday morning, Nov. 12. Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark, chairman, has seletted several young women to assist in various capacities. Miss Bertha Erminger is to be the business manager; Miss Pauline Seipp will have charge of the publicity; Mrs. Robert Walker [Jane McMurray] is in charge of town collections, and Miss Mary Macdonald will look after the suburban collection of clothes. Miss Ruth Rodormer will head the wrapping committee, and Mrs. John Drum [Isabel Davis] will have charge of pricing the garments. All contributions are being taken to room M-10 at the Drake hotel, where they will be sorted and tagged.

The Lake Forest directors of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind have signed Clifton Utley as lecturer for a series of talks on current events beginning Oct. 15. Mr. Utley lectured for the benefit of the Lighthouse last fall in Lake Forest, and his series proved such a success that the Lake Forest committee agreed to have him return for eight lectures this season. Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, Mrs. Howard A. Emig, Mrs. John Glen Sample, Mrs. Taylor Strawn, Mrs. Stanley Morrill, and Mrs. Everett L. Wyman are in charge of ticket sales.

Spencer Logan Visits Father, Returns East.

Spencer Logan, who came from his home in Mamaroneck, N. Y., to see his father, Frank G. Logan, has returned east after seeing the elder Mr. Logan in much better spirits. Mr. Logan Sr. has been ill at his apartment, and his sons Stuart and Waldo Logan, who live here, are staying near by.

Miss Loraine Logan, Stuart Logan's daughter, has left for Smith college and will not return to the city until Christmas time, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Logan are spending the early winter here, devoting week-ends to their shooting lodge, appropriately named Loganberry lodge, where they entertain those friends who enjoy shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Prussing returned Saturday to their apartment in Cedar street after a summer in Hubbard Woods. Their son-in-law and daughter, the junior Edward C. Howes, and their baby daughters, who spent the summer with Mr. and

Dance Recital Delights Elect, Puzzles Laity

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Like most good modern dancers, Harry Hamilton and Wana Williams did an excellent job of delighting the elect and puzzling the laity at their Goodman theater recital yesterday afternoon. Several of the items, it is true, were calculated to delight elect and laity both—notably the Arcadian "Pastorale," the earthy "Juba," Mr. Hamilton's clever "Waldo" and "Boulevardier." The last is modeled somewhat after Kreutzberg's great "Dance Through the Streets."

In most of these the arts of grimace and pantomime enter importantly into the business of representing some universally recognized type or sketching in the broad outlines of a widely applicable tale. Not so in such subtleties as "Soul Cry," "Journey to the End of the Night," and "Maelstrom of the Mind."

The audience, in this latter type, must allow choreography, music, color, and costume to play on the emotions in the manner of an abstract art. If these four elements are skilfully combined into a whole, and if the watchers and listeners be reasonably sensitive, then the emotional state desired by the performers will be induced in the audience without undue preoccupation with technique. There are good analogies in music—the Beethoven of the last period, for example.

Mr. Hamilton is a competent and versatile young dancer with plenty of ideas. Also a wide knowledge of music, apparently, for he found Stix's pat little "Spielerei" and used it in his "1860 Promenade."

A taking humor and a penetrating insight into the moods and whims of humans make Miss Williams an excellent pantomimist. She possesses, also, of course, technical equipment that laughs at difficulties. Only in the "Poem D'Extase," it seemed, did the young dancers find the ideal of perfect lightness and joy a little out of reach. The piece was a bit earthbound.

A fall festival of organ recitals starts today and continues through Saturday at Lyon & Healy's downtown store. Beginning at 12:30 daily, there will be a program played by a well known organist on the electric organ. Among those engaged for the series is Jesse Crawford, whose solo recital is scheduled for tomorrow. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Crawford are to present a two organ program.

ANOTHER women's specialty store mystery story—Evanston this time. A man entered its doors last week, selected a dress and asked for a fitting, purchased a smart handbag, pulled a wig out of his pocket, applied powder, rouge and lipstick, left the store and drove off in a very fancy car. . . . We don't know what reaction this stirs in you; our own was—what, no gloves?

THE item about the men's knitting class Friday evening brought in a little piece about a girl named Elinor Cone, just back from a visit in Denver. Her brother, a student at the Colorado School of Mines, had described one of his professors as being annoying because of a habit of whistling off-key between his teeth. One day Miss Cone was riding in a street car, knitting as she rode, when the man across the aile began whistling, off-key, between his teeth.

Suddenly looking across at her, he said coldly, "That knitting gets on my nerves." "Well, professor," Miss Cone replied, "your whistling gets on my nerves."

Astonished at being recognized, the professor—for it was the college professor—astonished her in turn by saying most unprofessionally, "Well, shall we both call it quits?"

"PEASANT Girl with Veil" is not, as you might suppose, the title of a painting, but a recipe, and the favorite recipe of Lauritz Melchior, if we can believe everything we hear. It is in the largest cookbook in the world, which was exhibited at the food show and household exposition, and copies of which are now being sold for the benefit of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness. The ingredients are, believe it or not:

1 soup plate grated rye bread
2 tablespoons sugar
1¼ pounds of apples
1 teaspoon butter
Chocolate
Whipped cream

Wedding Announcements

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Edwina Joy Houts, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Scott Houts of Jackson Heights, N. Y., formerly of Chicago, and the late Mr. Houts, to Malcolm Theodore Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert U. Graham of Belle Center, O., on Saturday at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the Ambassador hotel.

The bride is a graduate of Columbia university and has been known on the radio during the last six years as Betty Moore. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ohio State university, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, and is in business in New York. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. Graham and his bride will reside in Jackson Heights.

Mrs. Kezia Leppla announces the marriage of her daughter, Laura, to Frederick S. Niemann on Sept. 19 in Wilmette. Mr. and Mrs. Niemann will be at home after today at 245 North Long avenue.

Everybody Has Good Time at Hunter Trials

Championship Bowl Is Won by Mrs. McIlwaine.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Every one at the Mill creek hunter trials yesterday had a good time unless perhaps it was a few of the hunters which shied and refused to take the high jump without coaxing on the part of their riders. The weather was perfect, so instead of shivering and sliding in mud, as the the spectators have done for the last three years, the hundreds who watched the performance perched comfortably on the tops, fenders and bumpers of their cars, or on rugs on the ground, and thoroughly enjoyed the whole affair. The riders enjoyed it, too, but being of the real hunting crowd they would have had a good time no matter what the weather. Their guests, the landowners, over whose land the hunt rides, seemed to have a far better time yesterday than at any of the previous trials.

The sun was warm enough to make the cool beer—free to you if you were a landowner—especially palatable, and the buffet luncheon—also free to the landowners and their wives and children—was hearty enough to satisfy even one with the proverbial harvest hand's appetite. The only regret among the guests was that there were only two live turkeys given away; such fat, succulent looking gobblers they were, too, raised on Thomas C. Dennehy Jr.'s farm and presented to the lucky two by Edward A. Cudahy Jr., who was responsible for the huge roasts of beef that were the pieces de resistance of the long serving table.

After the trials were ended the hunt club members adjourned to the clubhouse for high tea and to see those whom Elliott S. Nichols, M. F. H., of Detroit, had judged the winners in the three trials. Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr. is the proud holder for the next year of the Austin H. Niblack hunter championship bowl, which was given to her and her Pandora in the class judged for performance and conformation. Mrs. McIlvaine was second in this class, too, riding Mrs. A. Watson Armour Jr.'s Field Marshal.

Donald B. Douglas is the possessor of a handsome new cigaret case for being first on his Thamesford in the class judged for performance only. John F. Jelke Jr. on his Topsy was second in his trial. Mrs. Kimball Salisbury and Mrs. Samuel J. Walker presented the trophies in this class. In the afternoon hunt team trial Laurance H. Armour's team was first, young Mrs. Armour's second, and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury's third. Riding with Mr. Armour were Mrs. Merrill Hubbard and Roger Hyatt, and on Mrs. Armour's team were Mrs. Salisbury, Mrs. McIlvaine and Miss Gwendolyn Bowen. Mrs. Armour, the former Jean Schweppe, was unable to ride herself because of an accident last summer while riding.

Mrs. Salisbury's riding mates were Mrs. Prentice Porter and Mrs. McIlvaine. The prizes in this trial, three stunning moderne wooden trays, were given by Mrs. John Andrews King and Mrs. Donald Ryerson.

Some of the many who enjoyed the affair were Mrs. Niblack, smart in soft apple green jersey, which was most becoming to her auburn hair, covered yesterday by a brown felt hat; Lady Burney, even lovelier than when she was "the exquisite Miss Gladys High of Chicago," wearing the traditional Englishwoman's country costume—simple tweeds, a narrow brimmed felt hat, low heeled oxfords, and silk stockings that are not so sheer as American women wear. She was all in brown except for a Roman scarf around her neck. The Curtis Munsons were there, both in riding clothes, and so were the Louis F. Swifts, who also rode. Pretty Mrs. Edward Manville was stunning in a suede suit of russet brown, and Mrs. Daggett Harvey was wearing suede, also. Mrs. Clive Runnells' black and white shepherd plaid coat, long and fitted, and her tiny black beret atop her white curls, attracted much admiring attention, and so did Mrs. James Ward Thorne's outfit. It would have stood out because of its chic, but it also was noticed because it was a city costume, almost the only one among all the smart country clothes. The outfit consisted of a plum color wool dress with a three-quarter length coat of the same material, collared in sable. Her wide brimmed hat was of the same rich color and the only contrasting note was her triple strand of pearls.

Among others were the Charles S. Deweys, the Lawrence Robbinses, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, whose daughter, Kay Goodman, rode; the junior Joseph T. Bowens, the George Henry Highs, the Thomas W. Hindes, Miss Jane Brooks, the Edward Lihmes, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings, the young Frederic McLaughlins, Prince Cantacuzene, the Philip Mahers, the Byron S. Harveys, Dr. and Mrs. Nathan S. Davis, Deering Davis, the Ronald Boardmans, and the Edison Dicks.

Shopper Finds Thrills in New Winter Coats

They're Different—Very Much So, This Year.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Appreciative shoppers are watching the new winter coat collections most enthusiastically! For they're different this time, so different that even the keenest shoppers mistake them for stunning outer tops of particularly distinctive ensembles. They're long and fitted, they're graceful without a single suggestion of bulk or shapelessness anywhere. The fur is attached as decoration, not just thrown hit or miss anywhere on the wool.

One collection has outstandingly smart models, really distinguished creations, all designed by coatmakers with much imagination. A stone gray wool has a flaring skirtline, a neatly accented waistline with a gray suede belt; long, very modestly full sleeves, and then uses silky rich brown nutria for the chest protector effect, the rounded, moderately large collar and the narrow bands around the cuffs. A coat to wear with old gold dresses, with a gray wool of darker tone, with new metallic street length dress parade clothes, with a slim brown suit. In fact this coat dresses up or down to whatever you decide to wear.

Tuxedo collars are big successes on the newest winter fur trimmed coats. The plump shopper looks inches thinner, even taller, and the tall can wear them with equal dash.

There's a dull black beauty, without any argument the most handsome coat of the collections, that proves that lovely mink combined with black by experts is still the outstanding combine imaginable. This particular black wool has a long tuxedo collar that is so wide but so cleverly applied that it almost covers the entire front of the coat. A petaled collar matches the cuffs of the mink and a wide decorative lether belt clinches the model in tight at the waist.

The tuxedo collar of krimmer on gray wool dramatizes another high fashion coat. It looks distinctly a Russian model with the flare to the skirt, the slenderizing long collar, and the wide, loose sleeves also cuffed in the gray krimmer.

Silver fox is worked into flattering collars on some of the most beautiful of black wool coats in this same showing. But the coats are all knowingly designed, each model made to fit and to accent each personality. The thing to do is to select them now while the collections are complete.

Fashion photograph. . . . Three piece winter street costume of dark green wool. The slim, straight two piece outfit consists of a skirt and a belted button down the front, fitted blouse jacket. The long, rather straight hanging outer coat is also of the green wool and trimmed with a wide tuxedo collar of civet cat fur. To complete the costume, a very high hat of felt with a still higher feather at the back. The entire ensemble is available in a Chicago shop.

By William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Noel Irving of the Canadian Mounted dynamites the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Noel is discharged, disgraced, while Rocco becomes a glorified legend. Noel receives a midnight call in his Winnipeg apartment from an engaging young stranger, who calls himself Jimmy, and asks Noel to be his partner in a secret prosperous venture, and to help him outwit the gang who are pursuing him. While they are talking Jimmy is shot dead. Noel and his friend, Sergt. Spencer, search for clews to Jimmy's identity, but find none, except a small picture of a beautiful girl who looks like him. Noel is suspected of implication. He sets out to clear his name and avenge Jimmy's murder. He learns the lad was a flyer, and finds his monoplane, and that he was recently in Fort McMurray. Noel flies the plane there, hoping to trap and learn the identity of the murder gang. At the outpost Noel introduces himself as Lanier, a prospector. He learns Jimmy's headquarters were at Manitou. Noel meets Harla De Long, a research worker for the Indian bureau, and realizes she is Jimmy's sister. Noel reluctantly agrees to fly her to Manitou. She obviously knows nothing of her brother's death. An indirect attack by the gang is made on Noel's life.

INSTALMENT XIII.
THE ENEMY STRIKES.

Noel brought Urso a cup of black coffee laced with brandy. "Here. Drink this. How d'you feel—anything bad wrong?"

The 'breed struck at Noel's hand and dashed the cup to the floor.

"Chien, you!" he growled feebly, glaring at Noel with unmistakable hatred. "Don' touch me. I have despise for you."

"All right, if that's how you feel about it. But you're going to talk to me, you'll answer some questions for me, or I'll hammer it out of you."

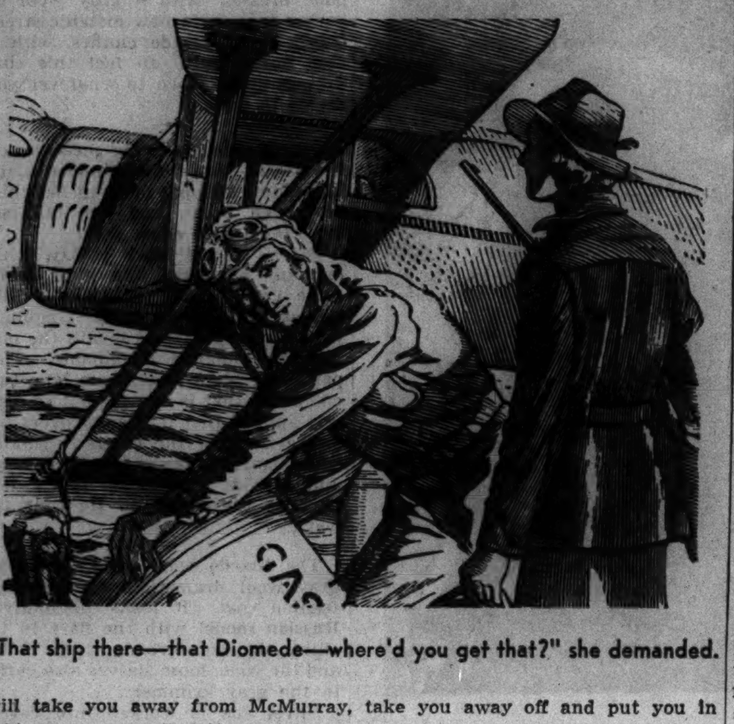
He drew the window blinds, locked the door, came back. His shoulder and arm were stinging badly, and the blood from those spike weals was trickling to his fingertips; but he was unmindful of that. This unprovoked attempt to murder him was a mystery worth digging into. These pious and simple-minded Goulets, common laborers and wood choppers here at McMurray, were no criminals, no members of that pack or even on the outermost fringe of it.

Yet the fact remained that they had tried to kill him. Something had exploded their usual stolid piety. Something had set them ablaze and unleashed all the blood fury of their Indian heritage.

"Who was that other man out there, Urso?" he demanded of the sullen metis. "I mean, besides Hannibal."

"I don' tell you nut'ing."

"You'd better! You tried to kill me. For that the mounted police will take you away from McMurray, take you away off and put you in a big stone pen. But if you talk to me, and talk straight—who was that other man?"



"That ship there—that Diomede—where'd you get that?" she demanded.

"Riel."

"Who's he?"

"Riel Roberval. He is engaged to Mareea."

"Who's Mareea?"

The question struck fire from the half-breed. He stood up, swaying groggily, and shook a fist at Noel.

"You know plenty good who Mareea is! W'y you tell all dem damn, dirty lies 'bout Mareea? 'Bout how you go walk in dat aspen bois wit' Mareea. 'Bout how you do dis and dat wit' Mareea. You liar, Mareea is good girl! But dem Ind'ans op dere, and all dese metis, dey b'lieve w'at you said. Ever'body w'ispering and snickering 'bout Mareea. She go home, cry. She ruin'. Riel Roberval, he says he not marry her now——"

"Wait a minute," Noel interrupted. "In the name of le bon Dieu, who is this Mareea?"

"Don' you try to lie out of dis! You won' spread dem lies 'bout my leetle seester and den make s'prised face and say you don' know nut'ing 'bout it."

"Your sister? Mareea?" Noel groped. "I spread lies about her? Have you gone crazy, fellow? I never knew you had a sister. Till you mentioned her I never heard of Mareea. How on earth could I talk about a person that I didn't even know existed?"

"I t'ink you lie," Urso asserted, but with less vehemence.

"Look here—who told you that I said these things about Mareea?"

"Lot of pipple. It go 'round buzz-buzz. Ever'body talk 'bout it."

"This buzz-buzz was a lie. Somebody lied about me. Answer my question: Who started that rumor?"

"I—I don' know," the metis stammered. "If you didn' say dem t'ings, I don' unnerstan' how dis talk got start'."

"Well, I'm beginning to 'understand'." Noel said, flipping the blood from his hand. Those enemies had struck at him. Not with knife or bullet but in a subtler way. Rather than run any risk by getting him themselves, they had used these poor ignorant half-breeds as their tool. They had pumped these metis full of inflammable lies and touched a match to the three of them—Urso, Hannibal, and this Riel Roberval.

They certainly knew half-breed nature to its depth, those men. They had pressed the one button which could rouse these stolid Goulets to fury. And their move had nearly worked. It was plain luck that he had not been killed out there a few minutes ago.

Pretty brainy, their attempt. Brainy and heartless. In order to rub him out they had launched a move that would have taken three innocent men to the gallows.

Urso pressed his hands against his aching head. "Dis been awful opset night. I go crazy out here, I guess." He looked up at Noel, trembly and afraid. "W'at you go to do wit' me? I don' min' dat pen for myself, but Hannibal, my yo'ng brutter, and Riel—"

"Forget it," Noel bade, pitying him. "Go on home, Urso. You weren't to blame for this. Only, the next time you try to kill somebody, be sure you've got the right man."

When the metis had trudged out, he pulled off his jacket and shirt and began plastering up his arm and shoulder. As he worked he thought, grimly: "Well, I've contacted them, I lured them into an overt act, all right—but that's all the good it did me." From back in the shadows they had struck at him, in a deadly way, and he knew no more about them now than before.

With something of fright he remembered Jimmy's words to him in distant Winnipeg: "They're so—so damned ghostlike. You can't see 'em, can't fight 'em; you just know they're there and they've got you on the spot."

Down at the Clearwater pier, early the next morning, Noel carefully inspected the little Diomede, made sure it had not been tampered with, stowed away his baggage and Harla's, and pumped the floats dry.

Then he started tanking the ship for the long flight.

For Harla's own sake he wished that she were safely back in Ottawa, four thousand miles away. She had no protection save what he could give her, and his company was terrifically dangerous. At their first chance those unknowns were going to strike at him again, in some ruthless unexpected fashion; and the lightning bolt crackling out of the sky at him might catch Harla too.

In order to make the long flight at one hop, he tanked the Diomede to capacity, seventy gallons—all that the little ship could get off the water with. If he was in the air all the way from McMurray to Manitou, those men would have little chance to launch calamity at him, and so Harla would be safe.

While he was rolling the empty drums back to the pier shed, Harla came down the trail, carrying her light .25-35 rifle and a creel of food for the trip. The slant sun of 3 o'clock was spangling her hair; and she was wearing a little cluster of fire-flowers which she had picked along that woods road.

"Hello, Noel," she greeted him, with a warmth that set his pulse hammering. "I'm sorry to be so late."

He had to smile at the sleepiness in her black eyes. "You're right on time, girl. I'm just now ready."

"But that's the point; I wanted to help you get ready—"

She broke off, her eyes opened widely; and Noel, following her glance, saw that she was staring at the little Diomede. A quiver of misgiving shot through him. Did she know whose plane this had been?

"That ship there—that Diomede—where'd you get that?" she demanded.

"Winnipeg," Noel said casually, wiping a smudge of oil from his fingers.

"You mean you bought it? From whom?"

"I bought it new."

Harla looked at him, a sharp searching glance; and in her eyes Noel saw a nameless suspicion.

Adviser Takes Up Discussion of True Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

How about making this Charm week, girls?

You're going to be able to use a great deal of it in the months ahead. True, the really charming person portrays charm the year round. But during the dining, dancing, cocktail, and general entertaining season you're given more opportunity for displaying the gift that never fails.

For another reason, we should lay aside a prescribed time for meditation [and action] on the "bloom on a woman," as Barrie described charm. It's coming to count so largely for and against you in a personal appraisal that not all the makeup, chic dress, handsome coiffures, and svelte silhouette you may muster to your cause will save you unless you have charm to put them over. In a way, it is the world left to be conquered now that you women have become so expert in the grooming details.

In a recent survey among employment heads as to qualities most desired in fair employés, the pleasing voice and well bred manner were stressed over and over. In any contest today, whether for love, vocational success, or special honor of any sort, charm is a vital, determining factor.

The secret of charm? Webster describes it fittingly enough as "an irresistible power to please and attract." It isn't, as some many erroneously believe, a special gift of the gods for a few favored souls, denied all others. Some persons, true, seem born with it. But some are born with beauty, too, while others [a great, great many others] manage to acquire it in such quality and force as to allow little difference between them and the naturally gifted. The identical thing may be done about charm. We want to make that plain to every woman. Charm is within every woman's reach. Its potentialities are within you, and you, and you; but you have to bring them out.

How shall a woman begin on this charm conquest? How to wrest for herself the rewards of its potent spell?

The women who have it, naturally, will not be interested. But the woman who thinks it a special gift of the gods should be deeply interested in its pursuit. So, we'll begin with her. Her first lesson necessarily must be on establishing in her own mind a better opinion of herself. The least charming people in the world are those who keep on reveling in the well known inferiority blues. And they never, under heaven, will develop charm unless they get out from under the senseless load. Don't deprecate yourself under any circumstances. Stop saying you're too large, or too old, or too thin, or too anything. Don't run yourself down. No one wants to hear it and it's poisonous to charm.

But more of this tomorrow.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of our great beauty specialists has worked out a practical solution of the problem of matching makeup perfectly with costume colors. Guessing is eliminated; the woman who is completely fastidious about the correctness of her makeup can work it out artistically down to the final touch of eye shadow. It will all be keyed with an eye to costume color and harmonious makeup shades.

It's all done with aid of color capes, made of soft crêpe paper. If your daytime costume is black, emerald-green, yellow-green, brown, burgundy, steel blue, or gray [all shades that Dame Fashion indorses this year] you can work out your makeup to perfection by placing the cape of your chosen color around your shoulders.

You'll be able to see for yourself the effect of various costume colors against your skin and of makeup items of various tints.

There are two evening colors. If you've decided on coronation red or pastel blue for your evening frocks this year there are capes in the same shade to use in perfecting your makeup. And there are others—white, beige, purple, chartreuse, red, and royal blue—that are useful in makeup experimentation.

These little capes aren't sold; theyr'e used in the shops merely to help you learn how you can wear any color glamorously, provided your powder, rouge, lipstick, eye shadow, foundation shades are entirely correct.

According to the beauty authority who introduced this method of achieving makeup perfection, there's no such thing as an unbecoming color. It's only bad makeup that makes it so! ELEANOR NANGLE.

Announcement a Surprise to Couple's Friends.

Mrs. Prussing, also are back in their apartment in town.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair are at home in Lake Forest after a summer at Bar Harbor, Me.

Andrew McNallys Back from Thousand Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally and their family have returned after a summer at their camp in the Thousand Islands. Their eldest son, Andrew McNally III., is coming from New York for a brief visit this week, and will bring with him final details of his wedding to Miss Margaret Clark-MacMillan of Greenwich, Conn., in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wills have come into town from Evanston for the winter and have taken an apartment at 60 Scott street. Mrs. Wills' debutante daughter, Miss Julia Patterson, will be at home this winter, but Miss Marjorie Moore, Mrs. Wills' niece, also a debutante, has returned to her studies at Connecticut college.

Mrs. Horace White Armstrong and her daughter, Mrs. Armstrong Swallow [Mary Armstrong], have gone to New York to sail for England, where they will join Miss Jean Armstrong. Frank H. Armstrong II., who sailed to Europe with Miss Armstrong two months ago, has returned home.

Dance for Anniversary of Dexter Cummingses.

No one who has received an invitation to the dance Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is giving next Saturday at her Lake Forest home for her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings, could mistake that the party is being given to celebrate a wedding anniversary. The words of invitation are written in formal manner under a pen and ink drawing of a bride and groom who must have been married several years ago, to judge by the style of her wedding gown, which is shown to have an exaggeratedly short skirt.

In fact, Emilie Hoyt and young Mr. Cummings were married on Oct. 6, 1926. Mrs. Cummings is giving them their tin anniversary party on the 10th, however, because young business men who commute do not like late midweek parties. The former Edith Cummings, who was maid of honor at the Cummings-Hoyt wedding, and her husband, Curtis Munson, still are with her mother so they will be among the guests at the dance.

The hour for the party is set for 10:30 o'clock, so undoubtedly there will be many dinner parties beforehand, given by friends of the "bride and bridegroom," who later will go to Mrs. Cummings' home to dance.

Announce Marriage of Beverly Van Alstyne.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Sherman Van Alstyne announce the marriage of their daughter, Beverly, to Harry Wheeler of New York on Sept. 19 at St. Margaret's church in Chicago. The romance began on shipboard when the young couple met on their way home from Europe several years ago.

Only the immediate families were present at the wedding, and afterward Mr. Wheeler and his bride sailed for Europe, where they will visit Mrs. Wheeler's two sisters, Mrs. Mats Bjerke of Stockholm and Paris and Miss Marjorie Van Alstyne, who has been studying in Paris and Salzburg for the last three years. Mrs. Wheeler also studied abroad at Grenoble, France, before attending Sullins college in Virginia.

On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will live in New York, where he is in business.

Chinese Waterwheel.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Chinese Waterwheel" is attractive in its own right, but it has an additional appeal for thrifty quilt makers because scraps from other quilts may be utilized if she does not wish to follow a set color arrangement. Interest may be added to the quilt if the wheels on alternate blocks are reversed. A suggested block arrangement which accompanies the quilt pattern simplifies the assembling of plain and applique blocks. Only 20 applique and 12 plain blocks are required for the coverlet, and is finished with a 2 inch border and a one-half inch binding.

WOMAN'S HOME ENSEMBLE.

This is no humdrum house frock designed for practicality alone. It is practical, of course, but it has tailored smartness, too. The rever collar, the vestee effect of the bodice, the slantwise patch pockets, and the generous use of rickrack braid all contribute to the unusual charm of this frock. It has a companion piece, too, a trim little apron in matching or contrasting fabric, which adopts the same rickrack braid as trimming.

Sturdy wash materials in the chic darker shades will make up beautifully in this model and be particularly smart now that autumn is here and winter is not far away. The dark shades allow for distinction without sacrificing any of the practicality provided by tubbable fabrics.

Nothing could make a lovelier gift to a fellow homemaker than this ensemble. Almost every woman knows others of her acquaintance, or members of her family circle, who will appreciate a lovely home frock as a present. This pattern is designed in sizes for almost every type of matronly figure, from pleasingly plump to decidedly overweight.

Style No. 2956 includes patterns for both dress and apron and is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch printed material and 2 yards of 35 inch plain fabric with 5¾ yards of braid.

Men Dislike Girls' Inviting Criticism by Stunts in Public

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All I did was to do a tap dance on the 'L' station, just for fun, and he simply raised Cain. You'd think I'd committed hari-kari. There were four of us and I just felt like cutting up." SUSANNE.

Before you start pulling any life-of-the-party tricks, Susanne, you must know your man. Nine men out of ten prefer, in their fair ones, public behavior that does not draw eyes to her. Choosing an "L" station for a stage would not be classified as one of the retiring tricks. You scarcely could help but draw attention to yourself, and that's the crime of such behavior. It isn't the act, it's the publicity of it and, more important to you young women, it shoves the reluctant young man into the picture.

Unless you get that tenth man of the ten, you'd better be fairly conventional in public places. Then there can't be any row. And mind you, young woman, it isn't jealousy on the young man's part, either. Nor is it altogether that you make a spectacle of your escort. He minds that. But he minds most his girl doing something that may invite criticism.

BY MARY MEADE.

Remember the poem about the little elf who uprooted the dormouse's toadstool shelter one rainy day and ran off with it, thereby inventing the first umbrella? Now, if the dormouse only had chosen a mushroom instead of a toadstool he'd have been provided not only with protection from the showers but with his supper as well.

Let him who does not know a mushroom from a "toadstool," or an edible from a poisonous mushroom, stay out of the woods with his basket and buy his mushrooms at the market. If wild mushrooms are picked for table use they must be selected by one who knows his mushrooms.

To can mushrooms, wash them thoroughly to remove sand and dirt. Scrub the skin with a vegetable brush and scrape or peel the mushrooms if necessary. The ruffles usually are left on. Remove stems and can them separately from the caps, for use in soups and gravies.

Boil the mushroom caps in water to cover for 5 minutes. Pack closely in clean, hot jars, being careful not to break the caps. Fill jars with the water in which the mushrooms were cooked and add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart. Partly seal cans and process in a pressure cooker for 40 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Remove from canner and seal immediately.

Fresh or canned mushrooms may be used to make a creamed dish which may be served with meat or on toast points.

Creamed Mushrooms

1½ tablespoons butter
1½ tablespoons flour.
1 egg yolk
1 cup milk
Salt, pepper
1½ cups cooked or canned mushrooms
2 tablespoons dry white wine [if desired]

Prepare a white sauce of the fat, flour, milk, and seasonings. Add the mushrooms to the sauce and cook gently for several minutes. Just before serving add the beaten egg yolk and reheat. If wine is used, add it last.

Too much cooking toughens mushrooms. Five or six minutes usually are sufficient for fresh mushrooms, and canned ones should be heated only for three or four minutes if the vegetables are not to be served in combination such as in mushroom soufflé.

Mushroom Souffle.

½ pound mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Wash mushrooms, cut finely, and cook in butter until browned slightly. Add seasonings and flour. Blend well. Add milk and cook until sauce is thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add well beaten egg yolks and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a greased casserole and bake in a preheated oven at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE ZONES OF BIDDING.

It is indispensable that the player be able, after hearing from partner, to indicate his desire as to whether the bidding should be dropped or continued to game or slam. In the chaotic trafic of the thousands of hands dealt it will be necessary to flash the red stoplight [minimum bids], or green golight [game forcing bids], or orange attention-light [intermediate bids], while the blinkers [pass] siren the death warning. Accordingly, the bidding territory consists of four inferential zones of bidding, and each zone is serviced by its own system of strategical bids.

The Four Zones of Bidding.

All bids [and hands] belong to one of the four following zones of bidding: The game, the slam, the minimum, and the intermediate zones. In this manner either player can signal at once to his partner that his strength is such that no-game [part-score], game [strong hand], or a slam [very strong hand] should be expected, so that the duet is sung by the player and his partner "pianissimo," "forte," or "fortissimo."

Game zone bidding: The special kind of bids that flash the green game signal, driving the hands toward game, are the forcing bids derived from the forcing principle. Naturally, the game is not guaranteed by the United States treasury, and a bad break may belie the announcement of the player who has made a force.

[The other zones of bidding will be discussed tomorrow.]

TODAY'S HAND.

It is a matter of common knowledge that slams are more difficult to reach when a team has a part-score than when it has not. Consider today's hand.

North, dealer.

NORTH

♣ Q J 10 9 6

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 spade | Pass | 2 clubs | Pass |
| 3 spades | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| 4 no trump | Pass | 6 no trump | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

It will be noted that, in order to reach the slam, both players had to overbid appreciably. That is to say, from the point of view of ordinary bidding, they overbid. But each bid, from the two club response on, carried with it a subtle implication due to the score that, to a large measure, justified each succeeding "stretch." North knew that South would not have bid two clubs on a 90 score without a better hand than the bid itself guaranteed. Therefore, he stretched his own rebid slightly to three spades, rather than to convey the impression of "a minny" by merely rebidding two spades. Then when South, in his turn, perceived that North had slam aspirations, he conveyed a willingness to "go along" by selecting a response that had a new implication of strength, namely, three no trump. It must be remembered that he was not obligated to respond at all to the three spade bid. Obviously the slam contract was made with ease, since declarer had only to clear away the club ace.

It is vital to note that six spades could not have been made against the opening heart lead, which would have been East's normal opening. North was wise to assist the no trump bid, thus permitting the opening lead to be guarded by the combined North-South tenace.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the meaning of the term "a ruff and a sluff"?

Answer: "Sluff" [correct spelling, slough] means "discard." The phrase means ruffing in one hand while discarding in the other.

Tomorrow's Hand

SANDWICH MAKERS WANTED

Also nurses, real estate solicitors, lingerie salespeople, shoe stitchers, ushers, pillow makers, medical secretaries and hundreds of other skilled and unskilled workers for jobs in practically every branch of employment.

Can you qualify for one of the increasing number of jobs now being offered in the Chicago Tribune help wanted columns?

During the first eight months of this year, the Tribune printed 37% more help wanted advertising than in the same period last year. Each successive month has found more advertising has filled these columns than in the same month of 1935.

This means that employers and employment agencies are now in the market for more help. To get competent workers, they place three times as much help wanted advertising in the Tribune as in any other Chicago newspaper.

Your chances of finding the job you want are much better today than in years. Have you seen today's offers? Turn to them now.

The Tribune does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisments which misrepresent the nature or terms of employment, or advertisments for sales help which do not indicate the type of product or service to be sold, and the form of compensation.

Do "white lies" help job applicants? What can be done to avoid job hunter's "jitters"? How does dress help or hinder getting a job? For the answers to these and hundreds of other questions important to job seekers, get a copy of "Do's and Don'ts for Job Seekers" at the Tribune Advertising and Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn St. and Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan Ave. This handy, informative 56-page booklet is yours for the asking.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox yesterday demonstrated to 33,906 paying guests at Comiskey park just what a soft touch the Cubs really are. The American leaguers fairly breezed to an 8 to 2 victory to take the series in four straight games. It was the Sox's ninth straight game in the fall event and concluded what perhaps was the most impressive demonstration of supremacy the Sox have shown in the history of the post-season series.

The Sox, in taking their 14th series in the 20 that have been fought to a decision since the tie in the first set back in 1903, never made a substitution. Every starting pitcher finished and every man in the other positions played every inning all of the four games. Thus a dozen gents won the winning players' share of the pool, $27,515.36. The entire Cub cast, excepting Wally Stephenson, had a part in going through the motions for the losers' end, $18,343.58.

Series Attracts 82,279.

The series, even though opening day was rained out, attracted 82,279 fans. Most of the Cub fans had quit cold on their heroes. Yesterday's big gathering was almost a solid delegation of Sox partisans.

Yesterday, as in the other games of the series, the Sox outpointed the Cubs in every desirable department of the game. Yesterday was a sort of summing up of comparative strength. The Cubs made six hits off Bill Dietrich, a gent who has been waived hither and thither in the American league; the White Sox made 16 hits off the Cubs' so-called Big Four, Larry French, Lon Warneke, Bill Lee, and Curt Davis, who appeared in that order in the final. They lifted the total to 17 with one hit off Charley Root in the eighth.

Rip Gets Only Triple.

The only homer of the series was knocked by Rip Radcliff in the opening game and Rip also got the only triple of the series, in the eighth inning yesterday.

The most hits in one game of the series were made yesterday by Zeke Bonura of the Sox, who doubled in the first inning, then followed with two singles off Lee, one off Davis, and one off Root.

The most hits in the series were made by Larry Rosenthal. Rosenthal made a single and double in the first game, two singles in the second game, a double and a single in the third game, and a double and two singles in his first three times at bat yesterday, nine hits for the series

CUBS SPLIT UP $44,389 SHARE AND SOX $48,752

The Cubs may have looked like selling platers in the city series, but each wielded a mean dirk at the post-season melon cutting. The Cubs will receive $44,389.65 as their share of the world series and city series pools as compared with the White Sox's $48,752.22, but each Cub shareholder will receive $1,662.20 as compared with $1,613.47 each Sox will receive from their more generous spread of shares.

The White Sox cut their world series third place purse of $21,236.86 into 30½ shares and their city series pot of $27,515.36 into 30 shares. The Cubs cut both their world series share and their take for appearing in the city series into 27 shares.

How It Was Split.

The White Sox voted one share each to all players on the roster, including the late comers, Bill Dietrich, Bill Shores, Larry Rosenthal, and Dixie Walker. They also voted full shares to Coaches Muddy Ruel and Bill Webb and a half share to Coach Jimmy Austin, who did not leave California with the team after spring training because his wife is ill.

Traveling Secretary Joe Barry was awarded a full share as was Trainer Ad Schacht. Miss Ilene Ryan, office secretary, and Sharkey, the clubhouse boy, were given half shares. Babe Phelps, departed pitcher was given a full share in the world series pot and a half share of the city series pot. The groundkeeper was awarded $300 and the two bat boys $100 each.

Cubs Allot 27 Shares.

The Cubs voted full shares to the 23 players on the roster, to Coaches John Corriden and Roy Johnson, to Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis, and Trainer Lotshaw. A collection was taken among the shareholders for the clubhouse boy.

N. Y. POOL, $424,737

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Giants and Yankees, together with players on other first division clubs in the two major leagues, will participate this year in the biggest world series financial melon on record. The players' pool amounts to $424,737.18, surpassing the previous high total of $419,736.60, set in 1928 when the Yankees beat the Cardinals.

Seventy per cent of this total, or $297,315.94, will be split on a 60-40 basis to the winning and losing club in the world series, with the winners' end figuring to $178,389.56 and the losers' share amounting to $118,926.38.

Other Clubs Share.

The remaining 30 per cent, or $127,421.24, of the players' pool will be distributed among the other first division clubs. The division calls for 50 per cent to the second place teams, 33 1-3 per cent to the third place outfits, and 16 2-3 per cent to the fourth place clubs.

On this basis the Detroit Tigers, runners-up in the American league, will get $31,855,31 to be split up as they specify. The Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals, who tied for second place in the National league, get $26,546.09 each. Third place money for the Chicago White Sox amounts to $21,236.87. The fourth place teams, Pittsburgh and Washington, get $10,618.44 each.

Casey Stengel Is Fired as Manager of Brooklyn

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers of the National league announced tonight that Casey Stengel will not manage the club in 1937.

In a terse statement the club said Stengel's successor will be appointed soon. The announcement also said that Coaches Otto Miller and Zach Taylor have been released.

John Gorman, the club's business manager, explained that Stengel's contract, dated to run through the 1937 season, will be paid off in full.

Finish in Seventh Place.

Although the Stengel dismissal had been rumored for weeks, Casey did not receive official word until after today's world series game at Yankee stadium. James O. Mulvey and Joe Gilleadeau, vice presidents of the club, called him into conference in an uptown hotel and told him that he has "not been making a success, and would have to go."

In his three years as manager of the club the Dodgers have come to be known as the "Daffiness Boys," for their manner of base running and style of play. In 1934, Stengel's first year, they finished sixth, although winning the distinction of knocking their archrivals, the Giants, out of the National league pennant in the season's final series. Last year they wound up fifth, and this year dropped to seventh.

Stengel's full name is Charles Dillon Stengel. The nickname of Casey was applied during his playing days, because he originally hailed from Kansas City.

Grimes Mentioned as Successor.

Stengel, former New York Giant and Brooklyn outfielder and one of the most colorful figures in the game in his playing days, was signed to manage the Dodgers from the beginning of the 1934 season. He signed a two year contract to succeed Max Carey.

In February, 1935, however, the club voluntarily tore up the contract and substituted a new one calling for a three year tenure as manager, beginning with the 1935 season, at a substantial increase in salary.

OUT

CASEY STENGEL.

Reports are current that Burleigh Grimes, the old St. Louis Cardinal and Dodger pitcher and more recently pilot of the Louisville American association club; Dutch Reuther, former New York Giant hurler and lately Pacific Coast league manager at Seattle, and Rabbit Maranville, the ex-Boston Brave infield veteran who was at the helm of the Elmira [New York-Penn league] Pioneers this season, head a list of prospects.

It's News to Stengel.

Stengel admitted he did not know of the move to oust him until Mulvey met him coming out of the press box at the Yankee Stadium today and said to come to the downtown meeting. He refused, however, to join Brooklyn newspaper men in "putting the blast" on the club officials.

He said, however, that he believed he had done well with his material. He added that he considered Van Mungo, star pitcher, more valuable than ever.

During the past season the Dodgers drew over 500,000 fans through the turnstiles for their biggest year since 1930, and after July 5 played the best baseball of any club in the league except the Giants.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—A 22 yard shot whizzing from the toe of Illiya Westerman three minutes before the final whistle gave the Maccabee soccer team a 1 to 0 victory over Passon Athletic club of Philadelphia in a stirring International match played before 30,000 persons today.

The booters battled for 87 minutes without a score until Passon's goalie, Kennedy, was drawn out to clear a ball which Westerman rifled into the net. The Maccabees' victory was their 27th straight in a tour of 15 countries.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—Scoring in every quarter except the first, the Green Bay Packers today rolled up a 24 to 0 victory over the Chicago Cardinals and virtually eliminated Coach Milo Creighton's squad from further title consideration in the National Professional Football league race. The contest, waged at State Fair park before an estimated crowd of 11,500, marked one of the two Milwaukee appearances for the Packers this season.

Outplayed in the first quarter, Green Bay's offense functioned effectively in the next when two touchdowns went across, one by Chester Johnston, the other by Clark Hinkle. The Packers added a field goal in the third quarter when Paul [Tiny] Engebretsen executed a placement kick from the 35 yard line. Joe Laws, credited with the longest scoring dash of the encounter, broke away for 41 yards and a tally midway in the final period.

Dave Cook Is Missed.

The Cardinals, performing without the services of Dave Cook, who still is on the injury list, threatened twice. But on each occasion, their attack faltered. Pug Vaughn's work was the redeeming feature of their play. This, and the fact that the Chicagoans produced more first downs than their rivals, were the main items of consolation for Cardinal adherents. The Cards made 13 first downs, Green Bay, 11.

The Packers, with these exceptions, appeared superior and were not pressed to score their second league victory of the year over the Cardinals. Particularly impressive was

Bears Beat Pirates, 27-9, in Forward Passing Battle

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 4.—Open football, the professionals' lure to patronage, reached a new high here today as the Chicago Bears whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 27 to 9, to take undisputed possession of first place in the National league. All of the game's five touchdowns were scored off forward passes.

A record crowd of 28,[illegible]77, the largest throng ever gathered for a professional game in Pittsburgh, worked itself into a frenzy as the Bears, with a 27 to 0 lead, fought desperately to stem the Pirates' fourth quarter aerial bombardment.

Bears Outgain Pirates.

With Molesworth, Sisk, Nagurski, and Nolting doing the heavy ball carrying, the Bears piled up 1[illegible] yards from scrimmage in the first three quarters. Six completed passes netted them 173 yards and a total gain of 370 yards for the day. Against this the Pirates, regarded as the toughest team, man for man in the league, were able to gain only 302 yards, with their eighteen completed passes netting 259 yards of the total.

This impregnable defense against running plays, led by Bill Hewitt, who brought a salvo of cheers from a partisan crowd, Joe Stydahar, freshman tackle, and Ed Kawal, center, finally convinced the Pirates after three quarters that anything but passes indicated a lack of intelligence. They became very smart in a hurry. They had possession of the ball almost continuously in the fourth quarter and ran only when a passer became trapped and fled for his life.

Bears Clearly Superior.

The Bears led, 13 to 11, in first downs, making eleven of their total on running plays. Throwing out the fourth quarter, when no one except the New York Celtics could have coped with the Pirates, the Chicagoans clearly demonstrated their superiority over the eleven which is regarded as the east's chief threat to western supremacy in the National league. Pittsburgh, despite its reputation for ruggedness and fierceness, was no match for the hard running, hard charging Bears.

The Bears set up their first touchdown in the opening period by recovering Karcis' fumble on the Pirates' 30 yard line. Feathers slipped inside left tackle for three yards, Brumbaugh passed to Ronzani for 17 and Feathers picked up two more. Feathers' pass to Brumbaugh was knocked down by Heller. Nagurski leaped up and passed into Bill Karr's arms for a touchdown. Manders replaced Nagurski and kicked the extra point.

Bears Run Over Hubbard.

The Bears increased their lead to 14 to 0 on an 82 yard march early in the second period. Sisk and Molesworth carried the ball, cutting inside and outside of the Pirates' left tackle, where Cal Hubbard, former Green Bay star and American league umpire, was substituted.

Hewitt, Trost, and Stydahar handled Hubbard roughly. Sisk went 17 yards inside and 16 yards outside him. A pass, Molesworth to Johnsos, netted 12 more yards. The scoring play, a pass, Molesworth to Brumbaugh, was good for 14 yards. Nagurski's place kick bounded off a Pirate linesman over the bar, making the score 14 to 0.

The score became 20 to 0 in the third quarter when Ronzani passed 40 yards to Karr. Karr made a spectacular catch straight down the middle and stepped over the goal line. Nagurski's place kick was low.

Ronzani Intercepts Pass.

The Bears regained possession of the ball again when Ronzani intercepted Heller's pass on the Pirates' 46 yard line. Sisk passed to Molesworth for 10 yards and Molesworth lateraled to Johnsos. Johnsos was tackled by Bib Turley, but Turley failed to hold on, so Johnsos crossed

FIFTH GAME.

At Yankee Stadium today, 1:30 p. m. [Chicago time].

Probable pitchers — Giants, Hal Schumacher; Yankees, Charley Ruffing.

Radio broadcast—W-G-N [1:15 p. m.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 4.—Not even the great Carl Hubbell, peerless as a southpaw, could slow down the march of the American league Yankees on the stadium turf today. He beat them in the opener, but this afternoon they took him. He was carried away, mainly on Lou Gehrig's bat and the National league Giants collapsed in the fourth game of the world series, 5 to 2, before a crowd of 66,669, which established a new high for baseball's post season show.

Whatever chance at the world title the Giants might still have had if Hubbell's left arm had been able to pull them to victory, has about vanished. The Yanks, after accepting defeat in the opener have charged along to three straight victories. One more triumph is all they need and they'll go in quest of it on the same field tomorrow, behind the pitching of Charley Ruffing, Hubbell's luckless foe in the first battle. The Giants will come back with Hal Schumacher, who still carried the bruises from his experiences in the second game.

Yanks Change Batting Style.

Hubbell, the last hope, didn't have a chance today to get the upper hand. Having seen him once the Yanks knew what to do. They reefed their swinging power and resorted to poking. They boxed him with a run in the second inning and continued the effective poking in the third until another had scored. Then the poking idea was abandoned and this was where all the lustre of the struggle was effectively erased by Gehrig.

Hubbell, plainly troubled and his mates plainly resigned to accept the worst after yesterday's stinging 2 to 1 defeat despite Freddy Fitzsimmons' four hit pitching, thought he might fool Gehrig with something different from the low curve he had used with such accuracy against the left handed hitters in the first game. Gehrig was ready and he smashed a crushing homer into the right field bleachers, making a total of three runs for the American leaguers in the third inning.

Gabler Replaces Hubbell.

After that it was just a ball game. The Yanks acted as if it was a cinch. The crowd died and so did the Giants, the latter's attack being reduced almost to a state of feebleness by Monte Pearson's pitching.

Hubbell justifiably was saved from

ROUTE RUNNERS TO HAVE DAY AT LINCOLN FIELDS

2⅛ Mile Race Tops Card on Wednesday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The biggest run any racegoer ever was given for his money at Lincoln Fields is going to be offered him on Wednesday afternoon.

It comes in the running of the long trek calliming purse which is over the stamina testing route of two miles and an eighth. That journey, which will start directly in front of the grand stand, will take the field completely around the mile and a sixteenth Lincoln Fields course twice.

It is the longest race ever carded at the Crete track. Owners have taken a keen interest in it and a good sized field will try for the $1,000 prize that has been hung up. The route runners here this season have been beating each other with great regularity. As a result this long battle gives promise of being a lively betting affair.

Renew Marquette Handicap.

The long trek purse is just one of the high spots on the program for the final week of the Lincoln Fields season. On Saturday afternoon the Marquette handicap is to be renewed for the ninth year in a row.

This one is at a mile and a furlong and will carry a $2,500 added money prize. It is the last stake race of the year to be run in Chicago. Mucho Gusto, winner of the Crete and Lincoln handicaps, has passed up the Marquette, which is highly pleasing news to the owners of the other eligibles who are at Lincoln Fields pointing their charges for the race.

Trainer E. L. Snyder of the Tranquillity farm stable probably will shoot for the Marquette with Captain Cal and Songmaker. Silk Mask, a failure both in the Crete and the Lincoln, will also endeavor to make amends. The brilliant victory Prince Torch scored in an overnight handicap on Saturday was notice enough that he will be dangerous in the Marquette. Spanish Babe also has been showing steady improvement lately. It is expected that a dozen may start in the final stake race of the year here.

James May Reach Top.

The last week at Lincoln Fields also may find Jocky Basil James going to the top of the American jocky standings. James rode a dozen winners at Lincoln Fields last week and crowded his way past Johnny Longden into second place in the national ratings.

If James stays on his two a day schedule this week he will go into first place. Frank Chojnacki of Cicero, Ill., is the present leader. He has ten more winning mounts than James, but has been inactive lately.

Maccabees and Wilsons Win at Soccer

The Maccabees took first place in the Soccer league yesterday by defeating the Olympia team, 3 to 1. Kratochvil, Olympia goalie, made many brilliant stops at the net before Guthburt finally drove through after a pass from Lillie. The Olympias then started an intensive drive against the Maccabees' goal, but were blocked repeatedly by the brilliant defense play of Goalie Fisher. Tomecek finally got one past Fisher from ten yards out to tie the score as the half ended.

Olympia started the second half with a rush, but failed to get by Fisher. The Maccabees, with a rearranged team, then went into the lead when Von Drasek shat a bullet-like drive into the top of the net. Waldron scored the third goal for the Maccabees near the end of the game.

The Wilsons, who won the major league championship last year, defeated the Norwegians, 1 to 0. Both teams battled at top strength and the lone score was made by Andrews behind some clever work by the Wilson forwards.

The Spartas won easy victory against the Bohemian Odd Fellows, 6 to 1. The Bohemians had no adequate defense against the Sparta rushes.

The International and Chicago leagues will hold special meetings this week to complete arrangements for entering the Tribune soccer tournament. The International will meet Tuesday at the Atlantic hotel and the Chicago division on Wednesday at the Brevoort hotel.

State, Federal Men Disagree on Duck Rules

Read Bob Becker's illustrated 72 page book, "The Hunter's Guide," for expert information about hunting. On sale at Tribune Public Service Offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c; by mail, 30c.

BY BOB BECKER.

In a meeting called the other day by Pete J. Erie, acting chief inspector, to discuss and interpret the new 1936 duck regulations, the state inspectors of the Illinois department of conservation were given their instructions on enforcing regulations during the duck season, which opens Nov. 1. Twenty-five department men attended this meeting in Chicago, which developed the following surprising and important facts about state law enforcement:

Waterfowl hunters will be arrested by state officers if they shoot within 200 yards of any place where artificial feeding [baiting] is being done. This is the interpretation of the federal regulations as made by the state department of conservation. If birds are hunted from blinds closer than 200 yards to artificial feed then the state will assume that the hunters are taking advantage of the feeding.

May Put Out Feed.

A representative of this department who attended the meeting heard this interpretation of the waterfowl regulations as well as this point about feeding before the opening of the season: If a man puts out artificial feed in a certain place on his property prior to the opening of the waterfowl season [Nov. 1] he may shoot on that spot providing there is no feed there on opening day, according to state officials.

This is the way the federal regulations are being considered by the Illinois department of conservation and apparently enforcement of the law by state inspectors will be undertaken with this interpretation in mind. Pete J. Erio also instructed his staf to visit as many duck hunting spots as possible before the opening day to help owners and lessors of property on their layouts so that they will understand the law [if it is possible for any one to figure out all the angles!] and set up their programs correctly.

Conflicts with Federal Law.

This state interpretation of the regulations is dandy for the Illinois valley shooters, but it doesn't agree with that of the biological survey.

Ira Gabrielson, chief of the United States biological survey, writes us that it is against the federal law to do any baiting or feeding of any kind to attract ducks, either directly or indirectly.

WELCOME KIEFER HOME TODAY FROM OLYMPICS

WILDCATS SEEN AS MENACE TO GOPHERS, OHIO

Easy Defeat of Iowa Is Held Impressive.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While Minnesota and Ohio State are concentrating on their nonconference battles this week-end, both should cast wary glances in the direction of Northwestern. Each must play the Wildcats and by virtue of Saturday's decisive victory over Iowa, 18 to 7, Northwestern seriously threatens the Big Ten supremacy of the Gophers and Buckeyes.

The impressiveness of Northwestern's victory not only gave the lie to the supposition that the Wildcats start slowly, but it even confounded Purple adherents, who would have been satisfied by a one point conquest and not surprised had the Hawkeyes won. Iowa's Ozzie Simmons, behind veteran tackles and ends, was a distinct threat to a Northwestern team which had several replacements of unknown value.

But Northwestern held Iowa to 20 yards by rushing and piled up 280 yards, for an almost unbelievable comparison. Thus Northwestern's stock soars and Ohio State, which visits Dyche stadium Oct. 17, and Minnesota, which has a date for the same place Oct. 31, must admit that the Wildcats are the most formidable of conference opponents.

Nebraska Has Power.

Minnesota and Ohio State have more immediate worries, however. Minnesota, idle Saturday after its opening victory at Seattle over Washington, is preparing for Nebraska. Last year the Cornhuskers were beaten only 12 to 7 and then only after the Gophers had repelled a fourth period assault on their own 3 yard line. Saturday Nebraska defeated Iowa State, 34 to 0, in its opening Big Six game and thus gave notice of power and speed sufficient to cause Minnesota coaches sleepless nights.

The case of Ohio State is most difficult to assay. The Buckeyes sent 52 players into the New York university game Saturday and still the score mounted to 60 to 0, only to be compared to Ohio State's opening day victory over Virginia, 75 to 0, in 1933. But the Bucks meet the veteran Pittsburgh eleven this week and Pitt trampled on West Virginia, 34 to 0, after having licked Ohio Wesleyan, 53 to 0, the week before. West Virginia won from Cincinnati, 40 to 6, so the Panthers' power can not be overemphasized.

Pitt Menace to Ohio.

Ohio State's scouts sincerely believe that Pitt is more powerful. They hope that the Buckeye's air game and laterals on sweeping runs will produce a parity. The game will be witnessed by 80,000 at Columbus.

Other games Saturday, with the exception of Michigan State's 21 to 7 victory over Michigan, brought no surprises. The Wolverines, with many sophomores taking part, were able to go into the second half on even terms.

But from then on Agett's kicking and running swung the tide to the Spartans, who took their third successive game from Michigan.

Michigan has improved over last season and probably will continue to improve as the new men learn their chores. Whether Michigan can beat Indiana, or not, remains to be seen. The Hoosiers warmed up Saturday for this week's engagement at Ann Arbor with a 38 to 0 runaway with Centre college.

But defeat by Michigan State heightened the opinion that Michigan will have difficulty stopping Vernon Huffman, Indiana's passer and runner, and that the Wolverines are not the equal of such opponents as Northwestern, Minnesota, and Ohio State. Which leaves Illinois as major objective in addition to Indiana.

Illinois Reserving Strength.

Illinois' young team eked out a 13 to 7 victory over Washington university of St. Louis much in the same fashion that it disposed of De Paul, 9 to 6. Coach Zuppke started his second team and gave evidence of his hunt for tackles by giving Skarda an assignment. So far, the Illini air game hasn't been used to its complete possibilities, but it will be needed when Southern California comes to Champaign seeking solace for last year's surprising defeat on home soil, 19 to 0.

The Trojans seen to have a wide margin of superiority. Saturday they won from Oregon, 26 to 0.

Chicago was overmatched with Vanderbilt and the Commodores won as they pleased, 37 to 0. Chicago will find it difficult to win a conference game this year.

Marquette Ends Slow.

Marquette's air attack, with Capt. Ray Buivid throwing to Art Guepe, worked twice for Marquette's 12 to 6 victory over the Badgers. Wisconsin's fourth quarter rally which scored and the furious assault which was continued to give the Badgers' 15 first downs as compared to 16 for Marquette, will encourage Badger fans.

Notre Dame secured its first victory of a new season from Carnegie Tech, 21 to 7, and now is expected to dispose of Washington university and Wisconsin before meeting Pittsburgh.

St. Mary's whipped California, 10 to 0, but this had been conceded by Pacific coast critics. Stanford lost a second game to Washington State, 14 to 13. Washington recovered from its defeat by Minnesota by running over Idaho, 22 to 0.

Felz Motor Team Wins Amateur Baseball Title

The Felz Motor nine won the pennant of the Illinois State Amateur Baseball league and the Charlie Grimm trophy yesterday by defeating the Braves, 5 to 3, at Spencer Coals field. The Cragin Maroons defeated Armour Post, 4 to 3, for the intermediate championship. Earlier in the day the Braves won from the Falcons, 10 to 5, to qualify to meet the Felz team.

MEMORIES OF G. HUFF.

IN the early years of the present century came to the sports departments of Chicago newspapers each fall an amiable, sturdy young man as advance publicity stimulator for the Chicago-Illinois football game, then played annually at Marshall, now Stagg field. George Huff, as always afterward, was frank and straightforward.

You'd ask the University of Illinois athletic director what were the chances of his team and he'd reply, "Well, we're a rather small school and haven't the material of most of our rivals. Chicago looks the better but we'll give them our best." And Illinois always did.

Once we asked why Illinois played all its games against Chicago here instead of home and home. Mr. Huff looked directly at us from his clear, honest eyes as he said, "Frankly, it's because we need the money. Our athletic funds are slender and we draw better in Chicago than at home. It's not my idea of an ideal arrangement. University of Illinois is growing and will continue to grow. As soon as we can afford it we'll alternate."

Illinois did continue to grow and then Illinois-Chicago games did alternate. Perhaps even then, the departed athletic director visioned the great crowds of the future and the huge, impressive memorial stadium erected at a cost of nearly $3,000,000 largely through his efforts and those of Coach Bob Zuppke.

Within recent years we queried Mr. Huff about a temporary gridiron slump at Illinois and facetiously suggested "Hadn't you better buy a few players in the open market?" Serious was the reply, "We're trying to live within the rules of proselyting. Some colleges outside the conference evidently are not. We simply are not getting the material we once did from territory where the boys normally might be expected to go to Illinois."

We noted how carefully "G" took pains to cast no aspersions on Big Ten rivals, two of which at the time were "securing" players by methods criticized all over the circuit.

"Perhaps we all should come out into the open and pay our football players a fixed salary," continued Huff. "I don't think so, but there's room for argument under present conditions. However, it would give advantage to the larger schools with more money. And if people cheat now, why wouldn't they cheat on salary lists, too? Anyway, direct or indirect reward for athletic prowess is against the rules. That ought to settle the matter."

Within the last few years The Wake was conducting a campaign for resumption of football training tables, maintained in the east and in many other conferences outside the Big Ten. To our surprise we found Huff opposed. "If you did it for football, why wouldn't you do it for all other sports?" he asked. We pointed out that football receipts furnished the funds for other athletic activities and that the grid boys earned the money.

"True," he replied, "and a training table no doubt would be of benefit to football team morale, but in theory membership on all athletic teams representing a university should be equal and not judged commercially. Most of our conference members at this period of depression cannot afford this extra expense. Those who could would have an advantage. That would not be fair."

Fairness to the other fellow, consideration for the other fellow's viewpoint, always were factors in George Huff's decision on conference questions. It was an inherent quality of the man who has left such an enduring name in his chosen life work.

Chicago Dogs Compete in Field Trials

Eighty Chicagoland dogs, including German shepherds, pointers, setters, and spaniels, attracted more than 1,000 persons to field trials staged yesterday in Chicago, Addison, and St. Charles.

The National Shepherd Dog club held its annual trial yesterday on the training grounds at 7428 Higgins road, fifteen dogs competing. Buster, owned by Peter Guldner of Chicago, won the trophy presented to the dog showing the greatest ability in obedience, protection of his master, and trailing. Elfi von Finsterwalder, owned by Paul Finsterwalder of Chicago, was second. Adolph Baker, Chicago, was the judge, and John Dewson, also of Chicago, superintendent.

At Addison, the Chicagoland Field Trial club concluded its two-day fall trials, with forty pointers and setters taking part. Sixteen dogs competed in the shooting dog stake, which was won by Chick's Scout Unomont, an English setter owned by Oscar Andresen, Elmhurst.

In the open all-age stake, an upset occurred when Seaview Rex's Dixie, famous field trial pointer owned by T. G. Jones of Chicago, was defeated by Harkland's Ted Boy, an English setter owned by M. H. Marsilius, Woodstock.

On the Crane estate near St. Charles, sixteen cocker spaniels and eight springer spaniels competed in the trials staged by the Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West.

Robinhurst Hewer, owned by Hugh Parker of Greeley, Ia., won first place and the championship point in the open all-age stake for cocker spaniels.

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Two former title holders and a leading contender for heavyweight honors feature this week's national boxing program.

Tony Canzoneri, stripped of his lightweight crown a few weeks ago by Lou Ambers, clashes with Jimmy McLarnin, former welterweight champion, in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow. The fight originally scheduled for Friday was postponed because of a cut lip suffered by Canzoneri.

Joe Louis, outstanding contender for Jimmy Braddock's title, encounters Jorge Brescia of Argentina, in another ten round bout in the opening card in the recently reconstructed Hippodrome Friday.

DAY SEEKS FIFTH VICTORY IN ROW IN FASNAUGH FIGHT

Chowaniec, Boyle Clash at Marigold Tonight.

Davey Day, once invincible Chicago lightweight boxer, who started a new campaign for a title bout last Nov. 22 by defeating Roger Bernard, will try for his fifth straight triumph in a ten round headliner with Carl Fasnaugh tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

The 22 year old Day, who was in line for a championship scrap until his unexpected defeat at the hands of Al Roth at New York a year ago last July 29, has been idle since his four round technical knockout over Geno Salvatore July 27. The triumph was subsequent to Davey's conquests of Johnny Durso at Louisville May 1 and Mike [Little Pal] Primich at Marigold April 27.

Fasnaugh, promising Toledo, O., fighter, showed to good advantage in previous starts here. He whipped Art Brewer July 6, Bus Breese July 20, Brewer again July 27, and Mike Gamiere Aug. 17. Inexperience was a reason for his loss to Jimmy Vaughn, his only defeat in Chicago.

Max Chowaniec, Cudahy, Wis., 170 pound scrapper, who knocked out Johnny Brown with one punch in the first round a week ago, clashes with Eddie Boyle of Cleveland in the six round semi-final. Max will be in quest of his fourteenth knockout in 19 appearances under the management of Ritchie Mitchell, the old lightweight star. Emil Campagna, Chicago light heavyweight, will oppose Henry Woods, and Rolla Taylor, St. Louis 156 pound slugger, is paired with Mike Krizmis in two of four preliminary matches.

A wrestling card will be held tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Ivan Rasputin and John Swenski will be principals in the main event, set for one fall with a 60 minute time limit. Supporting bouts match Pat McCleary with Mike Gorski, Mike [Indian] Chacoma with Jerry Meeker, Fritz Miller with Stan Novak, and Faro Renaldi with Mike Markoff.

Leo Lomski, the old Aberdeen, Wash., light heavyweight contender, has been substituted for Max Marek in a ten round topliner at White City Friday. He will meet Mickey Dugan. Dugan, originally booked to meet Marek at Chicago arena Wednesday, knocked out Clinton Bridges and suffered a setback by Marek in previous local scraps. . . . Jimmy Dunham, hard hitting south side bantamweight, will battle Bob Wiley, and Dave Sund, St. Charles featherweight, is matched with Earl Gibson in two amateur contests at five rounds which head the show tonight at the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street. . . . # YANKEES SOLVE HUBBELL; BEAT GIANTS, 5 TO 2 completing a job the Giants knew was hopeless. He was yanked for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Frank Gabler was brought in for the Yanks' half. The American leaguers didn't let him get away unscratched. They crashed him for a run and here again the murderous Gehrig was in action. He almost tore a leg off Manager Bill Terry at first base with a double and later scored to round out a day's record of driving in two runs and crossing the plate twice.

Gehrig, because of the distance of his hits, kept himself well ahead of such of his pals as helped to carry the attacking burden during the struggle. The flashy Frankie Corsetti unbuckled a double and single, both by poking, against Hubbell. The double was one of the items which preceded Gehrig's homer in the decisive third. And Pearson added to his pitching splendor with a double and single, neither of which figured in the run production. But Hubbell did succeed in blanking the great Joe Di Maggio, once on a double play when the pressure was heavy.

Pearson Baffles Giants.

Pearson, a doubtful starter, because of a back injury when the series opened, showed himself an amazingly strong cripple. He gave the Giants something to think about right at the start of hostilities. He fanned four of them in the first two innings. In the first three innings he allowed them only one hit. Then with a big lead he was separated from a run on two hits in the fourth. Thereafter the Giants were hopeless except for a flash when they scored again in the eighth. But Pearson halted this threat just as easily as he had snuffed out the fourth inning uprising.

Pearson's first inning against the Giants didn't start in the way the Yankee rooters wished, but they were well satisfied by the time the third out was recorded. Moore walked. Bartell struck out. Terry faded in the same way. Moore tried to steal on the first pitch to Ott and Dickey's accurate peg to Crosetti wrecked the bold attempt.

More Trouble for Giants.

The Yankee's first charge against Hubbell's pitching netted a hit, but no more. Crosetti swung at the big southpaw's first pitch and bounced to Jackson. A grounder off Rolfe's bat skidded past Jackson and by the time Bartell captured it back on the grass, Rolfe was on base. Di Maggio was removed on a pop to Terry. Hubbell's first pitch to Gehrig was a low curve, the same treatment that proved so effective in the first game. Gehrig let it go for a strike, but when another of the same kind came along he decided to swing. He tapped feebly to Whitehead.

The Giants saw more of Pearson's strike out ball in the second. Ott went out swinging, making three in a row for the Yankee expert. The first Giant hit, a single between Gehrig and Lazzeri popped off Ripple's bat. The Giants wanted to work the hit and run but it didn't function. Mancuso missed the pitch and Dickey made another flawless throw to Crosetti to erase Ripple going into second. Then Mancuso fanned, giving Pearson four of such things in two innings.

The Yanks also got a taste of strikeout ball in the second, but they also collected the first run. Dickey led off and Hubbell curved one past him for a called third strike. Hubbell got into difficulty immediately. Powell slashed a grounder toward third and it took a high hop. Jackson reached over his head, but the sun blinded him and the ball slipped off his finger tips. It rolled slowly into left field and Powell could have gone to second with ease if he had been watching the antics of Earl Combs who was coaching at first. The scorers gave Jackson an error. A hit for Powell would have been more appropriate.

Yanks Take Lead.

With Lazzeri at bat the Yanks flashed the hit and run play and almost got away with it. Powell broke for second and Lazzeri tried to poke the ball through the spot vacated when Whitehead started over to cover the middle bag. Whitehead managed to scramble back, get the ball and throw out Lazzeri at first. But the play got Powell to second and a moment later he charged home with the day's first run on Selkirk's single which drilled along the ground between third and short. The inning closed with Pearson dropping an easy fly into Ripple's hands.

The Giant third was a big event because Whitehead almost came through with his first hit of the series. He led off with a short fly to right center. Selkirk tore across the turf like a scared rabbit, got the ball in his hands, but couldn't hold it. It was ruled an error, but could just as easily have been a hit. Whatever it was didn't make any difference to Pearson. He nailed Jackson on a fly to Di Maggio in deep center, personally threw out Hubbell, and pitched Moore into a foul popup to Rolfe.

Gehrig Hits Homer.

The panic that struck Hubbell in the third when three Yankees zoomed across the plate, began with Crosetti arching a two base fly to the fence in the right field corner. Rolfe took a strike and then with Crosetti running pushed a slow single straight into center. Crosetti was across the plate by the time Ripple picked up the ball. After Di Maggio had fouled out to Mancuso, a Hubbell pitch got away from Mancuso and Rolfe raced from first to third. Hubbell was charged with a wild pitch, but it appeared to be more of a passed ball. When this happened it made the count on Gehrig 3 and 1.

Manager Terry walked over to talk with Hubbell and the expectation was that an intentional pass would be issued. The strategy must have been to try to sneak a fast ball past Gehrig. It didn't get by. It came in elbow high and the iron man sent it screeching into the right field bleacher back of the 344 foot sign. Rolfe crossed the plate and waited there to give his greeting when Gehrig arrived. It was Gehrig's second homer of the present series and his ninth in series competition.

Giants Get a Run.

The inning ended without further National league suffering only because Moore speared a line drive off Dickey's bat and Ripple made a sensational somersault catch of a liner by Powell.

Bartell opened the fourth with a single to right and this started the Giants to moving in the direction of their first run. Bartell was shoved to second, when Terry walked. Ott grounded to Crosetti and Lazzeri dropped the throw at second, but recovered in time to force Terry, who dare slide. Ripple singled to left because of his leg infirmities didn't and Bartell ran home. Lazzeri picked up Mancuso's grounder and it would have been a double play if Crosetti, after taking the throw which forced Ripple at second, hadn't made a toss that pulled Gehrig off first. The slight slip was of no consequence because Whitehead popped to Crosseti.

There wasn't much action in either portion of the fifth or sixth.

Yanks Threaten Again.

After Pearson had fanned Jackson to end a hapless Giant seventh the Yanks, after being quiet for a couple of innings, broke out in their half.

The revival was marked by a couple of hits which gave Hubbell a chance to show he could pitch himself out of a hole before quitting work. Pearson led off with a double to right center and was satisfied to stay at third on Crosetti's single to right. Then Rolfe popped to Bartel and Di Maggio grounded into a double play, Bartell to Whitehead to Terry.

The Giants did a little thrill-making of their own in the eighth and, until Pearson got out of the jam with the damage limited to one run, the Yanks probably wished they hadn't been so careless about their scoring chance in the seventh. Leslie started this outburst by batting for Hubbell and singling to left, his second successful appearance in a pinch rôle. Moore also singled to left.

Giant Uprising Checked.

Bartell bunted but it rolled foul. He followed with a poke which Lazzeri smothered back on the grass. Gehrig also went after the ball, so first was uncovered, but Pearson sprinted over, took the throw from Tony and got the decision. Terry, with a count of 3 and 1, swung at a bad pitch and grounded out to Lazzeri, Davis, who ran for Leslie, scoring. Ott then slammed a sharp grounder to Rolfe and was thrown out to end the inning.

Having experienced a scare the Yanks added a run in their margin in the eighth. Gabler made one pitch to Gehrig and Lou rifled it past first base for a double. Dickey was thrown out on a ball picked up back of second by Bartell. Powell spanked a single into left and Gehrig glided home. Lazzeri was dropped on a grounder to Whitehead, and Selkirk was given an intentional pass, so as to bring up Pearson. The latter almost beat out a roller to Jackson for his third hit.

The Giants tumbled easily in the ninth.

Sox Defeat Cubs, 8-2, to Sweep Series

for a total of 12 bases. Rosenthal scored six runs in the series, within two of the total scored by the entire Cub team in the series.

Cubs Make Seven Errors.

Defensively the Sox made the Cubs look like bushers on several occasions. The only error the Sox made was by Manager Dykes, with two out in the first game of the series. The Cubs made seven errors and did not play an errorless game in the series.

And most significant of all, the White Sox partisans pointed out, the White Sox knocked into a cocked hat the well known old alibi about the Sox being relaxed after a season of doing nothing while they always took on the Cubs at the close of a rigorous and fatiguing pennant fight. It was the Sox who did the nerve racking campaigning in the late weeks of the regular season, weeks in which the Cubs spent most of the days after mid-August calmly back on their heels.

Cubs Take Momentary Lead.

But getting back to yesterday's windup:

The Cubs in the first inning momentarily held a lead for the only time in the series. Galan opened with a single off Hayes' glove and, after Cavarretta had flied to Haas, stole second. Gill then drove the ball to the scoreboard in left center for a double, scoring Galan. Gill tried to gallop to third on his smash, but was out at third, Rosenthal to Appling to Dykes. Demaree lined to Radcliff.

Cubs Go Out in Order.

The Cubs went out in order in the second and the Sox also failed to score, although Radcliff and Rosenthal made singles.

Jurges opened the Cub third with a hit off Dykes' glove, but Stainback then batted for Warneke and rolled into a double play. Galan flied to Rosenthal.

Bonura started the Sox third with the second of his series of hits, a single to center, off Lee, but Appling, Hayes and Dykes couldn't get the ball out of the infield.

Cubs Get Bases Loaded.

The Cubs made a run in the fourth and had the bases full when they faded out. Cavarretta opened with a double to right. Haas made a nice try on the ball, but bumped into the wall just as he was about to effect a catch. Gill grounded out to Hayes, Cavarretta taking third. Demaree singled to center, Cavarretta scoring. Hack walked, Hartnett popped to Hayes and English walked, filling the bases. Then Jurges forced English on a tap to Appling.

The Sox pounded Lee for three hits in the fifth to make their total an even dozen. Bonura opened with a single to center, took second on Appling's out, and scored on Hayes' single to right. Dykes singled to left, Hayes reaching third. Sewell grounded into a double play, English to Jurges to Cavarretta.

Davis Takes Mound.

Davis took over the pitching job at the start of the Sox seventh. With one down, Bonura singled to left for his fourth straight hit and Appling came through with his first hit of the game, a single to right. Hayes and Dykes supplied outs, however.

With two out in the eighth Radcliff tripled to left center, after which Rosenthal and Haas walked, filling the bases. Bonura then delivered his fifth straight hit, a single to center, Radcliff and Rosenthal scoring and Haas stopping at second. Davis departed and Root went in. Appling singled to center, Haas scoring, Bonura taking third, and Appling taking second on the throw to third. Jurges threw out Hayes.

Hack walked to get the final inning under way; then Hartnett tapped into a double play. English was called out on strikes.

Bears Defeat Pirates, 27-9, to Lead League

In the fourth quarter the Pirates began passing. In one drive they put together passes of 25, 18, 10, another one for 18, and one for 6 yards to advance the ball 79 yards to the Bears' 6 yard line. Here they lost it.

Feathers quick kicked and the ball was killed on the Pirates' 30 yard line. After two plays Gildea passed to Brett. Ronzani batted the ball, but Brett recovered it before it hit the ground and ran to the 4 yard line for a 72 yard gain. Gildea threw a flat pass to Heller, who ran over the goal line. Matesic kicked the extra point.

The Pirates' last threat ended with Kawall intercepting Karcis' pass on the 23 yard line. A 15 yard penalty for illegal use of the hands set the Bears back to the eight yard line. Feathers, attempting to run wide around the Pirates' left end, was knocked back over the goal line by Brett for a safety.

VILLANOVA BEATS DETROIT, 13 TO 6; STOPPER IS STAR

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Andy Stopper's accurate forward passing brought Villanova college a 13 to 6 victory over Detroit university before 18,000 today in Philadelphia's first Sunday major college football game. Three times the Williamsport, Pa., youth faded back and tossed passes which accounted for one of Villanova's touchdowns and paved the way for the second. In addition, he broke loose for a 60 yard run, the longest sprint of the game, following Detroit's only score in the last quarter.

Two Touchdowns in Two Minutes Win for St. Joseph

PACKER PASSES, POWER DEFEAT CARDINALS, 24-0

Laws, Johnson and Hinkle Score Touchdowns.

Cardinal March Halted.

The only scoring threat in the opening quarter ended in failure for the Cardinals, after they had penetrated inside of Green Bay's 25 yard line. The march started with Vaughn picking up Hinkle's punt and running to the Cardinals' 37 yard line. Vaughn then made it a first down in two cracks at the line, advancing the ball to Green Bay's 32 yard line. After Becker spilled the former Lions' halfback for seven yards, Vaughn tossed a pass to Pangle for 20 yards.* Three smashes at the line failing, Kellogg dropped back and attempted a field goal from the Packers' 30 yard line, but the effort was unsuccessful.

After an exchange of punts Monnett set the stage for Green Bay's first touchdown in the second quarter by returning Sarboe's punt 25 yards to the Cardinals' 36 yard line. Johnston smashed center for five yards, and Herber passed to Bruder for a first down on the Chicagoans' 12 yard line. Three plays later Johnston went over center for the touchdown. Ernie Smith added the extra point with a placement kick.

Hinkle Intercepts Pass.

Green Bay's second score came a few minutes later in the same period. Hinkle intercepted Sarboe's pass and ran it back to his 33 yard line. Herber passed to Gantenbein for a 24 yard gain, after which Sauer knifed his way through tackle for 20 yards more. Hinkle added 13 through the line, putting the ball on the 14 yard line.

Two offside penalties were inflicted upon the Cardinals at this point, after which Sauer added two yards on a wide end sweep. Hinkle took it across on the next play. Schwammel's placement kick was good, and the score became 14 to 0.

Eighteen plays after the last half opened the Packers were in possession of three more points, the result of a field goal by Engebretsen. A long pass from Herber, standing in midfield, to Paul Miller was ruled complete for interference on the Cardinals' 16 yard line. After three futile attempts to gain, Engebretsen dropped back to the 35 yard line and successfully booted the ball between the uprights.

This aroused the Cardinals into action and they drove to Green Bay's 40 yard line on a series of passes thrown by Vaughn. The Packers' defense stiffened and the Chicagoans were forced to punt. Herber replaced in kind in a 70 yard kick that rolled out on the Cardinals' 30 yard line.

The early minutes of the fourth quarter found the teams battling in mid field. After forcing Vaughn to punt from the shadows of his goal, the Packers took possession on the Chicago 41 yard line. Laws then swept around end for a touchdown. Ernie Smith's placement kick netted an additional point.

WHEAT OUTLOOK FOR 1937 NOW IS MARKET FACTOR

Prospects Regarded More Favorable.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The 1937 crop prospects are already exerting an influence on wheat prices. Trading began recently in the July 1937 wheat contract and it was quoted several cents a bushel below the futures, which expire before a new crop is harvested.

Long range crop forecasting is a hazardous business, but so is speculating, and already statisticians are trying to conjure a pre-view of the 1937 crop situation.

Rainfall over the winter wheat belt in recent weeks has been generous and on the basis of this alone the prospects appear favorable. Although some seasoned crop observers have hazarded the guess that another meager wheat harvest in 1937 is in the making, the general feeling is more optimistic.

Former Output Not Expected.

After four years of short crops, however, nobody is yet venturing to predict that the country will return to the production basis of a decade ago. The protracted drouth has so depleted the subsoil moisture over a large section of the producing belt that far greater than normal rainfall is needed to replenish the supply. Recently, however, rainfall has been much greater than normal.

Of more immediate importance as a world market factor than the outcome of the 1937 American harvest are the results obtained in Argentina and Australia, where the crops will be gathered early in the new year. These countries now are supplying little or no wheat to the world market and will not do so until they have harvested the present crops.

Southern Crops Chief Factor.

On the outcome of the grain crops in these countries hinges the market situation for months to come. Should short crops result, the condition of scarcity which now faces the world would be greatly accentuated.

The southern hemisphere crop outlook was materially improved by good rains last week in Australia and Argentina. The world market reflected the more favorable outlook with a somewhat easier price trend. At the close Saturday, however, prices in the Chicago market on December wheat were only a trifle under the preceding week's final quotation.

July Wheat at Discount.

The July, 1937, wheat future closed Saturday at a discount of 16 cents to the December future and more than 14 cents a bushel under the May contract. This reflects the market's appraisal of the outlook between now and the new crop season.

Bank Journal Sees Further Business Rise

Business in the last quarter may be expected to continue the improvement which has made 1936 the best year since 1930, the magazine Banking, published by the American Bankers' association, says in a summary of conditions in its current issue.

"Late summer, as had been expected, witnessed some seasonal contradiction, but the basic improvement held its momentum and the weeks ahead promise higher production and consumption levels," Banking said.

"It is significant to note, as the fall season opens, that recovery this year has progressed without important interruption. Also the gain has been well distributed among major sections of the country's industrial fabric, the principal exception being agriculture, which had to contend with a serious drouth."

Fear Spending and Taxes.

Banking said many business men would have been better satisfied if they had felt that the good times had arrived without the inflationary pressure of government spending on an unprecedented scale and if tax consciousness was not so acute.

"The glamor of recovery can hardly obscure its cost," it said. "There is evidence that unemployment is decreasing and considerable reason to believe that the actual number of employables out of work is much below current estimates. Increasing dividends of corporations continue to give support to the market for securities and contribute to the general optimism.

"European events are disquieting. for the possibility of more widespread trouble between the two conflicting theories of government represented in Spain's civil war is well recognized.

Campaign Has Small Effect.

"At home the election campaign proceeds along lines more or less traditional, and the issues are being carefully canvassed by the politicians and the voters. On the whole, business appears to have been little affected by the campaigning, which is now under full head of steam.

"The prospect of a federal budget deficit in the current fiscal period substantially as great as that for the year which closed in June is an unfavorable factor."

RFC TO SPEED LOAN PAYMENTS BY INTEREST CUT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—[Special.]—As an inducement to banks and bank receivers to retire as rapidly as possible the preferred stock, capital notes and debentures through which the Reconstruction Finance corporation advanced them money, Chairman Jesse H. Jones announced tonight a reduction in the dividend and interest rates payable on those obligations. The reduction was made effective as of Oct. 1.

The actual loans made to banks have been repaid up to about 88 per cent. Of preferred stock, capital notes, and debentures, the RFC authorized a total subscription of $1,294,990,619 to 6,853 banks and trust companies and it is now intended to get the banks to redeem their securities at a more rapid rate than was originally provided.

Jones' announcement was as follows:

"When we announced our last interest reduction effective July 1, 1936, the rate to banks and bank receivers was fixed at 3 per cent. Effective Oct. 1, 1936, the interest and dividend rate on preferred stock, capital notes and debentures will also be reduced to 3 per cent to those banks that make their payments promptly on or before the maturities fixed in the articles of association and the capital notes and debentures, and that increase the annual retirement of their RFC capital as much as 1 per cent per annum over present requirements."

STEEL OUTPUT RISES; HIGHEST SINCE MAY, 1930

Rate Reaches 74½%; Demand Sustained.

Steelworks operations last week advanced 1½ points to 74½ per cent of the country's capacity, with aggregate demand well sustained, automotive production on the upswing again and orders for finished material being booked at new prices, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. The rate is now the highest since May, 1930.

September output of steel ingots placed 1936 production ahead of that for 1930 and unless unforeseen difficulties arise the lead will be maintained for the rest of the year, said the journal.

Increases Are Classified.

Comparisons for the nine-month period, with September estimated, as reported by Steel, include:

Automobiles—nine months' assemblies 3,300,000, compared with 2,875,804 in the 1935 period; rail awards—83 per cent ahead of last year, totaling 554,700 tons, compared with 302,006 in 1935; Lake Superior iron ore—shipments 48 per cent ahead of last year with September's 7,000,000 tons bringing the total to 33,281,517, compared with 22,204,213 tons in the nine months last year; freight car awards—40,933 at the end of the third quarter, compared with 7,908 last year, a gain of 400 per cent; shape awards—about 500,000 tons, compared with 634,400 in 1935.

Pig Iron Output Rises.

Pig iron output in September, 2,729,705 gross tons, represented a gain of 0.66 per cent over the 2,711,726 tons produced in August. The nine months' total, 21,617,224 tons, is an increase of 6,736,909 tons, or 45.2 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

"Deliveries have become more of a problem recently for sheet producers with their unusually heavy backlogs," Steel said. "Bar mills, also with orders piled up, are three to four weeks behind on shipments. Flat-rolled steel deliveries vary, strip being available in two or three weeks. Cold finished bar producers are booked heavily. The heavy products have been quieter than they were earlier in the year.

Tin Plate Operations High.

"In tin plate, where operations have been close to capacity all year with no summer slump, virtually all the cold reduced and hot mills are operating at full capacity and beginning to prepare for the rolling of 1937 plate."

Reflecting the price advances which went into effect Oct. 1, Steel's composite of finished steel quotations is up 90 cents to $53.90, or about even with August, 1935.

For the third week Steel's scrap composite remains at $16.54, yet demand is fairly strong in most districts and supplies have been coming out freely. Shipping restrictions have contributed to the weakness of some grades of remelting material.

Operating rates last week advanced in four districts: Pittsburgh, 1 point to 75 per cent; Chicago, 1 to 74 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania, ½ point to 49 per cent, and Cleveland, 1½ points to 82 per cent.

Transit Revenues Run Above Week and Year Ago

Revenues of the transit industry in the week ended Sept. 26 continued to show improvement over last year, Transit Journal reported yesterday. The publication's indicator, based on operations of a representative group of transit companies, stood at 105.92 compared with 105.40 a week ago.

AMERICAN SMELTING SIX MONTH PROFIT TWICE 1935 AMOUNT

New York, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—The American Smelting and Refining company reported today for the six months ended on June 30 a consolidated net income of $7,807,528 after all charges, reserves, and taxes, equal, after dividend requirements on the two classes of preferred stock, to $3.01 a share on the 1,829,940 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with $5,062,850, or $1.51 a share on the common stock in the first half of 1935.

Simon Guggenheim, president, said that on June 30 there were cash and United States government securities on hand amounting to $15,109,268, exclusive of $131,478 deposited with federal and state commissions. Total current and miscellaneous assets were reported at $93,860,124, and total current and miscellaneous liabilities were $21,656,365.

Between Jan. 1 and June 30 $2,041,000 of bonds were retired, Guggenheim added, while on July 15 there was a similar operation involving $4,982,000, reducing outstanding bonds to $17,977,000 on that date.

HOLIDAY BUYING EXPECTED TO BE BEST IN 6 YEARS

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—T. L. Blanke, manager of the merchandising division of the National Retail Dry Goods association, today predicted a heavy fall and Christmas business based upon orders by retail stores of all classes throughout the country.

These orders in the last four months will total $3,650,000,000 compared with $3,400,000,000 in the like period of 1935, he estimated. This total would represent a gain of 46 per cent over the comparable 1932 period, when the lowest volume of the depression was recorded.

Department stores, he said, would spend nearly a billion dollars to stock shelves, or roughly 10 per cent more than a year ago. Blanke said stores generally should have the best Christmas season since 1930.

CHICAGO TRADE AIDED BY BRISK WEATHER DURING LAST WEEK

There was snap to the weather and to wholesale and retail trade last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Heavy demand for fall clothing and other seasonal needs included orders from every section of the country.

Mail order houses were unanimous in enjoying the benefits resulting from better industrial pay rolls and more money in rural areas where farmers have been marketing their crops.

ALMOST HALF BILLION OF FOREIGN CAPITAL IS SENT INTO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The commerce department reported today almost a half billion dollars of foreign capital flowed into the United States during the first half of this year but estimated that this was a decrease under 1135's six month period.

"Political and financial uncertainties" abroad were described as responsible for the flight of funds from European shores. A smaller movement of short-term funds caused the decrease, said government economists who added that on the other hand long-term transactions—such as investments in American enterprises—increased.

The inflow of foreign capital was estimated at $496,000,000 or about $124,000,000 less than during the first six months last year.

Reviving international trade, a world-wide improvement in domestic business, and a sharp pickup in tourist spending also were reported in the department's survey of international payments. Imports of gold totaled $537,000,000, or about two-thirds of the inflow during the same months last year.

American exports rose $130,000,000 above the comparable period for 1935, commerce department experts estimated. Their figures showed that purchases from other nations shot up more rapidly, leaving a $9,000,000 excess of imports over exports. Total merchandise exports were placed at $1,154,000,000, and imports at $1,163,000,000.

SHARE PRICES SPURT SHARPLY AT END OF WEEK

Reports on Business Help Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 4.—For the better part of last week customers in board rooms, tape watchers and others of the financial district watched the stock market back and fill in a narrow rut, though the underlying tone appeared firm and expressions of a bullish character were anything but rarities.

All commentators on the ups and downs of the stock list agreed that the reason traders showed a distinct inclination to stay on the sidelines sprouted from the momentous triparty currency entente of the preceding week-end and the subsequent devaluation of the French franc. What the financial community wanted to see most of all, according to expert opinion, was how much repatriation of foreign currency would take place and how the list would act.

Situation Changes Suddenly.

For the first four days of the week, buying and selling of stocks took place in a dignified, cautious and unexcited manner. On Friday and Saturday, however, the trend of affairs suddenly changed for the better. Unlike the immediately preceding sessions, an abundance of buying power was evident. Stocks started off in high with the opening gong and never stopped going until the final bell put an end to trading.

The decided breakaway of the market enabled THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average of 50 stocks to establish a "triple top." Saturday's high mark for this combined average was 135.21, compared with 135.90 on Aug. 10 and 135.86 on July 28. The railway average, for the sixth consecutive week, established a new high for 1936, touching 45.77 yesterday. The week's high for the industrial share compilation, also touched yesterday, was 224.66, but was 4.41 points under the high for the year thus far, reached on July 28. On the week,

BONDS ADVANCE AS DEVALUATION IS CARRIED OUT

Railway Liens Most Active During Last Week.

New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—With usual market influences thrown out of kilter most of last week by uncertainty over the final status of the gold bloc currencies, bonds loitered early in the period and then resumed the forward movement.

Although the French parliament debated devaluation of the franc until late Thursday, when the unit was officially depreciated, the impatience of buying sentiment here started domestic corporate bonds moving upward Wednesday.

While the advance was general, rails attracted the most attention and ended the week with net gains ranging from fractions to several points. Total turnover for the six trading days was better than average with corporate loans accounting for most of the business done.

Several Rail Issues Rise.

Lehigh Valley issues were outstanding in the carrier quarter, the long term 4s and 4½s penetrating new high ground for the year. Missouri Pacific 5s, "Katy" 5s, Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, and Erie 5s were other noteworthy gainers. Allegheny stamped 5s, and 5s of 1949 also showed to advantage.

Convertible issues again veered sharply, particularly on Friday when they scored wide gains in conjunction with the broad advance of stocks. Allis Chalmers 4s, Studebaker 6s and American Rolling Mill 4¼s were spectacular gainers. International Hydro Electric 6s and Abitibi Paper and Power 5s moved up sharply, as did International Telephone 5s.

There were comparatively few bids in the market for United States government obligations but what there were topped the number of offerings.

Foreign Bonds Swing Widely.

Fairly wide swings were noted in the foreign section although trading was relatively light. The international monetary situation governed sentiment with respect to bonds of continental countries while the Sino-Japanese altercation caused some unsettlement in issues of the latter country. Polish loans sold off sharply on receipt of news from Warsaw that Oct. 1 interest on Polish dollar bonds not identified with wartime financing would be defaulted.

Kendall Company.

Investors' Guide: What do you say as to status of Kendall preferred stock from standpoint of investment? —W. T. B.

Answer: The Kendall company is one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of hospital supplies in the United States. Its subsidiaries make gauze, bandages, surgical dressings, cheese cloth, and various first aid articles and drug store specialties. Since 1928 it has owned all common stock of Bauer & Black, Inc.

Earnings have varied widely, partly because of fluctuations in the cotton market, but generally have been substantial. Decreased profit on cotton futures transactions brought net income down to $8.29 per preferred share, compared with $516,000, or $14.61 in 1934. Net income was equal to $26.36 a share on the preferred in 1933, $1.67 a share in 1932, and $7.53 in 1931.

For the first six months of 1936 net income was $288,000, or $8.36 per preferred share.

Charges on the $3,950,000 of debentures have been covered by comfortable margins and regular $6 annual dividends have been paid on the 34,437 shares of participating preferred. Under the participation rights of 4½ per cent of net after regular preferred dividends an additional $2.02 has been paid in the last seven years, including 10 cents on June 1, 1936. The stock deserves a good rating.

Gar Wood Industries.

Investors' Guide: Please send me any information you have on Gar Wood Industries.—A. O. L.

Answer: Gar Wood Industries, Inc., formed in 1913, makes, sells, and distributes truck equipment, house heating and air conditioning units, and buses.

Operated as a closed corporation for many years, Garfield A. Wood held almost all stock. The capital structure was recast in March, 1936, Wood taking additional common in exchange for preferred shares. Wood now holds slightly more than 52 per cent of the present 800,000 shares of $3 par common stock after selling 320,000 shares to underwriters, who sold it to the public this summer.

Reports of Business Gains Boost Market.

the combined average was up exactly 2 points, the best gain since the final week in August.

Students of the market found many reasons for the sudden flare-up. Paramount among these, naturally, was the failure of important foreign selling of stocks—moderate selling instructions were reported from London—to materialize following the smashup of the gold bloc, the most feared consequence of devaluation. As a matter of fact, there were reports that more foreign buying than selling had taken place.

With this fear disposed of, the speculative forces turned their attention more directly to developments in the domestic situation and found themselves knee deep in bullish ammunition. All the major trade indices to which the market usually looks for guidance presented a picture of the continuing improvement in the economic and business condition of the country.

Among the more important statistics of the week, figures showed the steel industry was operating at the best mark since 1930; carloading for last week ascended to a new six year high and electrical power output scored another increase over a year ago.

LOANS—PERSONAL AND BUSINESS.

Personal Property and Salary.

How You Can BORROW at HOUSEHOLD
No Endorsers.
No Salary Assignments.
REDUCED RATES
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $100.

1. Whether or not you have furniture or a car, you can borrow here if you can make regular monthly payments.
2. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
4. You can secure the money quickly—the same day if you apply before 9 o'clock.
5. Household's rate of 3% per month on the first $100 and 2% per month on that part of the balance over $100 is substantially lower than the lawful maximum on all loans above $100.
6. Repay at any time and reduce the cost.
7. Private offices. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention.
